2 Boards Differ Some On Old Orchard Plan

The ability of joint Arlington Heights-Mount Prospect committee to set specific planning criterion for proposed development of Old Orchard Country Club was questioned by Mount Prospect Village Pres. C. O. Schlaver Saturday.

At a joint meeting of the two villages' boards, attorneys and planning consultant, Schlaver and Mount Prospect trustees questioned principally one thing—whether a single height could be requested in zoning hearing now before the county.

A committee of trustees and representatives of planning bodies of both villages drafted a joint stand on high rise and apartment development on the country club property, which was adopted by Arlington Heights.

WHEN THE draft was to come up for consideration by the Mount Prospect board, a quorum was not present and action was deferred.

However, attorneys from both villages have been working in cooperation on the zoning hearing, which is now scheduled to be convened again tomorrow, Friday, after continuance from Sept. 27.

In reviewing the report and planning action for the continued hearing Saturday the two boards differed on the scope of the committee's work and report.

"I WOULD certainly feel that to be a little more definite in some of these areas (specific objections to the Old Orchard proposal, and alternate suggestions) would be productive," said Village Pres. John G. Woods of Arlington Heights.

But Schlaver, anticipating annexation of the Old Orchard property to one of the villages, said "I don't want our people to have to back down later after testimony at hearings."

He also indicated that requirements of the two villages on height and other matters might differ.

But Woods countered, "To me this (Old Orchard development) was going to be the same thing whether it was in the daylight or in the dark—in Arlington Heights or Mount Prospect. That was the purpose of our meeting."

HAROLD CARLSON, chairman of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission and a member of the joint committee on Old Orchard, said it was his impression that the committee had tried to achieve a pattern acceptable to the entire northwest area—including the two villages and Prospect Heights as well.

Mount Prospect Trustee Parker Ekren then commented that the height of apartment buildings would have to be determined on the basis of economic feasibility.

But Arlington Heights Trustee William J. Moore disagreed, saying the villages should concentrate on good planning rather than maximizing the economic return of a developer.

WITHOUT resolution of the apparent difference in village attitudes, the matter was left in the hands of the village attorneys and Eugene Baughman, planning consultant for both villages.

The attorneys were instructed to follow the general lines of the committee report, and Baughman, who will be a witness for the two villages, was asked if he could agree with the report.

"In general terms I can," he answered.

Possibility of another committee meeting before the hearing to iron out differences was abandoned, but the chance was left open that if the hearing is continued again there will be further meetings.

Program for Gifted Pupils Is Studied

Arlington Heights Elementary School District 25 is considering application for state funds to finance an instruction program for gifted children.

The program would provide a teacher and classroom space for instruction of individuals or small groups for a half-hour each day—designed to supplant and re-enforce the regular classroom program.

Money to finance the program would come from a special fund for experimental projects for gifted children set up in Senate Bill 749 by the last legislative session.

STATE FUNDS totalling $4 million for salaries and another $1.3 million for demonstration centers have been set aside. Districts participating would be reimbursed at the end of one full year of the program.

School Supt. Ralph P. Clabaugh explained that the program has been considered in the past, and the district already has the means of determining identity of gifted children.

He said if the project could be instituted by January, 1964, the remainder of the school year could perhaps be counted as a full year for reimbursement purposes.

"We've got another month to play around with this thing," Clabaugh concluded.

Plan NI Gas Center On South State Rd.

Plans will come before the Arlington Heights Village Board Tuesday, Oct. 22, for a Northern Illinois Gas Co. customer service center to be located at 2109 S. State Road.

Approval of the gas company's request for rezoning of the property from single-family R-1 to office and research classification was recommended by the plan commission Oct. 2.

The commission's recommendation was subject to three conditions which the gas company agreed were acceptable. Plan modifications are now in village hands indicating the changes as requested:

1. PROVIDING a more complete layout of property showing location of building, parking, screen plantings and other details according to village ordinance.

2. Filing a plat of one-lot subdivision on which dedication of Arlington Heights (State) Road is shown as determined by the village engineering department to provide not in excess of a 50-foot half-street.

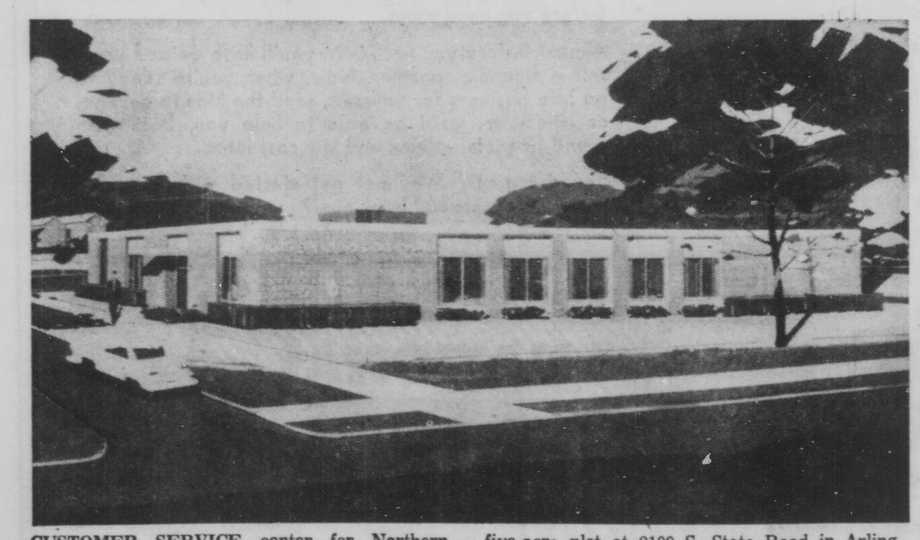
3. An agreement for future dedication of 33 feet on the east edge of the property if determined to be necessary by the village, and agreement to pay for improvement of the street.

The latter agreement is to run with the land for a maximum of 15 years.

THE CUSTOMER service building as shown in tentative plans would be single-story, with 12,500 square feet of floor space.

It would be set back about 300 fet from State Road on the east side, with a large landscaped area and loop drive from the road to the building.

The remainder of the lot behind the building is planned to be devoted to paved parking area, with a wire fence and screen plantings on the north and south side, and wire fence at the rear.



CUSTOMER SERVICE center for Northern Illinois Gas Co. in LaGrange, shown in architect's rendering, is similar to one planned for five-acre plot at 2109 S. State Road in Arlington Heights.

Mt. Prospect Falls Behind

Agreement on a territorial sphere of influence or common boundary between Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect south of the two villages is now official in Arlington Heights.

But in Mount Prospect, where agreement was assured at the time of preliminary talks by at least a 4-2 vote of the village board, "some problems" have arisen.

Thus what was to be a joint resolution by the two villages has been resolved by one, but not by the other—even though both have apparently been honoring the line as planned.

The line as approved by Arlington Heights runs south from Central Road along an extension of Meier Road to Algonquin Road. Lake Briarwood Subdivision has been left open—able to annex either village as the property owners' desire.

THE LINE OF demarcation also jogs slightly east for a section north of Golf Road which would have left onl ya few feet of a large farm plot in the Mount Prospect area had the line been extended straight.

Little more than a month ago, Mount Prospect Village Pres. C. O. Slaver issued a statement on the boundary as follows in part:

"A joint resolution of territorial sphere of influence such as is now being worked out with extension of Meier Road as a common defined border represents a significant step forward in the preservation of unique suburban advantages which Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights possess as neighbors.

"The territory to the south of Mount Prospect no longer will be a 'no man's land' subject to the whims of county zoning and the bargaining skill of developers."

BUT SCHLAVER told Arlington Heights board members at a joint meeting Saturday, "I reserve the right to refer the matter to the plan commission."

"Why didn't you reserve that right before, Mr. President?" Mount Prospect Trustee John Bickley retorted.

Bickley was one of the persons instrumental in arranging meetings on the topic, and has continued to press for adoption of a resolution similar to that passed Monday by Arlington Heights.

Schlaver's reasoning for delay of the agreement is based on several factors as he explains it.

"There is a feeling on the part of the board that the northern boundary (between the two villages) should also be considered at this time before an agreement is signed," he said.

In this light he added, "I feel Old Orchard (country cub for which an apartment-lodge development is proposed) should be in Mount Prospect as it is in the natural path of our borders.

A THIRD FACTOR was his statement that "I would not like to project at this time whether the issue will pass the board in a formal board vote or not."

But Old Orchard was at approximately the same stage it is now when the boundary was first considered and informally approved.

The agreement was then seen as "only the beginning" of other agreements which could be reached on standards for Old Orchard and a northern boundary line among other things.

Though Schlaver says the matter should be studied by the Mount Prospect Plan Commission, the Arlington Heights resolution has already been in and out of the plan commission and approved.

Both villages got the same start, but Mount Prospect has somehow fallen behind in its consideration of the matter.

Bickley made a motion at the Mount Prospect board meeting Tuesday night that the matter be referred to the planning group with a limit of two weeks for consideration before it was to be back to the board.

HE SAID Arlington Heights is abiding by the plan now and Mount Prospect should act on it quickly in order to be fair, and added that action on the line is up to the board, not the plan commission.

But Schlaver told Bickely it might be hard for the commission to meet on the plan within two weeks because he meets with the commission and has other commitments and trips planned himself.

He said he just wanted Bickley to realize that it was possible the commission could not act on it within the set period.

Meanwhile, Arlington Heights has turned down application for pre-annexation zoning hearing on one parcel of land on the Mount Prospect side, and Mount Prospect is holding consideration of annexation of a plot on the Arlington Heights side in committee.

The line is in effect apparently, but not formally. As Old Orchard looms bigger and bigger in the north, it appears the southern boundary agreement is relegated to a bargaining tool.

More 'Talk' Pending

Delay Davis Vacation

by JIM CARNS
News Editor

The Arlington Heights village board looked some more, listened some more and talked some more Monday night, but still didn't vote on vacation of Davis Street and expansion of the Arlington Heights National Bank.

The matter is now scheduled to come to a vote at the regular village board meeting next Tuesday after a committee of the whole meeting with interested parties Monday night.

LAST MONDAY, for the first time in the most recent series of meetings, both the bank and Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Assn. were represented.

The village has a contract with the bank, and the bank has, according to Village Atty. Jack Siegel, "substantially fulfilled its obligations."

Now the village is faced with execution of its share of the bargain—vacation of Davis Street between Evergreen and Dunton. Board members and Village Pres. John G. Woods made it clear Monday that they saw this as morally and legally binding.

BUT SURE AS the vacation seems, the bank's building plans, which prompted desire for the vacation are far less assured of approval.

Paul Collins, president of the savings and loan association, flew in from the west coast Monday to oppose them and Douglas Dodds, executive vice president of Arlington Heights National Bank, drove the same day from the east coast to support the plans.

Attorney Siegel set the scene for continuing discussion with his opinion that the village board has a "right not to grant a building permit where there is a question as to the effect of the building on neighboring properties."

SIEGEL continued to say, "I

Larson's Robbed Of $400

An unidentified robber escaped with $400 from Larson's Tap, 710 Kensington Road, at about 8 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Adeline Larson, proprietor of the tavern, told police she was alone in the establishment when the robber entered through the front door, walked right to a cash box under the bar and took the money.

She said the man, who was not masked or disguised, held her at bay by the back of her neck while taking the money then left through the same door he had entered.

SHE DID not report the robbery until 3 p.m. the same day, explaining that she was too upset to call police at the time of the theft.

Array of Gifts Wait Homemaker

An impressive array of gifts awaits the northwest area's Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

The woman chosen as the outstanding homemaker of this area will receive 27 gift certificates and 22 additional gifts from local merchants at an awards ceremony Nov. 13 in the Northwest YMCA.

SHE WILL represent northwest suburbs at the National Suburban Homemaking Conference in Chicago Nov. 21 and 22 and be eligible to win a $5,000 national award.

Official entry blank for nominating your favorite homemaker may be found in this week's Suburban Living section.

Board Okays School Plans

Plans for two new schools — up for approval Nov. 16 in the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 bond referendum — received school board approval last week.

At a regular meeting Oct. 10, the board passed on floor plans for proposed Greenbriar and Dwyer schools totalling 20 rooms.

The Greenbriar site is in the northwest section of the village at Verde and Roanoke Drives. Dwyer School is to be located on the existing site of Westgate School at Dwyer and Grove Streets.

THE FLOOR plans, as presented by the architectural firm of Ganster and Hennighausen, closely paralleled preliminary indications of what was coming.

Major change was in Dwyer School, which was originally planned to be only seven rooms, providing for addition of more rooms later.

But the anticipated necessity of the kindergarten sections next year prompted addition of another kindergarten room to plans, bringing the total class rooms to eight.

Architect's representative Steve Tucka told the school board that again in the two schools proposed for this bond issue accessory rooms had been cut to a minimum size for economy.

SCHOOL Supt. Ralph Clabaugh said the smaller accessory space has worked satisfactorily at other schools, and pointed out that all proportions could be reduced in the proposed Dwyer School since it is intended to serve only kindergarten through second grade at peak.

Clabaugh also told the board there would be no waste of district money if the building bon issue failed Nov. 16, even though working drawings for the two buildings will be nearly completed by that time.

He said the plans would just be saved and the same issue put to the district's voters again as soon as possible. "We know we need the schools as planned," he said.

Leaf Burning Is Restricted

Municipal ordinances in Arlington Heights allow fall burning of leaves on private property — lawns or driveways — but not on public streets or sidewalks.

Junior High PTAs to Draft Code of Conduct for Pupils

The Parent-Teacher association of Miner and South junior high schools have initiated a long-term program to formulate and publish a code of conduct for all junior high students in District 25.

The project is intended to draw ideas and opinions for the code from a large group of experts — children and parents in the district themselves.

Toward this end, three stages are planned, according to Mrs. Ann Miller, PTA parent education chairman for South Junior High School:

One, formation of questions to be included in a questionnaire dealing with all foreseeable phases of conduct among junior high students.

Two, compilation of the questionnaire and distribution to all parents and students.

Three, using information obtained from the questionnaire, creation and distribution of the code of conduct booklet.

THE IDEA is not new—"except perhaps in our area"—according to Mrs. Miller. Some localities have had such a printed booklet in circulation for 50 years.

At Oct. 22 PTA meetings scheduled for both Miner and South junior high schools, the first phase of the code program will be principal topic of discussion.

The program is not limited strictly to parent members, Mrs. Miller said. Any interested person is welcome to attend and offer suggestions.

During Parents' Nights at the schools, those in attendance received a list suggesting four categories that will be used as the bases of working groups.

THESE CATEGORIES are as follows:

Grooming, divided into girls' and boys' subtopics, and including such specifics as high heels, lipstick, hairdos and appropriate dress for the girls, and type of trousers, belts and haircuts for boys.

Parties, including almost every specific aspect from planning to hours to party crashing.

Other social activities, including community, athletic, church, and dancing.

Privileges and responsibilities, including study habits, baby sitting, allowances, television, telephone, smoking, hours, and movies.

ADDITIONAL ideas not included in the above topics will be welcome, Mrs. Miller said.

Students will work independently at their schools, and through the student councils. In some homerooms students are already at work preparing questions.

Representative members of both students and parents will work with the parent education chairmen of both PTA groups in assembling the information received.

This will be done first at each junior high school, and then again at a joint meeting of the two schools, Mrs. Miller said.

THE PTAs hope to have the questionnaire printed and ready for distribution early in January, and the booklet ready for distribution in April if plans proceed smoothly.

The Oct. 22 meetings for collection of questions will be at 8:15 p.m. at both junior high schools in the Arlington Heights school district. (A

Vacation Hinges On Building Plans

don't believe the contract is dependent on approval of any specific set of plans."

But Dodds, at this point in the discussion, said, "If you're going to delay installation of improvements, why not delay vacation of Davis Street?"

He claimed that the village had agreed on the building plans before with the exception of minor changes in the arrangement of the parking lot, and that officials had subsequently turned an ear to the savings and loan association.

THE ASSOCIATION first objected to specific building plans at the Oct. 7 board meeting. No representative of the bank was there — Dodds explained he thought it would just be a formality since the bank had completed its part of the agreement.

Principal objection by the savings and loan to the bank's plans was hinted at Oct. 7 by Donald F. Morton, vice president of the association, who said then he hadn't really come to object.

The objection was clarified Monday by Collins, who definitely said he had come to object—all the way from the west coast.

FIRST HE objected to piecemeal vacation of Davis Street, rather than abandonment of the entire street at one time. Then he objected to any construction on the right-of-way proposed for vacation.

In answer, village president Woods said, "I can appreciate your comments. If they had arisen earlier we probably would have embraced them immediately, but we have a binding contract and substantial compliance by the bank."

But Collins' remarks were aimed principally at a two-story walkway which is planned to extend 82 feet along Campbell Street over four drive-in windows.

THE ADDITION would partially obstruct view of the savings and loan association building and illuminated sign from the train station and sections of Northwest Highway.

Collins' remarks drew apparent interest and sympathy from members of the village board, though he was criticized for not having made his appearance and objections sooner.

Trustee Bud Beacham told Dodds, "I think we ought to get down to brass tacks and quit kidding each other. We are worried about the same thing the savings and loan is."

HE PROPOSED that the access tunnel to the drive-in windows go underground rather than above the windows, and continued, "I don't see any reason you should object to this—except to preserve that great big billboard sign."

Beacham referred to the fact that the sides of this overhead tunnel are proposed for use as expansive bank nameplates.

Dodds replied, "There's no question that you have been candid."

A proposed addition to the main bank building, which would put three stories out into vacated Davis Streeet, seemed to be forgotten in the discussion.

OBJECTIONS continued on the drive-in access arrangement. Trustee William J. Moore said he did not think the board had any right to "go into the thing with respect to someone else's view." He said it should be considered in terms of architectural design.

But Siegel said the only way the board has a right to refuse a building permit on something already passed by the village's architectural committee is on the basis of its detrimental effect on neighboring properties.

Beacham made a motion that a building permit be delayed until an underground route to the teller windows could be devised.

SECOND CAME from Jack Walsh, and though the motion failed it was not until Dodds had offered to withdraw his proposal for vacation of Davis Street and expansion of the bank.

Walsh commented before the motion was voted upon that "We are at least finding out how we feel about this," though he indicated he did not think it was a satisfactory solution.

Beacham and Walsh entered the only "yes" votes, and Trustee Eugene Schlickman then moved that the matter be delayed for another session, and that a meeting be held before the regular meeting so the evening would not be too full.

One member of the village architectural committee will present an opinion on design of the building for Monday's meeting. The other member, Ronald Stahl, is architect for the bank.

Franzen Resigns Post Of School Treasurer

Wheeling Township School Treasurer Rolland A. Franzen has resigned.

Last Friday, the $6,000-a-year treasurer told Gerald A. Moe, president of the Wheeling Township Board of School Trustees, he would stay on the job only until Nov. 15.

Franzen has served as township school treasurer since 1951, when he was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the death of A. M. Conger. Franzen is the third Wheeling Township school treasurer on record.

CONGER HAD served as a treasurer for only a few years, but George Volz, former president of Arlington Seating Company and still active in the firm, served as treasurer before Conger for more than 20 years.

Franzen's resignation came as a surprise since the annual meeting of the township school trustees had just been held Monday, Oct. 7, and no mention of the upcoming resignation was made at the meeting.

Franzen told school representatives Monday, Oct. 14, he was resigning for reasons of health. He also indicated he was not "up to" training a new secretary for the job.

MISS ANN WEIDNER, who has served as secretary-bookkeeper for the school treasurer's office for more than three years, is leaving her position and moving from the area.

The township school treasurer serves as custodian of school funds and keeps the "official" books of High School District 214, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove School District 21, Prospect Heights School District 23, Feehanville School District 26 and Arlington Heights School District 25.

Cost of operating the office last year ran to $19,900. This included the treasurer's $6,000 salary, a salary of $3,600 for Miss Weidner, $750 for Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund for both, and $1,850 for a $1 million bond on Franzen. The bond premium covers a two-year period.

THE BUDGET for the office this year is only $17,250, reflecting the reduction because the bond premium was paid the year before. The total also reflects a lowered cost of publication of year-end financial statements due to a change in state law.

Moe called a meeting of school representatives Monday night to discuss requirements for office and storage space and the plans of the trustees in replacing Franzen, Henry Vallely of Prospect Heights one of the three Wheeling school trustees, and Franzen were present.

Representatives from all five school districts attended the meeting, each reporting back to their own superintendents and school boards.

MOE SAID this week the trustees were seeking a qualified treasurer to finish out the present term which ends June 30, 1964.

The auditing of the school books will be started as soon as possible, Moe said. The annual audit of the books was recently completed by Lauren, Schultheis and Givens, certified public accountants, of Arlington Heights. It is assumed the school trustees will ask the same firm to bring the audit up to date from the June 30 closing date.

Under state law, school districts in suburban Cook County must use the township school treasurer system to keep their financial records and to hold school funds. Chicago schools and schools in all other Illinois counties keep their own financial records, with a school treasurer responsible directly to the school board.

BY USING a township school treasurer system, both the treasurer and the school business office must keep complete financial records, causing a duplication of work.

Efforts by local school boards, joined by many other Cook County school districts, to change the law to eliminate the township school treasurer, failed in the last session of the legislature.

Moe indicated qualified persons interested in the position of treasurer could contact him at his home, 337 Rosewood, Buffalo Grove.

Steel Delay Slows School Construction

Grading Contract Given for Thomas

An $8,150 contract for grading and drainage on the site of Thomas Junior High School was approved Oct. 10 by the school board of Arlington Heights District 25, and the board reviewed lagging construction on the school itself.

Contract for the site work which is planned to provide play area at the south end of the school property went to the LaRocco Co.

The only other bid entered was $9,530. Both bids were far below a rough estimate of $20,000 presented informally one month ago by Milburn Construction Co. to architects Ganster and Hennighausen.

Specifications on the project were changed slightly after that estimate, but only in the area of grade level and drainage points on the property — not in the scope of the improvements.

After approval of the site contract, architect's representative Steve Tucka told the board actual construction of the school was not coming as expected.

HE EXPLAINED that W. F. Fitzsimmons and Co., general contractor for the building, had been forced to hold work for delivery of structural steel.

At the time Fitzsimmons was awarded the contract, in June of this year, the board questioned his ability to perform in comparison to a second bidder $10,000 higher on the job.

But after investigation by a special committee of the board and Tucka, the contract was awarded on the basis of the $10,000 savings and assurance that Fitzsimmons could do the work on schedule.

The steel shipment is the only thing holding up the contract's progress, Tucka told the board last Thursday. He said some other construction could even be re-routed around the steel fabrication.

HE ALSO said the steel should be arriving this week, and that the whole job could possibly be brought back on schedule before the proposed completion date in May, 1964.

Tucka explained that the man who had contracted with Fitzsimmons to supply the steel has now quit the steel firm, and that he apparently promised delivery of structural elements which were not even fabricated at the time.

But board president Joseph Faner commented that no matter what the reason for delay the responsibility still rests with the general contractor.

Tucka agreed, but again said there was no reason to doubt that Fitzsimmons would be capable of performing the work.

HE SAID he had looked at a number of the contractor's jobs in Chicago, and that they had been "high quality buildings." He added that the Chicago school board had indicated that Fitzsimmons has always met his completion dates for them.

Tucka was asked to report at the next board meeting on building progress at Thomas — specifically the steel situation, and to bring with him a revised schedule for completion of the school.

The schedule devised Aug. 12 had steel construction scheduled for completion before the end of September. Other major construction facets were to be completed before the end of winter.

Tucka told the board last Thursday that the building still should be under roof and temporarily enclosed before bad weather sets in.

This would permit continuation of construction during winter months. (A

Township Board Member Named

John P. McGivney, 952 Wheeling, Mount Prospect, has resigned as a member of the Wheeling Township Board of Auditors, prompted by a move to California.

Appointed in his stead last week was Mrs. Frank Kolerus, 9 N. Pine, Mount Prospect. Mrs. Kolerus is executive secretary of the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Okay Fees for Thomas Street

The Arlington Heights Village Board Monday granted a 25 per cent guarantee of professional fees on a special assessment project for paving 132 feet of the south half of Thomas Street.

But the board's hope was that the paving would not be done by special assessment. The guarantee of fees is the normal way of initiating consideration of such a project.

In this case, on the section of Thomas Street running from Chestnut Street 132 feet east, only one property owner would be assessed for the cost, since all the property abutting the stretch was owned by one person.

AN INFORMAL public hearing on the project has been scheduled by the Board of Local Improvements for Oct. 31. The BOLI requested the 25 per cent guarantee as well, but it is not their wish either to improve the street through special assessment.

They just want to get it done, as does the village board. Alternate method would be agreement by the property owner—who must pay for it anyway—to put the improvements in by private contract.

This method is generally considered to be much less expensive than the special assessment route because of extra legal and contracting costs in the latter.

NO ESTIMATE has been made of the cost of the project, but a maximum of $150 was set on the 25 per cent guarantee of professional fees.

If the project is completed by some other method than special assessment, the 25 per cent guarantee would not be applicable.

It only applies when special assessment proceedings are initiated, with all legal and engineering work, and later fail at either the village board or county court level.

In such a case, commissioners, attorneys and engineers delegated by the BOLI to work on the project would be given 25 per cent of their bill as compensation for work alone.

The guarantee is a village policy, but is not necessarily used at that level, or at all, by other villages with similar forms of government.

Community Concert Season Opens Mon.

The first of this year's series of four Arlington Heights Community Concerts will be at 8:15 p.m. next Monday, Oct. 21, in new and improved theatre facilities.

The concert series opener, concert pianist Jorge Bollet, will play on the stage of the recently remodeled Arlington Theatre, 115 N. Evergreen St.

Membership in the Community Concert association has increased 50 per cent over last year, allowing the group to move performances from makeshift auditorium facilities at Arlington High School.

ON DATES of the four concert performances scheduled for this season, the Arlington Theatre will cancel motion picture performances and devote all facilities to the concert group.

Bollet, the association's first star in the new location, is noted for his soundtrack performance in the motion picture "Sound Without End" (the life of Franz Liszt).

Other concerts in the series will feature a Metropolitan baritone, a small symphony orchestra from Naples, and a musical satirist.

Does Grading by DiMucci Harm Drainage?

JC's, Teen Club to Host Two Danceville Parties

The Arlington Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Bo-Gi Teen Club will host two "Danceville" dance parties, starring Jim Lounsbury and Dick Williamson, in the large gymnasium at Arlington High School on Saturday, Nov. 9, and Friday, Nov. 15, from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The programs, modeled after the ABC-TV television show "Danceville, U.S.A." are presented particularly for high school students in the area and will also feature live bands, guest stars, and dance contests.

PROCEEDS from both events will benefit the sponsoring organizations.

Lounsbury, master of ceremonies for the popular "Bandstand Matinee" show on WGN for four years and later WBKB's "Record Hop," became associated with "Danceville, U. S. A." in 1961. In 14 years of Chicago radio and television, he has entertained teenagers throughout the area in nearly every neighborhood and community. He will appear Nov. 9.

WILLIAMSON, a frequent guest emcee on "Danceville, U. S. A.," joined WIND in 1958 after extensive radio experience in Lake City, Fla.; Florence, Ala., and Dallas, Tex. He will be on hand Nov. 15.

Admission to the parties will be $1. (A

Engineers of 2 Villages Disagree

Charges by Arlington Heights Village Engineer Norman Toberman that Salvatore DiMucci has manufactured a flood problem at Busse and Golf Roads still have not been cleared.

Toberman wrote Aug. 29 to Vinton Bacon, general superintendent of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, charging that DiMucci, a Mount Prospect builder and developer, was grading fill material across a natural swale at the site.

He said blocking of natural drainage in that area could possibly flood 750 acres of land lying to the west and south — including Golf Road, Busse Road, and the new Forest View High School.

The DiMucci property northwest of the Golf-Busse intersection is in the path of a U-shaped drainage pattern starting at approximately Golf and Arlington Heights Roads, running southeast around the high school property, and flowing into Weller Creek.

ON SEPT. 20, Toberman received a reply from Robert L. McCarthy, engineer of flood control for the sanitary district, saying the complaint had been investigated and substantiated.

Text of the letter follows:

"We have investigated your complaint of Aug. 29, 1963, concerning blockage of natural drainage by earth filling operations on the property of Mr. Sol DiMucci north of Golf Road and west of Busse Road. This information was confirmed by our field inspector, Mr. John Variakojla, on Sept. 11, 1963.

"Since this area is within the village of Mount Prospect, we have contacted the village engineer, Mr. Bernard R. Hemmeter. He was unaware of the situation. He said he would give immediate notice to Mr. DiMucci directing him to cut an opening in the fill to allow drainage. When this is completed, the Sanitary District will be notified."

MOUNT PROSPECT'S engineer, Hemmeter, says that since receipt of the sanitary district's request he has taken a look at the site and determined that nothing needs to be done.

According to Hemmeter, the only possible flood damage, based on criterion of the flood rain of 1957, would be to undeveloped property owned by DiMucci.

He also said the grading being done by DiMucci only forces the water to drain around the grade area and on its natural course after that to Weller Creek.

Hemmeter said he had talked to the sanitary district about his findings, but McCarthy, who is handling the complaint for the district, said he has heard nothing from anyone since Toberman.

"Since the area was within the jurisdiction of Mount Prospect," McCarthy said, "we had to go there first to request action."

"Since the complaint still exists and has been verified by our department we would have to follow that up," he continued.

HE SAID he wasn't clear on the legal steps involved, but if the sanitary district did not have the right to take action on the complaint the State Division of Waterways would.

He said the Division of Waterways has authority on a matter such as this any time the flow of a natural stream is diverted — whether the stream is normally dry or not.

According to Hemmeter, he was instructed by the sanitary district to determine if there was a problem, and he determined that there was none — thus ending his responsibility in the matter. (A(M

Suburban News of the Week

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Cooperation between this village and neighboring Mount Prospect received two good jolts this week as Mount Prospect officials indicated dissatisfaction with agreements on a mutual southern boundary line and a joint stand on development of Old Orchard Country Club. Both agreements had been improved informally by the two village previously, and by Arlington Heights formally. Mount Prospect Village Pres. C. O. Schlaver held that agreement on the southern boundary should be conditioned upon agreement on a similar boundary to the north — which would presumably put the Old Orchard property within Mount Prospect's sphere of influence. Details in Arlington Heights Herald and Mount Prospect Herald.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — The Golf-Rose shopping center, which is the largest commercial development to date in Hoffman Estates, is being formally opened today (Thursday) on a 10-acre tract at the corner of Golf and Roselle Roads. The center, which covers two acres of floor space, is being financed under a $925,000 mortgage, running for 18 years with 5½ per cent interest. Details in Hoffman Herald.

MOUNT PROSPECT — Village Trustee John H. Bickley Jr., this week announced his candidacy for Cook County State's Attorney in the Republican primary. Details in Mount Prospect Herald.

PALATINE — The state fire marshall was called in this week to investigate arson at the home of a police juvenile and investigating officer. See Palatine Enterprise for details.

ROLLING MEADOWS — The Fire Protection District has set Nov. 23 for a referendum on a $180,000 bond issue to expand the fire station, including a second story for living quarters and meetings, and an additional fire truck. Details in Rolling Meadows Herald.

Schools Clarify Enrollment Rules

Rules governing enrollment and physical examination of students new to Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 were clarified last week through school board action.

The board at its regular meeting Oct. 10 changed Article VII of the published rules and regulations to provide the following:

". . . An official birth certificate shall be required for registration and must be presented before the registration is considered final.

"In the case of kindergarten children and first graders who have never attended school, some verification of the date of birth must be presented before the child can be temporarily enrolled.

"If the official birth certificate is not presented within a reasonable time, the child shall be excluded from school until it has been received."

Supt. of Schools Ralph P. Clabaugh told the board this proposed change was only to put into writing what is already the administration's policy.

He said parents are orally given three weeks to produce the necessary certificate, and then given another three weeks by letter—after which the child is removed from school.

HE EXPLAINED that children above first grade will be enrolled temporarily without any evidence of date of birth, but that records transferred from other schools they have attended give some indication.

No school records are available for kindergarteners and first graders who have not previously attended school, so some verification of birth date must be obtained even for temporary enrollment, Clabaugh continued.

The situation is similar with regard to physical examinations.

The School Code of Illinois requires physical examinations for students on entrance to school and at the fifth grade level, or for "students who have not previously been examined prior to or upon entrance into another public school system in Illinois."

THE DISTRICT'S revised rules and regulations provide that "A record of such an examination presented to another school system shall be accepted, provided the parent secures this record and presents it at the proper time (registration)."

"If the report of the physical examination is not presented within a reasonable time," the regulations continue, "the child shall be excluded from school until it has been received."

Clabaugh told the board the same three week and three week situation would apply in this case as in the case of birth certificates.

The rule provides that students shall be excluded from school until a report of such an examination is forthcoming - except that new residents of the community will be allowed a reasonable time for securing the examination.

Board members questioned Clabaugh on the legality of excluding any child from the school system, but he said the physical examination is required by statute and that gives him clear grounds.

"For the proof of age," Clabaugh said, "I feel we are on firm ground there also." (A

Society Keeps Tabs on Town

Tour, Dioramas Provide Picture Of Early Days

The history of Arlington Heights is not to be found in a museum, but there are enough artifacts, old homes and interested persons in town to keep tabs on what is here.

The Eli Skinner chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution got a close look at several historic homes last Wednesday, Oct. 9, with the cooperation of the Historical Society of Arlington Heights.

The Dunton Doorsteps tour was arranged to include visits to only a portion of those village homes built before 1874 when Arlington Heights was known as Dunton.

Several of the structures in the tour were opened to visits to the interior. Others were included in the route, but were not opened to the visitors.

One of the featured spots in the half-day outing was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Daniels, 805 N. Dunton. The structure itself does not date back to the days of Dunton, but it serves as a growing museum for the Historical Society.

AS CURATOR of the society, Mrs. Daniels headed the society's effort to collect data and exhibits for the tour.

Oldest house along the way was the original William H. Dunton home, the village's first frame building, built in 1845. It has been moved twice from its original location at 9 N. State Rd., and now is situated, with a few additions and changes, on Hintz Road north of the village.

A great many of the homes and buildings constructed before 1874 have now been moved, but the Historical Society has kept track of those still standing through many modifications.

AS AN AID in this effort, the village as it existed many years ago has been reconstructed by Otto Bolte, in five dioramas, highlighting major points of interest in the past.

The dioramas, now kept by the Historical Society, were on exhibit Wednesday through Friday last week at the society curator's home.

They show, among other things, the overall downtown area of the village as it existed shortly after the turn of the century — including the old Union Hotel located where the Arlington Heights National Bank now stands.

THERE IS ALSO a view of "Whiskey" Meyers' skating pond, ice house and picnic garden, which were once located just behind the present site of the municipal building.

The detail in these reproductions is perhaps a better indication of how the village once stood than the houses and buildings which were included in the Dunton Doorsteps tour, since so many have been moved and modified.

But the tour and dioramas, together with collected relics and historical data of the Historical Society, give a good overall view of the beginnings of a community.

MOST OF the original homes in Dunton were clustered around the Illinois and Wisconsin Railroad tracks, now the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks.

But they are scattered now throughout Arlington Heights as they were moved to make way for downtown development. (A

AMERICAN FLAG, sporting 34 stars, which once billowed proudly over the old town of Dunton, is now shown by Mrs. Milton F. Daniels, curator of the Arlington Historical Society, as only one of hundreds of collected items from the past.

LEADERS OF THE Arlington Heights section of the $4 million Northwest Community Hospital fund drive set to open Thursday, Nov. 7, gathered around a map of the community to lay out plans for the residential solicitation. The men have a $350,000 residential goal to meet in the village. The fund drive leaders are Neal Hawkins, residential co-chairman; Armand B. Chairmen Listed for Hospital Fund Drive

Leadership for the $4 million Northwest Community Hospital Expansion Fund drive starting Nov. 7 has begun to take shape. Community chairmen have already been named and division leaders for Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect have been designated.

"This hospital fund drive is the largest campaign of its kind in this area," said Nicholas M. Lattof, general chairman, "and we are gratified that so many of the outstanding citizens approached have agreed to assist in the leadership."

Lattof listed the chairmen for the various community solicitation efforts as follows:

—MOUNT PROSPECT, residential chairman, Stanley C. Amren; business drive chairman, Al Magnus;

—Palatine, residential co-chairman, H. I. Olsen, and Walter R. Sundling, co-chairmen;

—Arlington Heights, residential chairman, Ed Baker; business chairman, Sig Chakow, assisted by Joseph Schneller;

—Rolling Meadows, R. L. Windsor, serving as chairman for both the residential and the business solicitations; and —Prospect Heights, A. L. Kulieke, serving as chairman for both residential and business solicitations.

TWO AREA-WIDE chairmen for special programs have been named. Chairman for fund work with organizations, John Schaff, of Arlington Heights; and chairman of Expanders Club campaign, N. P. Crockett Jr. of Arlington Heights.

Working as campaign leaders in all communities and representing the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital are Mrs. Jean Petersen and Mrs. Dorothy Willard, both of Palatine.

Drive workers in Mount Prospect will be operating on a sectional basis, with captains having been appointed as follows: Section 1, Joseph Vavra; Section 2, Dick Lovdjieff; Section 3, Harry A. Patton; Section 4, Robert W. Starck; Section 5, Michael Dorosch; Section 6, Quentin Sharp; Section 8, Charles L. Kimball; Section 9, Leslie G. Janett. Captain for Hatlen Heights is Mrs. Casey Andrews.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS campaign workers will be headed by a general staff comprising Baker as chairman, Neal Hawkins and F. R. Ainslie as co-chairmen; and A. B. Ferrara as publicity chairman.

Arlington area leaders have been named as follows: Northwest, L. A. Cornelius, chairman, and R. L. Bronwell, co-chairman; northeast, C. F. Tully Jr., chairman, and J. V. Carroll and G. A. Peak, co-chairmen. Southeast area leaders will be named soon.

Persons wishing to volunteer as workers in the campaign are invited to call Expansion Fund headquarters at 32 S. Evergreen, CL 9-1000, Extensions 597 and 598. (AF(KF

Talented Teen Club Seeks Performers

Northwest area Talented Teen Club has lost a number of members because of college entrance and age limitations and has a need for additional talent. Membership is open to dancers, singers, instrumentalists and other talented performers, whether solo or group, between the ages of 13 through 19.

The present membership is composed of teens from Park Ridge west to Lake Zurich and from Wheeling south to Elk Grove Village.

TALENTED TEENS furnish entertainment for hospitals, orphanages and other institutions and upon request will give performances for any non-profit organization.

Mrs. Mary May of Palatine, president of the organization, feels that the Talented Teen Club is one answer to today's delinquency problem in that teen members are given a chance to develop and display their talents and at the same time are making a contribution to their communities.

Any interested teenage performer may obtain an audition by phoning Talented Teens at 358-0294. Any organization desiring entertainment may obtain information by phoning the same number. (B9

Professor To Discuss Integration

A history professor will discuss "Integration in Schools" Sunday at Countryside Unitarian Universalist Fellowship meeting house, Algonquin and Ela Roads, Palatine.

The speaker, Meyer Weinberg, is a professor of history at Wright Junior College in Chicago. He has written college texts including "TV in America."

Weinberg is one of the founders of the Organization for Teachers for Integrated Schools.

New Dance Classes To Start at YMCA

Boys and girls of sixth grade through high school and adults will be enrolling for new ballroom courses to begin Monday, Nov. 4 and Friday, Nov. 8 at Northwest Suburban YMCA. Junior high, high school and cotillion classes will be conducted for boys and girls, featuring grooming, the teaching of social graces and basic ballroom dances.

Six adult classes will be offered at the beginner, intermediate and advanced levels, giving students the opportunity of covering all the American and Latin American dances.

All courses are of seven-weeks' duration and are open to everyone, 'Y' members, single adults and couples.

Ballroom courses are under the direction of Grace V. Hansen, director of the dance dept. for Metropolitan YMCA's of Chicago and suburbs.

Girls Knit Afghan For Aged Woman

Girl Scouts of Troop 724 in northwest Arlington Heights brought comfort to "senior citizen" Mrs. Vera Smith of 913 N. Beverly, when they presented her with a colorful all wool afghan the girls made as a service project while working toward a needlecraft badge.

The girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank L. Smith, 1801 N. Kennicott, troop leader, and Mrs. James R. Walsh, 1542 N. Patton, and Mrs. G. T. Pamp, 910 W. Maude, assistant leaders, began knitting small wool squares last March.

Long before each girl had completed her three squares, the Rev. Don Jones, pastor of the Christian Church, 333 W. Thomas, which sponsors the troop, suggested that Mrs. Smith, who is 82 and partially blind, as the person to whom the afghan should be given.

In democratic fashion, the girls nominated and elected a committee of four to make the presentation. Mrs. Smith couldn't conceal her emotion as tears welled in her eyes when she told the girls how pleased she was at their thoughtfulness. (A

Park Wranglers Catch 445 Fish

Children far outnumbered adults in the fall fishing program offered by the Arlington Heights Park District from Oct. 5 through 13 at Pioneer and Recreation Parks.

The total of 2,093 participants included 1,960 children and 133 adults. Together they caught 445 fish.

FIRST PRIZE winners at Recreation Pool with a 1½-pound trout were Wayne Kempke, 8, 1234 N. Chestnut, and G. Valladares, 15, 602 Highland.

At Pioneer Pool the top winners, also with a 1½-pound trout, were Scott McKay, 8, 509 S. State, and Richard Johnston, 14, 902 W. Miner.

AI TOGETHER 20 prizes were awarded the best fishermen. These consisted of mostly fishing equipment and some sporting equipment donated by Bowen Hardware, Cunningham & Reilly Sporting Goods and Pro Sport Center.

Total attendance at Recreation was 787 with 737 children and 50 adults catching 227 fish. At Pioneer, a total of 1,306 participants, including 1,223 children and 83 adults, caught 218 fish. (A

Father-Son Swims To Begin Tonight

Father and son swim night, a 20-week program of swimming in the new St. Viator High School pool, will begin tonight (Thursday) and run through March 12 from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

All adult men and boys seven years and over accompanied by an adult are eligible to swim. Facilities at the St. Viator Boys' High School cannot accommodate women and girls.

A family season pass may be obtained for $5. General admission for adults is $1 while children eighth grade and under will pay 50 cents.

A season pass plus $5 will enable boys seven years and older to participate in the Boys' Competitive Swim Club. The club meets Saturday mornings from 9 to 11:30 a.m. from Oct. 19 through Feb. 29 and will offer training and instruction in competitive swimming.

Charles Mondi, swimming coach for St. Viator, will direct the club. (A

Presbyterian Men To Hear Physician

Dr. Paul S. Rhoads, chief of staff of Wesley Hospital, will speak to the Arlington Heights chapter of the Presbyterian Men's Council Monday evening, Oct. 21, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

All area doctors and dentists are invited as guests of the men's club for the monthly dinner meeting and talk.

DR. RHOADS remarks will be concerned with the work of professional people in medicine and dentistry in the ministry and missionary endeavors throughout the world.

Reservations are available through the church office, CL 3-0492. (A

Classes Scheduled In Holiday Crafts

Making gifts, decorations and table settings for the holidays will be the theme and goal for the Arlington Heights Park District's Holiday Crafts program.

The Park District is offering the class at both Recreation and Pioneer Park fieldhouses. The classes consist of seven weeks of instruction in both Thanksgiving and Christmas craft.

CLASSES WILL meet at Recreation Park on Tuesdays, 7:30-9:30 p.m., starting Oct. 29. Pioneer Park classes will be held on Thursdays, 7:30-9:30 p.m., starting Oct. 31.

Interested persons are urged not to delay registering as classes are expected to fill up fast. Call CL 3-0620 to sign up. (A

Parents to Follow Class Schedules

It's back to school for freshman and sophomore parents at Arlington High School tonight (Thursday).

This is the annual open house program sponsored by the Teacher - Parent Council when parents follow their student sons' and daughters' daily schedule of classes.

Junior and senior class parents will make the circuit next Thursday evening, Oct. 24.

Both sessions open at 8 p.m. with a 15-minute orientation period. The remainder of the evening is a series of six 9-minute periods when parents have the opportunity to hear the individual class programs and plans for the year and to meet the various teachers.

At a social hour later in the high school cafeteria parents will have a further opportunity to discuss class curricula with the teachers. (A

Youth to Elect Officers Tuesday

Election of a permanent board of directors will be the major topic for discussion by temporary student directors of the Arlington Heights Youth Organization at a meeting scheduled for 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 22, at Recreation Park.

Students interested in representing their schools on the first permanent board of directors are circulating petitions to be signed by 25 fellow members or prospective members so their names will be placed on the nominated slate for the Nov. 2 election.

Petitions must be turned in to the election committee at the Bo-Gi, the youth organization's new club rooms in Recreation Park Fieldhouse, by Oct. 25.

SENIOR CLASS members are eligible to run for president, vice-president, secretary or treasurer; while prospective directors may be nominated from other classes in the four schools named in proposed by-laws.

These schools are Arlington, Prospect, Forest View and St. Viator's. Students residing within the Arlington Heights Park District are eligible for membership in the youth center organization.

Student directors will receive guidance from an adult advisory board whose members represent local organizations and administrations.

A report is expected at Tuesday's meeting from Chris Gerts, program chairman, whose committee is planning a special event for election night, Nov. 2. Voting will be by written ballot, to leave time for the dance or party being planned.

RECREATONAL activities for park district teenagers are conducted on Friday and Saturday evenings at the Bo-Gi, under supervision of adult director, Wayne Mueller.

Members and paying guests, numbering close to 300, attended an "after the game" get-together last Friday evening, Mueller reports.

Students danced to a newly acquired juke box, and played volley ball, table tennis, shuffleboard, bridge and other card games. The Bo-Gi remained closed Saturday evening due to high school activities.

Memberships good until Aug. 31, 1964, are available at the Bo-Gi for a $3.50 fee. George Wilcox, current membership chairman, urges local teenagers to purchase memberships now and avoid paying 50 cent guest fees each time they attend.

The center will open after a local football game this Friday evening, and will follow its regular hours of 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. on Saturday. (A

10 Scouts Advanced

Boy Scout Troop 57 Sunday held its annual family picnic at the Lake Avenue Woods Forest Preserve with about 150 Arlington Heights residents attending the function to welcome the veteran unit's new scoutmaster and witness the advancement of 10 Scouts.

Bernard R. Josif, chairman of the South Junior High School troop committee, announced that due to the press of business Richard N. Bergstrom, 507 E. Grove, had resigned as scoutmaster. Taking his place is Chet J. Gawlik, 311 S. Yale.

Promoted to First Class were Jack Guilfoil, Scott Josif, Bill Murphy and Dick Ruthenberg. Moving up to Second Class were Steve Gawlik, John Hoover, Kenny Malcolmson, Barry Marshall and Gary Prochiska. Bryce Knorr was made a Tenderfoot Scout. (A

Legion Post Fetes Boys At Dinner

The Arlington Heights American Legion held its Annual Premier Boys State Banquet recently, honoring three of the young men sent by the Arlington Heights post to Springfield in June.

Dick Faner of Arlington High outlined the rigid daily schedule and told of the assemblies at which various state officials spoke.

Tom O'Keefe, St. Viator student, described the election procedures during the week.

Prospect High's representative, John Robbins, told of the military training exercises and the special schools.

The fourth youth, Brian King of Forest View High School, was chosen chief justice but moved before the banquet and did not attend. (A

Games Planned By Over 50 Club

The Over 50 Club will meet Thursday, Oct. 24, at Pioneer Park. A program of games has been planned, and everyone attending the meeting is asked to bring articles that can be used as prizes.

Meeting will be at 10:30 a.m., lunch at noon with tea and cake furnished.

There will also be crafts and cards. All are welcome, both men and women. There will be a dart game up for the men. (A

Volunteer To Tell of Missions

"This Is Not One World" is the title of a talk to be given by Mrs. John Louis, Evanston, before the Women's Associaton of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at 12:30 p.m.

Since 1960, Mrs. Louis, a member of the Evanston First Presbyterian Church, has been a volunteer worker for the National Ecumenical Board of Missions. In this capacity, she has traveled around the world working in Presbyterian-sponsored hospitals, schools, medical missions, churches and other installations.

In 1960-61, Mrs. Louis worked six months with Chinese refugees at the Presbyterian Case Work Center in Hong Kong. In 1962 she traveled around the world, and during 1963 she worked in Central America. Her talk will be based on her observations and experiences.

A mother of three grown sons and a grandmother of nine children, Mrs. Louis is preparing for a trip in 1964 to four countries, the Philippines, Taiwan, Thailand and India, where she will help organize women's auxiliaries in Presbyterian-sponsored hospitals.

Devotions will be led by Mrs. R. A. Hutchings, 1660 S. State. The 1964 budget and slate of officers will be presented for approval.

Luncheon will be prepared and served by Circle 6 under the direction of Mrs. M. E. Baughman, 517 Banbury. (A

Coronation, Parade Launch Homecoming

Arlington High School's excitement over 1963 Homecoming festivities spilled over into the village last Friday as 24 gaily-decorated floats paraded through streets lined with spectators.

The parade followed the annual coronation of royalty, which proclaimed Sue Colvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Colvin, 605 S. Bristol and Jack Lindstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lindstrom, 824 S. Beverley, as Queen and King.

COURT MEMBERS were Gayle Watland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Watland, 627 S. Ridge; Laura Rettberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rettberg, 607 E. Davis; Marty Sorgatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Sorgatz, 308 N. Patton, and Jan Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Miller, 414 S. Lincoln Lane.

Scott Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Banks, 722 Mayfair; James Ewert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ewert, 349 S. Bristol; Tom Fagerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fagerson, 628 N. Chestnut and Bob Conti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Conti, 648 N. Dunton.

FRIDAY EVENING Arlington split a doubleheader football slate, the frosh-soph team winning and the varsity bowing.

The Homecoming weekend was capped by a dance Saturday night in the school's gymnasium. (ACM

Style Show Planned for Democrats

"Fashions of the Future" is the theme of a style show to be held at the regular meeting of the Wheeling Township Democratic Women on Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m., at 111 E. Davis, St., Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Ethel McSweeney, program chairman, has planned an evening of fun and frolic for all who attend.

The fashion show will follow the business meeting, which will include a report on the 13th Congressional workshop which was attended by members of the Wheeling organization.

Mrs. Helen Theile, membership chairman, invites all ladies interested in joining the club to contact one of the officers.

President Eva Trava announced at a recent board meeting that the forthcoming card party will be held at Pioneer Park in January. Mary Lou McDonald was appointed card party chairman.

Also named is Henry C. Jameson of Mercer Island, Washington, a former Prospect student who moved during the summer.

Arlington to Play For NW Band Day

Arlington High School's band will appear in Northwestern University's eighth annual Band Day festivities on the Evanston campus Saturday.

The musicians, directed by F. C. Schmoyer, will be part of more than 5,000 band members who will travel from 67 Illinois high schools to present a halftime show at the Northwestern versus Miami (Ohio) football game.

A morning session will be devoted to an intensive rehearsal of music and formations.

Composer Karl King will conduct the massed band at halftime. The program will include five of the composer's marches.

Africa Film Opens Lecture Series

"People of South Africa" was the subject of the first Travel and Adventure Series film-lectures being sponsored by the evening adult education program of High School District 214.

World traveler Frances I. Olson gave the lecture in Prospect High School's Little Theater Tuesday evening.

The next film in the series is slated for Nov. 5 and will feature a 14,000-mile journey from California to the Black Sea in a 65-foot yawl.

Tickets for the series are still available and may be obtained by phoning or writing the adult education office at Arlington High School.

Nine film-lectures are planned for a cost of $4, plus $1 registration fee. Single admission for any of the performances is $1. Student season tickets are $2. (ACM-E

Slichenmyer Talks At Seminar in Ohio

High School District 214 Superintendent Harold L. Slichenmyer was one of three out-of-state featured speakers at a Superintendents Seminar in Columbus, Ohio, this week.

The seminar was billed as an "all-star team of experts going to bat" on superintendent's problems.

The seminar was conducted by School Management Institute Inc., under the sponsorship of the Ohio Association of School Administrators and the Ohio School Board Association.

OTHER NON-OHIO "experts" brought to the seminar were the superintendents of schools in Atlanta, Ga., and Jefferson County, Ky.

Among the topics covered in the conference were top priority planning responsibilities of the chief administrator, superintendent-board relationships, conflicts within the school organization, a structure to facilitate communications, community involvement, building the administrative team, raising the level of staff performance, evaluation within the school system, budget preparation and the management of change.

PICTURE TUBE LIFE

by ED LANDWEHR

"How long should a TV picture tube last?"

We guarantee them for a year at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, and have so few replacements that it isn't worth mentioning. Actually, you could safely guarantee them for two years and longer for the average viewer. But, there's the rub.

Like anything else it depends on how the TV set is used. Is it moved around a lot? Are the kids switching it on and off? Does it operate day and night?

Most manufacturers quote 3,000 hours and the wearing out process is very slow. If your TV picture seems dull compared to your neighbors, phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and let us run a test on it. You'll like our service.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE

The 42nd annual District 21, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers fall conference was held Oct. 14, at Maine West Township High School, Des Plaines.

Theme of the conference was "Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow: A Dream, A Reality, A Purpose!"

STUDY COURSE

Arlington Heights Council PTA will present a study course beginning Oct. 16. The course will consist of three sessions on Oct. 16, Oct. 23, and Oct. 30. All three meetings will be held at Olive School from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

PTA structure and policy will be presented at the first session by Mrs. Fred Sassman, president, River Ridge Council of PTA. The second session will be led by Mrs. Marvin Morse, president, Schaumburg Council, and Mrs. R. B. Yadon, District 21 secretary, who will discuss parliamentary procedure. Mrs. Charles Nelson, president, Randhurst Council PTA, will present the third session on committee functions.

Mrs. John Lindstrom, CL 3-2226, is in charge of registration.

OLIVE

The Oct. 9 Parents' Night at Olive School was a well attended affair, indicating an active interest in the children's progress thus far in the school year.

Plans for the coming year were outlined by the teachers in each of the grades visited by the mothers and fathers.

The following fathers: Anton Kuzdas, Harold Warman, Donald Helbling, Claude Daley, Robert Bishop, Gail Elder and Ben Lockhart spoke in behalf of the coming school referendum and tax levy increase to be voted upon Nov. 16.

Refreshments were available during the social period following and a bake sale provided freshly baked goods "to take."

MINER JUNIOR

Miner Junior High School PTA meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, will give parents and teachers an opportunity to express themselves on the contents of a code of ethics for junior high students. The audience will be divided into discussion groups so that all parents and teachers may contribute their ideas. Grooming, privileges and responsibilities, parties and other social activities will be some of the topics covered.

Students at Miner and South Junior High Schools are being given the opportunity to discuss the same topics with their teachers. "Cooperative efforts should result in a set of ground rules satisfying to all. This is an outstanding opportunity for PTA members and all interested persons to help prepare a reasonable and practical guide for junior high students and their parents," commented Mrs. Charles Pipkin, president.

A skate and boot sale, sponsored by the Miner PTA, will be held Saturday, Nov. 2, from 10 a.m. until noon. Athletic equipment and Scout uniforms will also be included. Items for sale are to be brought to Miner Friday, Nov. 1, between 8 and 9:30 a.m. and between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. All items should be clearly marked with name, address, phone number and the price expected.

The PTA will keep 20 per cent of each sale and the balance will be set aside for contributors to pick up at the school between 1 and 2 that afternoon. Articles not sold may be picked up at this time also. "This is a very popular event and gives parents a chance to outfit their children with ice skates and boots at a nominal cost and also realize a profit from their family's good but outgrown articles," stated the sale chairman.

PAPER PRACTICE for Girl Scouts from Troops 504 and 406 of Arlington Heights is designed to get them in shape for their semi-annual paper drive throughout the village Oct. 18, 19 and 20. Girls and parent-helpers will drive through neighborhoods to pick up all old newspapers and magazines — preferably tied in small bundles. Special paper pickups may be arranged by calling CL 3-4878 or CL 5-3255. Proceeds of the drive are intended to help finance a summer trip to Colorado for each troop.

Eastwood Events

Visitors from Amery, Wis. were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Stueber of N. Hickory Avenue. Mrs. Stueber's brother and his family, the Ruland Petersons and son, Mark, are building their own home in Wisconsin and decided to get away from it all for several days. Lunching in Chicago, driving along the lake and shopping, provided enough break in the workday routine to send them back home with renewed vigor to finish their constructing chores.

The previous weekend the Stuebers and their children, Curt and Karen, were Wisconsin visitors, but in Horicon, where they spent the time with Grandmother Stueber.

Northwestern University's victory over Minnesota added to the pleasure of Saturday's game for several groups of neighborhood people. The Charles Cassidys of 419 N. Hickory, who see all of the home games, were at Dyche Stadium with friends from Barrington.

THE ROBERT Jochims, also from Hickory Avenue, entertained three couples for lunch before the game. Their guests were two local couples, the Hostermans and the Rick Whites, and the Klumbdes from Champaign.

Grandmother Mrs. John Waldmueller from Chicago has been a visitor this past week at the Steven Bartolone residence. But partying wasn't too much in evidence this trip as Mrs. Waldmueller was caring for Stevie, Michael, Billy and Susan, while Mrs. Bartolone was in St. Anne's hospital welcoming their newest daughter, Julie Ann.

Last Thursday evening Mrs. Gaylor Jones of 703 E. Euclid Ave. entertained at a coffee for four new members before a meeting of the American Assn. of University Women. Janet Olt, Beverly Fetterolf, Yvonne Koch and Jane Geil were the honorees. Doris Stueber, and charter members Eleanor Cullison and Marian Henikin, were also guests at the coffee.

THE KOCHS, Albrecht and Yvonne, are new neighbors at 420 N. Hickory Ave., the former residence of Bernice and John Hagerman who moved to Arizona. One year ago last Monday the Kochs returned to Yvonne's hometown of Evanston from Germany where their eldest son, Peter, 3, was born in Hochheim. Mr. Koch is a native of Germany, being born in Nassau, near Coblenz. The Kochs met while Yvonne was vacationing in Germany. While living in Europe, Mrs. Koch taught school there. Their youngest son, Frank, was born in the United States last March.

While in Germany Mr. Koch was a mechanical engineer for Opel. In Chicago, where he commutes each day, he is also a mechanical engineer - but for printing presses instead of cars: Eastwood extends a warm welcome to its newest neighbors.

A GROUP OF bridge enthusiasts playing in the neighborhood round robin met Saturday night at the home of June and Bruce McBride on Brighton Place. Doris and Jack Gavin, Bob and Virginia Fritz and Bob and Bernice Hansen made up the two tables for cards.

GREENBRIER GLEANINGS

Loraine Kunstman CL 5-2917

Maura Ann Cleveland, daughter of Herb and Janice of 2120 N. Verde, celebrated her fifth birthday Oct. 6 with a party the previous day. Guests for lunch, fun and excitement included Maura's sister, Nancy, her brother, Tommy, and 11 playmates and classmates from Greenbrir.

Celebrating their first wedding anniversary at the Playboy Club with friends, Ken and Judy Smith of Des Plaines, were Jerome and Pat Gaul of 1522 W. Lexington.

No sooner had the Gust Mannings of Van Nuys, Calif., returned home after visiting their son, Vern and his wife, Grace, of 2302 N. Verde this summer when they had to return Sept. 20 due to the death of Mrs. G. Manning's brother in Chicago. They flew back to California Oct. 8.

This reporter and her daughter, Cassandra, enjoyed the Lyric Opera's presentation of Verdi's "Masked Ball" last Wednesday at the Civic Opera House.

Laymen Will Lead Worship Sunday

Laymen of Arlington Heights Methodist Church will conduct both the 9 and 11 a.m. services on Sunday, Oct. 20.

Harvey C. Auman will deliver the sermon at both services. His topic will be "Your Neighbor as Yourself." Other laymen who will share in conducting the services are Woodrow Knorr, Howard Redding, Dr. Donald Tuomi and Fred Goble. Special music is being arranged by Fred Schmoyer, director of music.

Laymen in many denominations all over the United States and Canada and chapels wherever the armed forces are stationed around the world also will be conducting worship services next Sunday.

United Churchmen, a department of the National Council of Churches, sponsors this day throughout the cooperating Protestant denominations.

Teachers Ask Free Lunch Hour

ST. LOUIS, (UPI)—Teachers in the city's public schools had over 1,300 signatures on petitions seeking a duty-free lunch hour.

Representatives for the teachers have recommended that the city hire part-time employes to supervise children at lunch in the future.

One move would offer the teachers an opportunity to observe a lunch period free of supervisory duties. (B-9

PTA Leaders Hold All-Day Conference

PTA units in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Palatine Townships participated in the 42nd annual fall conference of District 21, Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers (ICPT), on Monday, Oct. 14, at Maine Township High School West, Des Plaines. About 600 delegates attended the session.

The conference opened with the recitation of the PTA prayer and pledge of allegiance, led by Mrs. Milton L. Weiner, Wilmette. Mrs. Weiner is past state president of the ICPT and membership chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Theme of the conference was "Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow: A Dream, A Realty, A Purpose!" Hostess group for the conference was the Maine-Ridge Council of PTAs.

During the morning session a skit, "Suppose It Had Never Happened!" portrayed typical conditions that might exist in any community in America if the parent-teacher movement had never started. At the close of the skit delegates divided into five discussion groups with each group examining the contribution of PTA from a different approach.

GUEST SPEAKER of the conference was Mrs. G. D. Collins, Aurora, state president of the ICPT. Her topic was "Aren't We Glad It Did!" was a reply to the morning skit and an opening for the afternoon session.

Reports during the afternoon included presentations from the various discussion groups. Questions and answers were a part of the closing session.

District 21, ICPT, includes the north suburban area PTA units ranging from the Chicago limits north to Lake Forest, west to Barrington, south to the county line and east to the Chicago boundary. Membership in the district totals 10,751 in 149 PTA units.

One of the highlights of the conference was the introduction of principals of nine school buildings newly-constructed or presently under construction within the boundaries of District 21.

Personnel for the discussion groups included Mrs. Leonard Minkoff, Hoffman Estates, vice president, Schaumburg PTA Council; Mrs. Robert J. Long, Barrington, past president, Barrington Central Board; Mrs. David H. Mason, Barrington, district publications assistant; Mrs. Marvin L. Morse, Hoffman Estates, president, Schaumburg PTA Council; Mrs. Robert Oakley, Palatine, president, Northwest Suburban PTA Council; Mrs. Lewis Gregg, Arlington Heights, president, Arlington Heights PTA Council; and Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mount Prospect, president, Randhurst PTA council.

Paddock, Hayes At Press Meeting

Two Arlington Heights residents attended a meeting of Suburban Press Foundation at Mount Kisco, N. Y., recently as publisher - members of the group presented a program for 25 eastern publishers.

Heading the program were Robert Y. Paddock, vice-president of Paddock Publications and president of the Foundation; and Chester Hayes, 605 N. Chestnut, executive director of the Foundation.

IN OUTLINING the aims of SPF, Paddock stressed that many of his group were "second or third generation members of publishing families, men who were born into the business," who had "enthusiasm for the future of suburban publishing" and who were "determined to make it prosper."

He claimed that in recent years, these same publishers have discovered their problems were "peculiar to suburban publishing and much different from the problems of non-suburban areas." Paddock listed some of these problems as large investments in modern equipment; methods of distribution; efficiency in composing; handling and selling of advertising; obtaining and holding editorial personnel; modernization of classified departments; and cost analysis. Russians Say Their Blood Bank Excels

ST. LOUIS, (UPI)—Six Russian doctors, including three women, on a tour of hospital facilities praised American blood research techniques but claimed Russian blood banks are better organized.

The head of the delegation, Dr. Antonin N. Filatov, speaking through a state department interpreter said, "We have a single governmental (blood bank) system which is well organized and thought through."

FILATOV said in Russia "any patient can get all he needs, without paying."

The doctors said they were impressed by the research of Dr. William Harrington, associate professor of medicine at Washington University, in the area of immunization of the treatment of leukemia.

The group has been touring the United States since Sept. 27. They will leave Sunday.

watch check-up now!

Here's why it's so important to get a check-up by a qualified, professional watchmaker. A good watch is made to work constantly, for years. But jarrings, dust, dirt or humidity can sometimes throw off its intricate, hard-working mechanism. Of course, your watch may be working fine, but if you bring it in for a check-up now you may avoid possible costly damage later.

OVERINFLATED TIRES ADD LITTLE TO GAS ECONOMY. It's true that overinflated tires do reduce road friction somewhat, since less tire surface actually touches the road. Robertson Calls For Conservatism

"Republican candidates must champion the conservative cause of individual freedom and our constitutional republic or our two party system will fail," Hayes Robertson, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, told a group assembled for the opening of the Northwest Robertson-Goldwater Club headquarters in Palatine Friday.

"Voters of Illinois and others throughout the country have not supported the Republican ticket for an important reason—the party has been neither 'fish nor fowl.' The Republican platform has been a little liberal and a little conservative. It was too conservative for the liberals and far too liberal for the conservatives," Robertson said.

"THE PURPOSES and objectives of the two party platforms were almost identical," Robertson added.

"Republican candidates today must be pledged to resist the liberal philosophy of state socialism in any and every form; no individual has the right to seek public office as a Republican unless he endorses the philosophy of our party. No individual should be nominated unless he refuses to support those who desert their principles and attempt to placate the very forces which we as Republicans are fighting," declared Robertson.

Robertson said he planned in his campaign for governor "to adhere closely to the basic conservative philosophy of the Republican party." He promised to give Illinois voters a choice in April and maintained he would take a firm and conservative stand on issues.

Commenting about Barry Goldwater, Robertson said, "To insure the nomination of Goldwater, we must have far more than a simple majority of the Illinois delegation. Illinois must be pledged unanimously for Goldwater."

THE NOMINEE for Governor must be absolutely dedicated to the proposition that the Goldwater nomination is essential to party success—"I am so dedicated," Robertson told supporters at 1 N. Brockway St.

Dr. James Kane of Mount Prospect explained the Northwest Robertson-Goldwater Club was formed to give the people of Elk Grove, Wheeling, Palatine and Barrington Townships an opportunity to work together for the nomination and election of a truly conservative candidate for governor of Illinois and for the nomination and election of Barry Goldwater as president of the United States.

Individuals interested in giving support to these candidates were asked to sign the club's membership list. "The only obligation for membership is to pledge to give support and personal efforts to the nomination and election of these conservative Republicans," Dr. Kane said. (B8

Area Superintendents Speak on Willis Case

The spotlight on Benjamin Willis and the Chicago Public Schools this week was a topic for considerable discussion by the general public, and by suburban school authorities as well.

As knowledgeable people in the education field, personally acquainted with Dr. Willis and the problems he faces, suburban school leaders' comments were varied, and tended to cast some new light on the problem as discussed by metropolitan papers.

Supt. Ralph Clabaugh of Arlington Heights elementary schools said that Dr. Willis leaving Chicago would be a great loss. "I hope they can work out an arrangement whereby he will stay and the relationships among the board, superintendent and community can be considerably improved. If they do this, it will make for the benefit of the profession as well as the City of Chicago."

CLABAUGH turned the spotlight on another facet of the Willis problem which has been little discussed.

"As far as I know no court has ever involved itself directly in forcing a superintendent to observe a directive of the board of education—without the board requesting such action or without the board being consulted, he said.

Palatine-Schaumburg Supt. G. A. McElroy noted that the comments attributed to the head of the North Central Association, a school accrediting body, which indicated the Chicago school system might lose its acceptable rating, were not unexpected. "The North Central Association always checks into the situation when a superintendent leaves because of a superintendent-board relationship," he said.

H. L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of High School District 214, prepared a formal statement on the question:

"THE CHICAGO Board of Education showed good judgment in refusing to accept the resignation of Dr. Willis. He is a recognized leader among the administrators of the nation. To have accepted the resignation at the present time and under the present conditions would have resulted in a great setback to the Chicago school system.

"I am sure that the Board committee and Dr. Willis will develop an outline for an effective school board-administrator relationship. Such a relationship is necessary whether in a large school system, such as Chicago, or a very small system.

"Written policies which clearly define the activities of the board members and the administration are essential for a continued good relationship. Newspaper and TV reports make it apparent that there was no clear understanding by the members of the Chicago Board of Education of their responsibilities.

"The written policies should also make it clear that the superintendent is to execute the policies of the board of education."

The superintendent of the Elk Grove school system, Dr. Roger Bardwell, pointed out that "The issue of segregation is one of the most important issues in our country. Whether schools should be active in promoting desegregation or whether they should be concerned primarily with education, not actively promoting desegregation through education, is a major problem facing schools today.

"It would seem that the Chicago Board of Education and Dr. Willis took the view that the schools should be concerned with education only."

24 Youths 'Wash Out' Of Forest Work Camp

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., (UPI)—Nearly one-fourth of the 101 young men enrolled in a youth work camp in Harrison State Forest quit or "washed out" in the first five weeks.

Jacques LeRoy, director of the Indiana Youth Council which helped sponsor the project, said today more than half of the 24 who no longer are at camp were sent home because they could not take the rugged work or classroom training mentally or physically.

Others quit to return to school or find jobs in their hometowns, LeRoy said.

LeROY HAD good words for the remaining youths still at camp.

"The boys that are left are the boys there to do a job," he said. "They're learning to work together."

Some left because they could not adjust, LeRoy said. A few were sent home as disciplinary problems. Four had medical problems. A few were homesick.

Twelve additional youths replaced some of the dropouts from a list of more than 100 left over after the first enrollees were chosen from 240 applicants.

LeRoy said an improved method of screening is necessary if there are future camps like the present one which has several weeks yet to run. He said success of the project will depend on how well the "graduates" find and hold steady jobs. (B-9

State Real Estate Boards Back Occupancy Referendum

PEORIA, (UPI)—The Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards said today it would support and work for a statewide referendum on the question of open occupancy.

Association President Raymond O. Speckman said the group favored letting "the people of Illinois decide in a democratic way whether or not so-called fair housing and open occupancy laws should be enacted by the state.

"The association regrets the repeated efforts to legislate the involved question of race relations in connection with the sale and disposition of real estate through so-called fair or forced housing legislation," Speckman said.

HE SAID "It has become apparent that some legislative bodies have a tendency to act under minority political pressure without regard to the will of the majority of the people."

Speckman said the board of directors of the association has voted to back civic groups in the attempt to gain the needed support for a statewide referendum.

He said that various civic and property-owner groups throughout the state have "risen to the occasion and are actively seeking 510,000 signatures" to bring the question of open occupancy to a referendum during the state elections of 1964.

Speckman said he has directed all real estate boards in the state to assist local civic groups in the circulation of petitions that are needed to bring about the referendum. (B9

3 St. Patrick Seniors Win Merit Commendation

Letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Program have been awarded three senior students at the Academy of St. Patrick, Des Plaines.

Wining recognition for their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying tests administered last March were Elizabeth Distler, Palatine; Mary Ann Holbrook, Park Ridge, and Eileen Jack, Arlington Heights.

The program recognizes two groups, the commended students and the semifinalists, which together constitute about two per cent of all high school seniors.

One of the purposes of the test is to identify able students and encourage them to continue their education. Last spring it was administered to 700,600 students in 16,500 high schools.

"Robert E. Lee: The Man and the Soldier," (pictorial biography) by Philip Van Doren Stern, McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., 1963, 254 pages. $9.95.

by BRUCE LADD

History buffs—especially those favoring the Civil War era—will find this volume's 350 illustrations and 80,000 words of text a "must" for the home libarary.

Robert E. Lee is remembered usually only as a Civil War general who fought gallantly but lost, and whose military career ended in sadness at a place called Appomattox. Stern points out that he was more than a soldier.

In this well-illustrated history, Stern concentrates not only on photographs (many of them published for the first time), but also on creating a strong biography devoted largely to Lee's personal life.

The reader sees another, less familiar Lee emerge—the aristocratic, handsome gentleman, impeccably groomed, whose ancestry can be traced back 700 years, and who was of the sixth generation of Lees in America.

After the fast-moving war years, the defeated Confederate general took no part in controversies. He served as president of Washington University and helped bring the Southern states back into the Union.

What Lee did as a general made him famous, but, says Stern, "what he did afterward in civilian life made him great."

Stern is a noted Civil War historian, and author of "The Man Who Killed Lincoln," "The Drums of Morning," and "An End to Valor."

The price of his newest book will keep it out of the hands of most, but the quality remains.

Exceptional Child Group to Hear Health Specialist

Dr. Wallace Ann Wesley, specialist in health education, will address the first meeting of the Council for Exceptional Children for 1963-64 on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at Randhurst Town Hall.

HER TALK on "Health Education and the Exceptional Child" will be preceded by a dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Wesley, who is with the Department of Community Health and Health Education of the American Medical Association in Chicago, received her bachelor's degree from Illinois State Normal University, her master's from the University of Oregon and her doctor's degree in health and safety from the University of Indiana.

DR. WALLACE ANN WESLEY

Dinner reservations may be made with Robert Stein, 1414 W. Oakton, Arlington Heights, Cl 3-3474. Guests are welcome.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Would it be proper for me to give a birthday party for myself?

A. Not unless you want to give the impression that you are soliciting gifts. If you really want to give a party, do it without mentioning the fact that it is your birthday. Then later at the party you can make the big announcement.

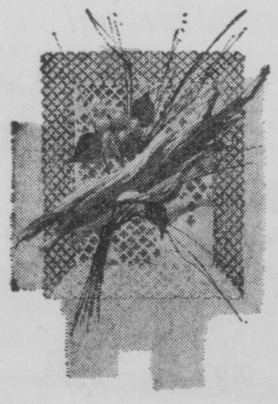
QUICK AND EASY SHADOW BOXES

Fun to make your own in just a few minutes!

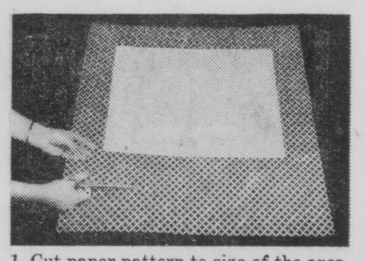


Handsome, decorator-styled shadow boxes to set off your favorite floral arrangement, oil or watercolor painting or any assortment of decorative objects.

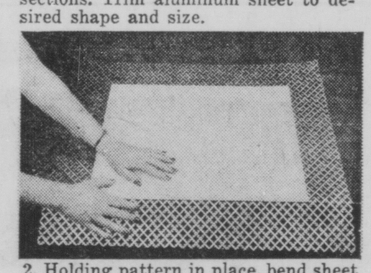
Here's all you need:

- One 36" x 36" sheet of Reynolds Do-It-Yourself Aluminum in the Cloverleaf Pattern — available at your favorite hardware or building supply dealer
- Household scissors
- A paper pattern
- A few minutes of your time

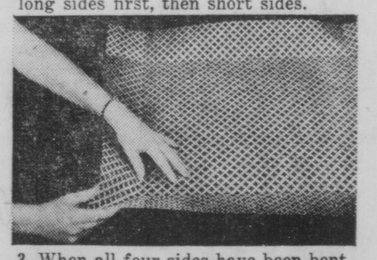
Now, just follow the simple 1-2-3 directions on the right.



1. Cut paper pattern to size of the area you want to be flat. Position it on the aluminum sheet so that corners fall approximately on the aluminum intersections. Trim aluminum sheet to desired shape and size.



2. Holding pattern in place, bend sheet over table or counter edge; if rectangular shadow box is desired, bend long sides first, then short sides.



3. When all four sides have been bent, pinch corners slightly with your fingers to hold shape of shadow box. Completed shadow box is now ready for use.

Simply use Reynolds Aluminum Craft Wire to attach arrangements to the shadow box. Paintings can be mounted with rubber cement.

Public Relations of Hospitals Discussed

A new approach is needed in hospital public relations with the press and the public, including a better understanding of hospital costs and a realization of the investment necessary in training and equipment.

That was the consensus of thought on the part of the 50 hospital administrators and directors of nursing attending last week's meeting of District II of the Illinois Hospital Association at the Evergreen Restaurant in Dundee. Personnel included representatives from hospitals from Waukegan to Elmhurst and Aurora to Rockford.

ON THE PANEL of newspaper and radio men, plus a public relations expert, discussing "What the Press Thinks of Hospitals" was Robert Y. Paddock, vice president of Paddock Publications. Discussion centered on improvement of relations with hospitals for benefit of the public.

Among points made at the session were the following:

—Hospitals need a new outlook on public relations, with a professional public relations man hired to direct the job, if possible.

—Public should have more information about the hospitals, with a better system established to inform the press, particularly in serious accident cases.

—Hospitals should develop a standard rating system in signifying condition of patients to the press.

—A better job of selling the public on patient care is needed.

—Better understanding of how to deal with the public is needed by many doctors, particularly with reference to hospital practices because it is hard to separate the medical staff from the hospital in the minds of the public.

Among those attending the afternoon session was Mrs. M. Loss, director of nursing at Northwest Community Hospital.

Dinner Slated by Sacred Heart Dads

The Fathers' Council of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, Rolling Meadows, will hold its first annual membership dinner Thursday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m., at Old Orchard Country Club.

Walter "Red" Hackett, Chicago humorist, will be the guest speaker.

Dinner will be served family style and the menu will include roast beef and chicken.

Sacred Heart of Mary School was newly opened in September, and the Fathers' Council is one of the first adult participation units to be organized. The Oct. 24 dinner will serve as an opportunity for Council members to get acquainted and for new members to enroll.

ONE OF THE prime advantages of Council membership is an insurance coverage arrangement which will guarantee a daughter's complete education at Sacred Heart of Mary School in the event the father should die before her graduation.

Officers of the Fathers Council are: president, Bernie Minton, 901 S. Ioka St., Mount Prospect; vice president, Joseph Trebat, 21 S. WaPella, Mount Prospect; treasurer, Neale Gripentrog, 18 N. Lancaster, Mount Prospect, and secretary, Ray Koss, 721 Hickory, Arlington Heights.

Nurses Invited to Tour Cook County Nursing School

An invitation to tour Cook County Hospital Nov. 1 and 2 is extended by the Cook County School of Nursing to all graduate nurses.

The two-day tour will include a discussion of nursing procedures in a large metropolitan institution like Cook County, a tour of both the hospital and the School of Nursing, discussion of medical research projects being conducted currently at the hospital and a coffee hour and question period.

There will be a social program the evening of Friday, Nov. 1, which will include a tour of Chicago and an Hawaiian luau dinner at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel. Saturday morning the nurses will have opportunity to tour the Chicago Police Department's new electronic central communications center and learn how Chicago police coordinate disaster planning, area safety, accidents, and emergencies with Cook County Hospital and Chicago Medical Center.

Registration will begin in the Nurses' Residence, 1900 W. Polk St., at 7:30 a.m. Friday, Nov. 1. The registration is $1 per person. The social program is $9 per person. Free housing for women will be available Saturday night at the nurses' home. Men may be housed at a nearby YMCA for a nominal cost.

Since reservations are limited, interested nurses should contact Frank Dypold, Cook County School of Nursing, 1900 W. Polk, Chicago, TA 9-8400, before Friday, Oct. 25.

Carpentier Claims Experience Needed In Governor Seat

by BRUCE L'DD
Associate Editor

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier is trying hard to turn his 40 years in politics into a "plus" factor.

In a speech last week before a joint meeting of the Wheeling Township Regular Republican and Young Republican clubs, Carpentier made it clear his candidacy for the GOP nomination for governor is based on "past service and experience."

HE DISMISSED criticism that he is "too old" to serve as governor.

"The inabilities of the incumbent governor (Otto Kerner) indicate that a man of experience in government is necessary," Carpentier said. "I've had experience, dating back to 1924 when I was elected alderman in East Moline."

He said he believes voters "will recognize service in the past," and that "the winning candidate's name must have demonstrated political success."

THE 67-YEAR-OLD office holder is opposing Charles H. Percy, 44, board chairman of Bell & Howell Co., and Hayes Robertson, 58, Cook County GOP chairman, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In his address at the Arlington Heights VFW Hall, Carpentier avoided declaring support for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R—Ariz., saying:

"We've already got one candidate who is riding Goldwater's coattails. I'm going to run on my own."

His reference was to Robertson, who is an ardent campaigner for Goldwater.

Carpentier comment ed on state issues as follows:

OPEN OCCUPANCY — "Any proposition which denies me the right to dispose of my property as I wish, I'm against."

MENTAL HEALTH — "I'm a bit fearful of the mental health program as laid out by the incumbent governor. There's a lot of 'pork barrel' involved. The mental health bond issue in 1960 didn't contemplate this kind of a program. They're building now and worrying about paying the bills later."

REVENUE REFORM — "I'm not so sure we have to go into new revenue fields to run the state properly. We have to begin to live within our means."

WEST SIDE BLOC — "I'm not worried about this. It's a problem for the Democratic party. The Democrats control the entire west side of Chicago. I won't be sanctimonious and say who should be in office and who shouldn't."

CARPENTIER'S REFUSAL TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR IN 1960 — "You get into a fight with an incumbent of your own party (Gov. William G. Stratton) and you're in trouble. It didn't seem then like a primary fight would help the Republican party."

Carpentier was elected secretary of state in 1952, 1956 and 1960.

Attend 'Y' Public Relations Meeting

A new look at YMCA public relations will be given to six Northwest Suburban YMCA members and staff along with some 100 others at the annual YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago fall public relations council meeting tonight, Thursday, at the YMCA Hotel, 826 S. Wabash Ave.

The evening will begin with dinner, after which presentations for "Service to Youth" will be awarded Tony Weitzel, Chicago Daily News columnist, and Fahey Flynn, WBBM-TV newscaster.

MRS. WILLIAM J. Busse, chairman of the local YMCA Public Relations committee, said the program will explore YMCA goals and public relation concerns. An organizational study of the YMCA by the University of Chicago will be discussed by participants.

A panel, chaired by Emmett Dedmon, executive editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, will point to projected public relations in local YMCA's.

Representing Northwest Suburban department will be C. McClellan and William J. Busse, Mount Prospect; Ian Falconer, Des Plaines; Carol Nelson, chairman of the 'Y' radio show; Alberta Pinnotti and Marian Busse, public relations chairman.

'Flour Away!' Is Shout of Carmi Fliers

CARMI, ILL., (UPI) — The call of "bombs away" was followed by a dull thud Sunday at Carmi Municipal Airport.

The White County Flying Club invited 39 airports within a 100-mile radius in the tri-state area to send entries to a precision drop contest at 2 p.m.

The bombardiers aimed at a 10-foot painted circle with payloads of sacked flour or sand from an altitude of no less than 400 feet.

Newspaper Week Speaker

Suburban Press New Power, Rotary Told

A leading suburban newspaper editor told members of the Rotary Club of Arlington Heights today, Thursday, that "suburban journalism is the new third dimension in America's Fourth Estate."

Speaking on the topic "Importance of the Suburban Press," Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, Inc., said:

"Suburban journalism's past, progress and potential parallel the suburban sprawl which has become the most discussed, written about, analyzed, visited, revisited and lived-in aspect of post-war American society."

HAYES

He indicated more than one-third of the nation's people now live in suburbia, creating a great demand for effective suburban newspapers.

"The suburban press is distinctive; its function and character place it apart from both the city daily and the conventional weekly," Hayes said.

HE CITED a group of Chicago area publishers' recognition of the necessity for adapting to the changing population trend—from central city to suburban communities.

Several years ago, Hayes explained, these publishers decided that suburban journalism needed help if it was to overcome the problems of transition from amateur gossip sheet to suburban newspaper.

They examined the problem, and in 1960, the Suburban Press Foundation was incorporated in Illinois as a non-profit organization. It was defined in its charter as "a cooperative and development project designed to extend the marketing recognition and the journalistic power of suburban community newspapers."

"The Suburban Press Foundation's roster now includes 120 suburban newspapers representing nearly a million paid circulation in 14 major metropolitan areas from New York to Los Angeles," Hayes said.

FIRST PRESIDENT of the Foundation was Robert Y. Paddock, vice president of Paddock Publications.

Hayes, at 32 a veteran of 10 years in the newspaper profession, predicted that the suburban newspaper in 10 years will be unlike any "newspaper" today.

"It will be a medium somewhere between the magazine and conventional formats, with particular emphasis on interpretation and explanation, less stress on 'spot' news," he pointed out.

He said revolutionary changes in utilization of photography, mechanical production, women's interest news and frequency of publication will also be seen in the future.

"THE NEW suburban press insures continuance of variety and diversity in American newspapers.

"It is the last frontier of personal journalism in which editors are directly responsible for that which they produce and where, with courage, imagination, and effort they can break the restraints of stale editorial cliches which too long have handcuffed the profession."

Under Hayes' direction, Paddock Publications' 14 suburban newspapers have won more than 140 local, state and national awards since 1956.

A graduate of Wittenberg University and Northwestern University, Hayes lives at 302 N. Pine Ave., Arlington Heights.

Legion Women To Meet Sunday

The fall convention of the 11th District American Legion Auxiliary will be held Sunday, Oct. 20, at the American Legion Hall located on Buena Vista Drive, Glen Ellyn.

Registrations will begin at 9 a.m. with the call to order at 10 o'clock. Luncheon will be served at noon.

The morning session will be an outline of the year's activities under the direction of Department President Mrs. Homer Roman. (A14

O'Hare Zoning Will Be Discussed

Whether truees may be grown in approach zones to O'Hare Airport and other controversial proposed zoning regulations in O'Hare will be discussed at the October meeting of Northwest Suburban Manufacturers Association.

Philip Zeitlin, chief zoning planner, and James Strunck, assistant corporation counsel for the City of Chicago, will talk about the regulations at the noon meeting at River Forest Country Club on Thursday, Oct. 24.

The Northwest Association Board of Directors has gone on record as opposed to the regulations as proposed. The Oct. 24 discussion will provide opportunity for association members to learn why the directors were opposed.

Copies of the zoning map and the proposed regulations will be distributed at the meeting.

Sweet Potatoes Banned For Persons on Relief

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — The Illinois Public Aid Advisory Commission recommended sweeping economy moves that will save an estimated $900,000 a month in the state relief program.

Harold O. Swank, director of the state Department of Public Aid, said the economy measures would be placed in effect Nov. 1.

One of the points in the new economy program would substitute powdered milk for whole milk for all children 6 years old or older and for all adults. The program adopted, in effect, replaces the ceilings on public aid payments instituted by the legislature last spring.

EIGHT MEMBERS of the legislative advisory commission voted in favor of the new policy. Three no votes were cast on the motion by Rep. Abner Mikva, Rep. John Touhy, and Sen. Fred Smith. All are Chicago Democrats.

The program was submitted by Swank.

Swank said the cuts would mean a "steep cut" in the assistance levels, but said they would permit families to live "nutritionally."

The cuts affect only allowances for food and clothing. Rents are not affected.

AMONG THE cuts instituted are:

—Banning of sweet potatoes in favor of all-white potatoes.

—Dropping of Lima beans in favor of Navy beans.

—Using dried prunes instead of dried peaches.

—Replacing canned fish with more hamburger.

—Eliminating fresh oranges. Instead, recipients will be able to get canned grapefruit juice.

—Eliminating spring coats for women and replacing winter coats for men with "car coats."

—Cheaper shoes for children, using plastic instead of leather.

Swank said a new state-wide food price list will be put into effect in determining relief payments, instead of the present practice whereby food allotments for relief families are established in each county by local committees.

All categories of public aid will be affected by the new program.

Runaway 'Dinky' Leads Merry Chase

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — Ted Lloyd, 59-year-old engineer for the St. Louis Grain Corp., did a switch when he had to run to catch his train.

Lloyd left his small diesel switch engine, called a "dinky" beside a grain elevator in the company yards last week. Minutes later he returned, but found the train had gone.

THE TRAIN had slipped its brakes and the engine was chugging to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad tracks along the Mississippi River, traveling at about five miles an hour.

Lloyd said he took shortcuts and finally caught up with the engine, two miles away.

"I ran till I gave out and fell down," he said. "Then I got my breath and went some more. When I caught it, it dragged me along until I finally caught my breath again and climbed on."

Q. When cheese is served with apple pie, is it proper to pick up the cheese with the fingers, or should it be eaten with the fork?

A. Usually it is eaten with the fork. But there is nothing wrong with picking up dry cheese in the fingers, if you wish.

Q. I am having a very small, informal wedding, with only about 12 guests. Do I send out engraved invitations to these people?

A. This isn't necessary. You can extend your invitations either by telephone or short written note.

Q. When a man is driving his car, with his wife and another woman in the front seat with him, does his wife sit next to him or does the other woman?

A. Makes no difference. They sit as they happen to get in.

State Takes Action in Stream Pollution Cases

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — The Illinois Sanitary Water Board authorized the attorney general to bring action against four business firms and two sanitary districts discharging waste into Illinois waterways.

The board authorized action against the Peabody Coal Co. for $20,525 for the alleged destruction of fish in the Sangamon River between Springfield and Petersburg. The fish kill allegedly took place Aug. 9-13 as the result of the discharge of acid mine water into the river from the firm's mine near Kincaid, according to Clarence W. Klassen, technical secretary of the board.

THE BOARD authorized a hearing into the alleged discharge of untreated waste into the Vermilion River by the Danville Sanitary District.

It authorized the attorney general to bring action for a penalty and an injunction against Aluminum Processing Co. of Aurora. The firm had been ordered to discontinue the discharge of waste into the Fox River by Sept. 1 unless treatment works were placed under construction. Klassen said no construction work had been started by that date.

The attorney general was authorized to file an action against the Rockford Sanitary District for $12,640 damages for the alleged killing of fish in the Rock River. Klassen said the fish destruction took place on July 30-31, Aug. 26-27, Sept. 13, 14, 16, and 17 as the result of discharge of sewage treatment plant effluent containing cyanide chemical wastes into the river.

THE BOARD authorized the attorney general to file an action against Otter Creek Cheese Co. Cooperative, at Davis, and the Nello Cheese Co., at Durand, for damages of $2,832 for alleged fish destruction in the south branch of Otter Creek near Davis and Durand.

The alleged fish kill took place June 10-11 as the result of the discharge of cheese plant wastes into the stream.

The board authorized the attorney general to file an action against the Illinois Canning Co. of Hoopeston and the City of Hoopeston for damages of $2,816 for an alleged fish kill in the north fork of the Vermilion River. The fish kill allegedly took place Sept. 2, 3 and 4 near Hoopeston and Rossville as the result of the discharge of industrial wastes by Illinois Co. and domestic and industrial wastes by the City of Hoopeston into the stream. Avoid the use of "got," in the sense of "must." Instead of saying, "He's got to win this race," it is much better to say, "He MUST win this race."

THE NEW ARIENS SNO-THRO is being demonstrated daily at Chas. B. Gray Sales & Service at Rand Road and Route 83, Mount Prospect. Because it is a bit early for snow, the machine is placed in a large tank of water to show its ability at moving gallons of water. The equipment is capable of moving slush, and wet or dry snow at the rate of 300 man-sized sholevsfull per minute at a distance of 30 feet. The engine is specifically designed for winter use. Suburbanites may get a demonstration at Chas. B. Gray's. (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

With the beautiful Indian Summer weather we have had the first two weeks of October, winter seems a long way off. But winter is just around the corner.

Why not take advantage of these last few nice days to prepare your grounds for winter. Your plants will survive much better if they are properly cared for.

Most deciduous and evergreen trees and shrubs need plenty of available soil moisture as they go into the winter season. During cool fall weather, bluegrass lawns also need plenty of soil moisture. Most of our area is short of adequate moisture this season so you should apply water artifically where necessary.

DIG GLADIOLUS corms as the tops die back or before the ground freezes solid. Let them air-dry on the soil surface for several hours and complete drying in a shady, well-ventilated area. Dust lightly with 5 per cent DDT and store in paper bags in a cool dry place. Protect from freezing.

Dahlias should be dug before a hard freeze. Trim the tops, but be careful not to break off the dormant buds at the base of the stems. Store the root clumps in a perforated plastic bag to prevent excessive drying. Store at a temperature of about 40 to 50 degrees F.

Cut off the stems of peony bushes at the soil line after the plants become dormant. After the ground freezes, a light organic mulch will prevent alternate freezing and thawing.

AFTER THE first severe frost, protect tender bush roses with a mound of soil about one foot high. After the ground freezes, cover the mound with a mulch of crushed corn cobs, sawdust or other mulching matter. To keep bush roses from being whipped by wind, cut them down to a height of 15 to 18 inches.

Remove climbing roses from the trellis, lay them on the ground and cover with soil. They too can use a mulch.

Remember to mark all garden plants with an appropriate label to keep them from being lost next spring during the clean-up rush.

RABBITS CAN cause serious damage to trees and shrubs by nipping off shoots, branches, leaves and buds and by gnawing and peeling off bark. They feed on these materials, but often remove parts of trees and shrubs without eating them.

One rabbit can ruin a home planting during the winter. Damage is most likely to be severe when forage for rabbits is scarce, in late fall, and during winters when there is a deep snow cover. Wherever rabbits are numerous, protection against them is necessary in order to establish landscaping plantings.

There are several effective ways of protecting your plants from rabbits. The most common method is to place chicken wire fences around each plant. These fences should be larger in diameter than the spread of the lowest branches of the plants, and should be securely fastened to the ground. They should be high enough so that they will stick up over deep snow.

Chemical rabbit repellants are quite effective particularly on hedge material which is hard to protect with fencing. The commercial preparations are available at garden and hardware stores. Some can be used on evergreen plants and some cannot. Be sure to check the label before you use any of these materials.

THE MATERIALS can be sprayed on the plants from a tank sprayer or painted on with a brush.

It is probably not necessary to treat all the plants in your yard, but plants, such as flowering plums, flowering almond, fruit trees and crabapple, which are particularly attractive to rabbits, should be protected.

Apply the repellant on a day when temperatures are well above freezing, and be sure to clean the sprayer thoroughly after using. (A14

Weekend Sociability Called for Old Clothes

Local sociability turned up in old clothes over the weekend and meandered through the smoke-hazed atmosphere all over town. It was seen around piles of burning leaves and leaning lazily on temporarily decommissioned rakes. When marshmallow-and wienie-roasts followed in the natural course of things, it added flavor to the charred results. Y'might say that there was sociability to burn.

Several local families substituted a relaxed and quiet session 'round the bonfire for a tension-packed Saturday afternoon of rooting Notre Dame to a 17-14 gridiron victory over Southern California. Among them were the Edward Flints with Christine and Timothy, who joined their freshman son, Jeffrey, on the Notre Dame side Saturday afternoon. They returned to 205 W. Fremont still vibrating with excitement and just a wee bit hoarse.

Also contributing their vocal best to the Notre Dame cause were Mr. and Mrs. William Knight and Mark, 735 N. Dunton, and Mark's neighborhood buddy, Roger Alm. The Knights' son, Tim, is in his sophomore year at Notre Dame.

FOOTBALL weary guests in the Alm home, 823 N. Dunton, were Mrs. Alm's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clemens of St. Paul. They spent Sunday through Tuesday visiting here and recuperating from the rigors of the Northwestern-Minnesota game in Evanston Saturday. The Clemenses of St. Paul were naturally not happy with the Wildcat win.

Additional strength in the Notre Dame rooting section came from the Lawrence Roccas, 117 S. Fernandez, who joined their two student sons on the campus Saturday. Larry, a university freshman, and Peter, a third year seminary student, were as pleased with the stay-through-Sunday visit of their parents as they were with the game.

Another Rocca son, Pat, a Northwestern University graduate in June, has recently finished his basic training and is now in the language school of The Presidio in California.

Jerry Patterson, Notre Dame freshman, was another local lad with family support at the game Saturday. All of the 1011 S. Dunton Pattersons were welcomed by Jerry's campus buddies, his four sisters getting a shade more attention than Mom and Dad, and Maribeth getting the edge on everybody. She's a bit better known to Jerry's dormmates than her sisters, having visited him on campus earlier this month by way of celebrating her Oct. 1 birthday. Maribeth is 5.

THE LEWIS Browns came home to 509 S. Chestnut last Tuesday after a 5-week western tour that had them in the "golden aspen" area of Colorado in time for the annual autumn color tour and in the Los Angeles area in time for the recent heat wave.

While they were on the West Coast they visited a former Arlington Heights resident and long-time friend, Mrs. Carl Becker, now of San Mateo, who asked to be remembered to her many friends "back home" in Arlington Heights. Leaving California Mr. and Mrs. Brown chose a leisurely return via Carson City, Phoenix and Tucson, and through Texas. Since Texas the Browns don't loosely use the expression "cotton-pickin'," having seen the massive and fascinating operation that cotton picking really is.

More reports about the 110-plus temperature readings in Los Angeles come from the Gene Cimeley family, 1424 N. Vail, who are newly home from a month on the West Coast. Their several days in San Diego were filled with exciting new sights; so were several more days in Los Angeles, but by then the heat had clamped down and it cooked away some of the vacation's pleasure. The Cimeleys climaxed their trip with a tour-by-train along the scenic route to San Francisco where they spent the remaining days of their vacation with relatives.

THE MICHAEL Lancilotis' recent two weeks in the Los Angeles area placed them right in the middle of the heat wave, too, and according to the man of the house at 3008 N. Schoenbeck Road, the heat was nothing to sneeze at. Unless you happened to be sensitive to smog. Despite unpleasant weather conditions, Mr. and Mrs. Lanciloti had many pleasant visits with Mrs. Lanciloti's two sisters and two Lanciloti brothers, all with homes in the Los Angeles area.

The W. H. Dearens, 809 S. Walnut, are entertaining Mrs. Dearen's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Oakley of Bardstown, Ky., and her aunt, Mrs. Kaiser Wells of Middletown, Ohio, who arrived Friday for an extended visit.

Weekend visitors in the John Angus home, 101 S. Fernandez, were friends from Ithaca, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lunn. The Lunns left Monday, and Tuesday the Angus hospitality center welcomed more eastern visitors. The host's sister and brother-in-law, the Louis Janzows of Boston, will return to the East over the weekend.

MR. AND MRS. Carl Behrens and Mrs. Betty Black co-hosted a pre-Cotillion cocktail party Saturday evening in the Behrens home, 525 W. Kirchoff. Guests were 60 fellow "cotillionaires" who relaxed midst the Behrens-and-Black cordiality, then attended the dinner dance with their hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Behrens were among local "invitees" to the grand opening of the Sheraton-O'Hare Tuesday night.

Mrs. Francis McDonald returned to 215 W. Orchard early last week from Saugatuck, Mich. where she was part of a "painting house-party" in the home of a fellow artist. Mrs. McDonald is one of the newest members of a group who began meeting 25 years ago for semi-annual sessions of painting. With 10 other women, one of them a great-grandmother, Mrs. McDonald indulged her artistic bent, committing to canvas as much of autumn's brilliant display as an October week permits.

Bonnie Clausing, daughter of the Erwin Clausings, 913 S. Vail, reached her teenhood last Friday and received family congratulations at a dinner party in her home Sunday.

MARY ELLEN Dougherty, 1212 N. Dunton, was 6 years old Sunday and all she wanted for her family party was a double chocolate cake with ballerinas on top. Mom decided in favor of a yellow cake with white frosting and baseball players (or so she said), but when party time came the cake had changed color and the baseball players wore tutus. Lots of people think Mary Ellen knew that Mom was kidding all the while.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Corwin of Long Island arrived Friday to spend a few weeks with their daughter and family, the Stephen Murphys, 9 S. Salem.

Ralph Stippick, 127 S. Walnut, spent four days last week in Door County, fishing a little and doing a lot of visiting with relatives and friends in Kewanee. The fishing wasn't so good, the visiting was fine and the weather perfect. Among the Wisconsin relatives and friends were some who, like lots of Arlington Heighters, never thought they'd see the day that Stippick wasn't delivering mail here.

His recent retirement from the local postal department was a feature news story, and "The Travels of Mr. and Mrs. Stippick" have been welcome news to their friends since then. He says he'll retreat to his basement workshop for the winter and enjoy his hobby, building martin houses.

MRS. ROBERT Brandner, 817 S. Chestnut, was the guest of 12 neighborhood friends last Thursday afternoon at a farewell luncheon in Old Orchard Country Club. The Brandners will be moving to a new home in suburban Cincinnati the first of next month and with them will go the gift presented to Mrs. Brandner at last week's farewell.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer, 103 E. Hawthorne, weekended in Indiana, sightseeing in Parkeville and Turkey Run. It was Parkeville's annual "Covered Bridge Festival" and the little Hoosier town of 2500 entertained nearly twice that many visitors with a pancake breakfast, open-pit barbecued beef supper and tours to the 38 covered bridges in and around the town.

Until some anonymous historian realized that covered bridges were becoming a fast-disappearing part of early American history, Parkeville was just another little dot on the map. Now it annually comes into its own as the home of the covered bridge. The Meyers feel that the genuine, old-fashioned Hoosier hospitality is the keynote to the festival's success and growing popularity.

VETERAN Arlington Heighters were saddened to learn of the death Oct. 6 of Mary Putnam Muller, 83, widow of William C. Muller, former local soft drink manufacturer. Affectionately identified as the "Pop" Mullers, the couple left here in 1945 after a lifelong Arlington Heights residence and settled in New Mexico. Since Mr. Muller's death several years ago Mrs. Muller has been in a rest home in Las Vegas, N. M. Local relatives include Muller's sister, Miss Adeline Muller, 500 N. Vail, and the widow of his brother, Henry, Mrs. Hulda Muller, 15 W. Fremont.

Kevin Dunne of Ennis, County Clare, Ireland ended a 10-day visit here Tuesday and took home with him memories of new experiences and warm Arlington Heights hospitality. The young man met Doug Craig, son of the Ian Craigs, 1316 N. State, early this year when Doug and his grandfather visited Ireland and they extended an invitation to be the guest of the Craigs "any time." Kevin, and employee of the Irish airline, Aer Lingus, arrived a week ago Sunday and began non-stop sightseeing here and in Chicago. The big city sights notwithstanding, his biggest thrill was seeing a bowling alley for the first time.

THE HOWARD S. Styrons, 305 S. Windsor, recently flew to the West Coast for a week's stay in San Francisco and Las Vegas.

Mrs. C. H. Livingston, who has spent several months in Arlington Heights visiting many of her former Stonegate neighbors, returned to her home in Miami this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Schueler, 210 S. Stratford, had as their houseguest for a short visit, Mr. Schueler's parents, the L. E. Schuelers, of Lake Minnesuing, Wis., who were enroute to their winter home in Mesa, Ariz., and a sister and brother-in-law, the Donald Sandeens of Austin, Minn., and their two children.

This week, the Schuelers have as their houseguest, Paul Kzarnes of Hudson, Wis.

Mrs. Harold Lussow, 402 S. Gibbons, and Mrs. John Lenehen, 631 S. Belmont, attended the Gamma Phi Beta Diamond Anniversary Tea at Northwestern University Sunday.

Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Lussow and their son and daughter-in-law, the William Lussows, went to Iowa City for the Iowa-Indiana football game. They were joined by their second son, John, who drove from the University of Wisconsin, where he is a graduate law student.

Making football games even more exciting for the Lussows this year is their youngest son, Fred, a member of Indiana University's team.

MRS. AND MRS. Frank Kroll, 326 S. Derbyshire, were hosts at a cocktail party Saturday before the Carousel Dance in Old Orchard Country Club.

Miss Nan Tully, a sophomore at Milwaukee Downer College, brought her roommate, Miss Susan Irish of Cleveland, to Arlington Heights for a weekend visit with her parents, the Charles Tullys, 311 S. Carlyle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carns, 106 S. Stratford, are home from a 2-week business and pleasure trip in the East, stopping off in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore. While in Pennsylvania, they took a tour of the Gettysburg battlefields.

Mrs. Carns will entertain members of her Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 S. Windsor, celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary Friday at a dinner party given by Dr. and Mrs. Raoul Suarez of Mount Prospect. They continued their celebration with an excursion to Lake Geneva and Monroe, Wis.

Mrs. Karl Shuart, 214 S. Stratford, joined other area ex-TWA hostesses at the Clipped Wing Club International bi-annual convention at the Chicago Sheraton hotel, Monday through Wednesday. Mrs. E. E. Wolfe of Elk Grove Village served as convention chairman and Mrs. Shuart was in charge of the banquet Monday.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Stevens, 602 E. Lynden, will be sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Steven's mother, Mrs. Hilda Johnson of Bessemer, Mich., who died Sept. 4. Sympathies are extended to the family.

CAROL McGRATH infant daughter of the Thomas McGraths, 542 S. Dryden, was christened Sunday in Our Lady of the Wayside church. Her godparents were Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kissane of Norwood Park.

The Paul J. Tossmans, 111 S. Pine, attended a large family gathering Sunday following the christening of their newest grandson, Bryan Allen, son of their son and daughter-in-law, the Ronald Tossmans. Making it a 4-generation gathering were the presence of the baby's great-grandfather Peter Tossman and Arthur Pahnke of Mount Prospect. Also present were his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith.

Continuing a custom they have enjoyed for the past 10 years, Mr. and Mrs. Peter V. Toffoli Jr., 358 S. Dryden, were hosts at a potluck dinner party Saturday. Guests included the Richard Deckers, John Otzens, Donald Carrars and former Scarsdale residents, the John Schindlers who now live in Oak Park.

Jim and Jane Oestmann, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Oestmann, 320 S. Burton, recently returned from St. Johns Camp in Delafield, Wis., where each received special awards. Jim distinguished himself in riflery where he qualified for the pro-marksman, marksman, first class marksman and sharpshooter awards.

Jane was chosen to receive an "N" pin for being among the 20 per cent at the camp exemplifying Camp Nagawica ideals. Camp St. Johns for boys and Camp Nagawica for girls are operated by St. Johns Military Academy.

MR. AND MRS. Newell P. Crockett Jr., 711 E. Fairview, have just returned fro man 11-day trip to Texas, where they visited their daughter, Chris, a freshman at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Arriving here for a visit are the senior Crocketts of Fort Madison, Iowa.

Terrell Myer, daughter of the Victor Myers, 819 Bristol, marked her 12th birthday Saturday with a party for 12 friends.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davenport, 442 Banbury, spent the past 10 days in Winston Salem, N. C., visiting their daughter and family, the Clarke Garretts. An interesting sidelight of their stay was a visit to the Benbow Furniture collection in Greensboro, where authentic colonial furniture is exhibited and reproduction of fine pieces are made by hand.

The William Hintons, 522 S. Dryden, had as their weekend guests, the latter's brother and family, the Ray Chamberlins of South Bend, and their young son, Dennis.

Ted Skiermanski, 126 S. Burton, and his brother, Henry Skiermanski of Chicago, spent the past week on a fishing vacation in Woodruff, Wis. (A

In the next 60 days over 25,000 Chicagoland people will buy dryers—most will be flameless electric. Read why you should buy electric. Right now—and for a limited time only—Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Company, in cooperation with your dealer, offers you a chance to save as much as $60 on any new flameless electric dryer. (A cash bonus of $20 from Commonwealth Edison, plus up to $40 that you normally save when you buy an electric dryer instead of gas.) For the average family, this equals about 3 years of free drying!

And electricity is simplicity. Because there are few moving parts, electric dryers cost less to maintain. And with no pilot light, your dryer costs nothing when not in use. Clothes dried electrically also come out fresher and cleaner because there are no fumes, flames, or products of combustion to mix with them. What's more, nothing dries clothes faster than today's electric dryers. (Only 26 to 30 minutes for a full load.)

See your dealer now for details. Satisfaction on any flameless electric dryer is guaranteed, of course.

CHRISTMAS IN OCTOBER at Busse Buick, Mount Prospect, is the way this enterprising dealer decided to introduce the 1964 models in his community. Christmas decorations hang from the ceilings, Yule-tide displays fill the corners and even the sidewalks in front and the ramps within the shop are painted candy-striped. In this picture, proud Wilbert Busse, president, who originated idea, is shown with new Buick painted in candy stick fashion for the occasion. (B9

Rep. Rumsfeld Makes Report

Tax cut passes House, U.S. "students"/beatniks — back from Communist-financed trip to Cuba — riot in House Committee room, military pay increase passes, convicted dope peddler Joe Valachi "singing" in Senate Committee, limited nuclear test ban ratified by Senate, House Science Committee debates sizes of wood round stave baskets, U.S. considers buying Chicago Skyway — It has been an incredible month.

CIVIL RIGHTS LEGISLATION: Last week I supported, and the House approved, a Senate passed bill to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission to Sept. 30, 1964. The vote was 265 to 80 with 129 Republicans and 136 Democrats in support and 9 Republicans and 71 Democrats in opposition.

Major Civil Rights legislation is still being considered in Committee and will not reach the Floor for amendment and vote until next month. Certainly, the legislative crisis with respect to Civil Rights is to a great degree of the Administration's making by its failure to encourage action on bills introduced in January and ignoring the issue until violence forced its hand.

Word now is that in the haste to correct this negligence, the draftsmenship on the House subcommittee bill leaves much to be desired and could result in serious errors. Hopefully, calmer minds will improve the language during consideration by the full Committee.

HOUSE PASSES TAX CUT — ADMINISTRATION STYLE: The $11.1 billion tax reduction for individuals and corporations passed by a vote of 271-155. I voted no. Prior to passage, the House rejected by a 199-226 vote, and I supported, an attempt to make the tax cuts contingent on reduced Federal spending in the following 18 months.

The 304-page tax bill came to the floor under a "gag rule," which I opposed because it prohibited amendments except one in the form of a motion to recommit. Do you know anyone who is opposed to a tax cut? I don't.

The major point of discussion was simply whether there should be an accompanying reduction of federal expenditures. The only justification for opposition to a reduction in federal expenditures to make a tax cut responsible must be a conviction that we can spend ourselves rich, i.e., the "Heller theory" that the bigger the deficit the more prosperous we will be.

To those who believe this, I can only say I disagree. I support the need for a tax cut but feel reductions in federal spending are vital.

Some proponents of the tax cut feel that the decrease in revenue will force a reduction in Federal spending. I hope they are right, but past experience indicates that this will not be the case. Deficits the last three years alone have totaled $20 billion. The weakness of this argument became clear when, on the day of the debate, the President was "on the hustings" calling for greater expenditures in the fields of public works and conservation.

It is interesting to note, also, that hearings on additional accelerated public works funds, originally scheduled for some weeks ago, were postponed because of the effect they would have upon the passage of the tax bill. The best guess is that as soon as the tax bill becomes law, these hearings for almost $2 billion of additional pump priming funds for public works will be rescheduled.

MILITARY PAY BILL APPROVAL: I supported the Conference Report on military pay increases which passed 333-5, providing needed pay increases averaging 14.4 per cent to those Servicemen with over two years service. Conferees rejected the House version providing for recomputations of present retirees' pay on the basis of new pay rates.

FALLOUT SHELTER CONSTRUCTION: Authorizing $190.6 million in fiscal 1964 for an expanded civil defense program, the bill provided $175 million in grants for construction of shelters in institutions such as schools and hospitals and in state and local government structures, and $15.6 million for shelters in all federal buildings. The bill, limiting the program to one year, passed by a voice vote. I supported an amendment to recommit the bill to committee, cutting the $175 million in grants.

CHICAGO (CALUMET) SKYWAY BONDS: When bond buyers purchased Chicago Skyway bonds, they selected them in competition with other issues knowing they were not general obligation bonds of the State of Illinois — and certainly not backed by the U.S. Government. Had either been the case, interest on the bonds would have been considerably less. But when the bonds "soured" for lack of revenue, "caveat emptor" went out the window and Chicago came to Washington, D. C. and said "bail us out" by buying the Skyway.

The House Committee on Public Works held hearings and reported out H.R. 6289 on a straight party line vote agreeing to do just that. If a rule is granted, the House will vote on whether or not the U.S. Government should buy the Chicago Skyway for $63,838,000.

Passage of this bill would be a bad precedent — opening up Pandora's box for piecemeal Federal reimbursement to the states of up to $4.37 billion. Already Michigan representatives are suggesting similar treatment of the bridge at Mackinac. Furthermore, the amount to be paid exceeds the market value of the bonds, which could lead to a windfall for either Chicago or the bondholders.

In plain language, it is a federal handout to reimburse Chicago and/or the bondholders, for what has turned out to be a poor investment. (B9

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Friday was moving day for John and Elenore Whipple, who along with their children, Gayle, Joanne and John, left for their new home in New Jersey. John, a sales manager for Brule Incinerator, was transferred to the New England area. The Whipples left Arlington Heights Friday evening; they stopped in De Kalb to see their daughter, Judyth, who is attending Northern Illinois University, before continuing on to Westfield, N. J., to their newly purchased home at 419 E. Dudley. The Terrace bids farewell to the Whipple family who had resided at 1418 N. Race for eight years.

A farewell coffee was given Friday for Dolores Bracht who will soon be moving to California. Hostesses were Vanetta Kellogg and Jo Anne Herndon; the coffee was held at the Kellogg residence, 1341 N. Wilke. Attending were Jean Stevens, Lena Duss, Ruth Rallefson, Ann Redding, Kay Platte, Bonnie Misch and Rosemary Shellander.

Celebrating her fourth birthday on Oct. 12 was Laura Zaucha, daughter of the Frank Zauchas, 1409 N. Race. A group of Laura's friends enjoyed an afternoon of games followed by a party centered around a Mickey Mouse theme. Partygoers were Cheryl Vonderheide, Dawn Olson, Tina and Debbie Wiley, Jack and Jim Kelley, Judy and Jenny Lindholm, Kathy, Mary and Teresa Mullally and Laura's sister, Kathleen.

A SECOND party was given for Laura on Sunday. Relatives attending were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fortney of Mount Prospect and Laura Zaucha of Chicago, her uncle who is also her godfather, Donald Fortney and Mrs. Fortney of Villa Park, and members of Laura's family. A merry-go-round birthday cake was served.

Four Terrace couples enjoyed a winter of bowling last year and made plans for a dinner at the end of the season. The dinner was postponed until last Saturday, when the couples met at the home of Andrew and La Rue Reed, 1328 N. Yale, for a steak fry. Included were the Leslie Bangs, Frank Pirchers and the John Fairfields.

Fritz Bredenbeck, 4 on Sunday, celebrated on Saturday with Cathy and Mike Galloway, Jimmy, Kathy and Allan Freeman and Robyn Nelson. After the children's party, his parents, the Hugh Bredenbecks, 1706 W. Oakton, enertained the Jesse Galloways, Bob Freemans, Robert Nelsons and the Robert Youngs.

NEWCOMERS TO the Terrace are William and Freya Jones who moved from Chicago to 1227 N. Illinois on Sept. 29. They have two children - Mara, 6, and Matthew, 2. William is manager of Chandler's Women's Shoes in Evanston. Both William and Freya are interested in music; William was formerly a professional musician and played the French horn. Bridge is another of their hobbies. The Joneses plan to affiliate with the Methodist Church.

Dan Kennedy, son of the Donald Kennedys, 1425 N. Chicago, celebrated his fifth birthday Sunday; Dan was 5 Oct. 14. Helping him celebrate were Darlene Donath, Susan and Michael Flesch, Susan Brown, Rowlie Busch and Dan's sister, Shelley.

Steve Bracht, son of the Phil Brachts, 1337 N. Wilke, celebrated his fifth birthday early. His Oct. 16 date was celebrated last Thursday with his brother, Bill, and his friend, Wayne Herndon.

Spending the weekend in Rensselaer, Ind., were Al and Rosemary Shellander and their son, Tom, 1716 W. Olive. They visited Al's sister and family, the Hugh P. Cowdins. They also toured St. Joseph College, where Hugh is an instructor in the journalism department.

THE TERRACE bids farewell to Bill and Pat Catsakis and their sons, Fred and Daniel, who moved this week from 1232 N. Race to their new home in Forest Estates at 1653 Garden St. The Catsakises lived in the Terrace nine years.

Bob Ninneman, son of the William Ninnemans, 1212 N. Chicago, 7 Oct. 10, celebrated after school, when he, his sisters and his mother went to Park Ridge, where his aunt, Mrs. E. F. Frisch, had a party for him. Bob's cousins also attended the party. After returning home, the Ninneman family went out to dinner to celebrate the birthday again.

Saturday Dean and Virginia Arnold, 1410 N. Race, attended a dinner-dance at the American Furniture Mart Club in Chicago, hosted by the president of the Housewares Club of Chicago. Virginia was fortunate in being awarded a pin from Bonwit-Teller.

Margay Wilmot, 1240 N. Race, was hostess at a luncheon given for a former Terrace resident on Thursday. The guest of honor was Lili di Talma from New York who formerly lived in the Terrace with relatives, Lt. Col. Gordon and Mrs. Riefstahl. Attending the luncheon were Lili di Talma, Gianna Riefstahl, Mrs. Dora Ballard (a visitor in the Terrace), and June Hacker.

ON FRIDAY, Michael and Adele Yore and their children, Sheila, Patricia, Michael, Dan and Diane, moved from 1260 N. Illinois to their new home at 416 W. Willow. They had been Terrace residents for nine years.

Celebrating her 13th birthday Friday was Joyce Sadowski, daughter of the Arthur Sadowskis, 1119 Wilke. Joyce and four friends went out to dinner Saturday at the Milk Pail in Dundee and then to Joyce's home for birthday cake. Helping her celebrate were Pat Collins, Nancy Nitch, Joan Carlson and Jean Draguesku.

A two-week vacation in Mexico was taken recently by Edward and Carol Vogt, 1340 N. Yale.

On Oct. 10, John Pircher celebrated his third birthday. An afternoon party at the home of his parents, the Frank Pirchers, 1330 N. Illinois, was attended by Jean Charleston, Mary Murphy, Bob Cates and Paul Sorensen. A circus motif was carried out in the decorations and cake. That evening John's grandmothers, Mrs. Rose Lay and Mrs. Connie Chichester, both of Chicago, joined John, his parents, and his brothers, Frank, Steve and Mike, for a birthday dinner.

The Terrace welcomes John and Elaine Miller, who with their sons, Steve, 2, and Jimmy, 1, moved to 1265 N. Race on Oct. 1 from Carpentersville. John is assistant manager of Beverly Lanes, so it is quite natural that bowling is one of his hobbies. The Millers will attend St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church.

Les and Jo Rozdalovsky and daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, 1321 N. Race, spent the weekend in Milwaukee visiting Jo's parents, the Joseph La Prestis. Jo's mother had been in the hospital and is now recuperating from her illness at the La Presti home.

THE TERRACE bids farewell to William and Regina Heise and sons, Gordon and Wayne, who recently moved from 1222 N. Yale to 628 S. Walnut. They were Terrace residents for six years. A farewell dinner was given for William and Regina by the Robert Andersons and the Bill Borlands. It was a steak dinner at the Anderson home, 1234 N. Yale.

Going out to dinner and the movies is a treat in store for Mike Moser and a group of his friends on Saturday. Mike, son of the Charles Mosers, 1418 N. Illinois, was 10 on Oct. 14. The party goers will eat at Mike's father's restaurant—Jerry's Restaurant—and then go to a movie. Attending the party will be Terry, Larry and Jimmy Herlihy, Eddie Leister, Steve Balow, Charles Lange, Mark Leonhard and Mike's brother, Chuck.

Hal and Marguerite Cates, 1334 N. Yale, spent an evening in Chicago last weekend. They attended the play, "A Man for All Seasons" at the Blackstone Theatre.

Last Tuesday Bob and Ellie Freeman and children, Jimmy, Kathy and Allan, moved from 1107 N. Wilke to 2309 Kirchoff in Rolling Meadows. They had lived on Wilke Road for a year and a half. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

The Donald Larsen family, 437 S. Prindle, have returned from a six week trip to Europe, where they visited, among other countries, Italy and Yugoslavia, where Mrs. Larsen has relatives. The two Larsen children accompanied their parents on the trip. The travelers arrived home in time for Mark to celebrate his seventh birthday Sept. 20 with a trip to Santa's Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Farina, 421 S. Forrest, with their son, Gary, helped their older son, Larry, celebrate his 20th birthday Saturday at dinner at Simonini's in Algonquin. Sunday the parents hosted a birthday dinner for Larry at which guests were his grandmother, Mrs. Joe Farina of Griffith, Ind., and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

IN HONOR OF her sixth birthday Oct. 14, Cathy Hanson was feted at a party Saturday afternoon. After refreshments, games of "Musical Chairs" and "Doggie, Doggie, Where's Your Bone?" were played by Mike Finley, Mark Larsen, Julie Dombrow, Julie Moller, Beth Ann Briscoe and Mark Hermanson.

Cathy, daughter of the Robert Hansons, 429 S. Prindle, was especially honored by the presence of her grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Love of Geneseo, whose weekend visit was timed to coincide with Cathy's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Loch, 2124 E. Park, and five of their sons sat around the festive table at dinnertime on Friday to wish a happy birthday to 6-year-old Terry, and to share his birthday cake and ice cream. The only daughter of the family, 3-month-old Mary Kelly, was too young to participate.

AS A FATHER of two Alpha Gams at Northwestern University, Frank Marshall, 432 S. Forrest, was a guest of that sorority for Fathers' Weekend. Friday evening the dads enjoyed entertainment and refreshments at the sorority house and after brunch there Saturday, attended the Northwestern - Minnesota football game, Mr. Marshall as a guest of his daughters, Susan and Margaret.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Busby, 408 S. Waterman, on their eighth wedding anniversary Oct. 9. Celebration of the event was overshadowed by the celebration of the seventh birthday of Arthur Jr., which was marked by a luncheon party followed by birthday games on Saturday. Guests were Gary Nye, Duane Bingel, scott Creamer and Jim Coyle.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Christiansen, 428 S. Waterman, received the congratulations of their friends on their 16th wedding anniversary Oct. 11. They celebrated quietly by attending a show.

While his neighbors were enjoying summer temperatures, L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, was witnessing the first snowfall of the season - at Lake Placid, N.Y., where he was attending a convention of the paper trade. Another convention took him to New York City for several days before his return home Wednesday.

The Hubert Mertes family, 529 S. Phelps, celebrated the second birthday of their daughter, Julianne, on Monday. (A

Arlington Greens

Women's bridge, sponsored by the Arlington Greens Community Association, was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tomaso last Thursday evening. Top three scorers were Mary McShane, 4080; Jean Waffle, 3830; and Betty Johnson, 3180. Muriel Lett was guest player at the October meeting of the group.

Recent guest in the E. Clarendon home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sims was Subash Batra of New Delhi, India, friend of their son, Keith. The young men are graduate students of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y. They were on a week's holiday from classes.

Thursday was moving day for the Thomas Barrett family to their new home in Minneapolis. Residents at 1154 N. Hickory for the past two years, the family returned to their former home town.

Kathy Krewer celebrated her seventh birthday in her N. Beverly Lane home last Wednesday. Guests at her after-school party were Mimi Salby, Ann Weaver, Susan Parkin, Sheryl Harrison, Susan Waffle and her brothers.

ANOTHER 7-year-old birthday celebrant last week was Linda Even of N. Beverly Lane. Attending her after-school party on Tuesday were Jeane Coleman, Billy and Jimmy Heffernan, Carol Dargatz, Sandra Morrison and her brother, Paul. On the Saturday before, a dinner party also observed the occasion. Among the 10 guests were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Mendonca of Des Plaines and Mrs. Cecelia Even of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mensch of E. Oakton hosted a dinner party on Sunday, observing the 81st birthday of Grandmother Elizabeth Mensch of Chicago. Sons, daughters and their families from Chicago and the suburbs gathered to observe the occasion.

Houseguests in the Len Brune home on N. Dryden last weekend were his sisters and spouses, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus McGuckin of Akron and the Darl Sweeneys of Barberton, Ohio. They arrived Saturday evening after attending the Notre Dame game at South Bend. Sunday evening they visited another sister, Mrs. Rose Pollpeter in Chicago, before returning east on Monday.

HOUSEGUESTS in the Dick Steffens home on N. Hickory are the junior David Hansons and Mrs. David Hanson Sr. of Newburgh, N. Y. Grandparents and great-grandmother arrived on Sunday for a week's visit and to get acquainted with the newest member of the family, Laurie Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steffens of N. Hickory celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary Saturday evening. Joining them for dinner out to observe the anniversary were Jim and Carol LaBelle of Kenosha.

Linda Jean, infant duaghter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snell, was christened Sunday in the family home on N. Douglas by the Rev. John P. Petersen of Our Saviour Lutheran Church. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. John Alm of Escanaba, Mich. Guests at the buffet supper marking the occasion also included the senior John Alms of Escanaba and the Joel Finsmans of New Berlin, Wis. Sunday evening ended the three-day visit for the out-of-towners.

HICKORY MEADOWS

The quarterly meeting of the Hickory Meadows Civic Association was held at Olive School the evening of Oct. 8. Guests for the evening were Eugene Schlickman and Mr. Hartman. Jack White was named social chairman and Ted Kries in charge of card groups by Pat Patterson, president of the organization.

Weekend guest in the Will Caron home on E. Thomas on Oct. 5 was Miss Gail Godfrey, roommate of Daune. The girls are first year students at Illinois School of Nursing in Chicago.

New residents in Hickory Meadows are Thomas and Louise Thornton, at 901 E. Talbot. Their children are Thomas Jr., 15, Christine, 9, and Jimmy, 4. The family moved to Arlington from the Palatine area in mid-August. Mr. Thornton is director of the Arlington Heights Park District.

More newcomers to the Meadows are Charles and Carol Lewis of 801 E. Thomas. They moved in Sept. 28 from Elmhurst, where they resided for the past year and a half. They are former residents of Chicago's south side. Both are employed by United Air Lines in Elk Grove Township. (A

Firm Announces Monthly Record

James H. Hall, president, and Garry F. Connell, Jr., executive vice president, of Inverness Security life Insurance Co. in Arlington Heights, have announced a record production for the company of more than $6,000,000 for the month of September.

Two new dimensions in economical gas heating for add-on rooms

1. Tall 'n thin—the reMARKable Siegler Mark III gas wall furnace (above). A new semi-central heating system. Twin blowers pour floor-level heat out the front and both sides. Easy-to-install duct-kits supply heat to adjoining rooms for even heat distribution. Trim, modern styling gives that built-in look . . . finished in two-tone baked enamel or luxurious, wood grain vinyl that looks and feels like fine furniture hardwoods.

2. Sweet 'n low—a new concept in modern, automatic gas heating comfort, the Siegler BASEBOARD heater (shown below) is a real problem solver. Only inches deep, it takes practically no usable floor space and blends well anywhere. Gives wide distribution of gentle warmth. Has its own thermostat; heats quickly.

No chimney needed. The Siegler Mark III and gas baseboard heaters are directly vented through any outside wall; have a sealed combustion chamber—no room air is used by the burner. Either unit is ideal for add-on rooms, closed-in porches, breezeways, recreation rooms, sleeping rooms and hard-to-heat areas. Each operates with typical gas economy—true comfort at savings you'll welcome, year after year.

Officials Still Evade Open Meeting Law

School Boards Worst Offenders

"There is no place for the secret meeting in a democracy."

So declared Roderic Duncan, deputy attorney general of California, in an address before attorneys at the 1962 annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

Duncan might have a hard time mustering a large body of support for this contention, according to a study made recently by news editors of Paddock Publications 14 suburban newspapers.

Although a "full, free flow of information" is an original and continuing principle of American democracy, there is often a breach between principle and practice.

There can be no free, accurate flow of information if meetings of public bodies are not public. Yet there are many instances of "executive," "closed," or "secret" meetings — despite a state law to the contrary — taking place in the northwest suburbs.

AN EXAMINATION of the "people's right to know" in the northwest area was made recently by Paddock Publications in anticipation of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 13-19, a time when such rights are traditionally reaffirmed.

It is paradoxical that the nation's standard bearers of democracy — public education and legal profession — often seem to lead the resistance against public meetings.

"Most courts are extremely unfriendly to the whole concept," said Duncan.

In northwest suburbs, however, it is rare for an attorney employed by an elective body to advise his clients that closed or private meetings are illegal. On occasion, the board may be advised by counsel that such "executive sessions" can be held at will.

This Is the Law

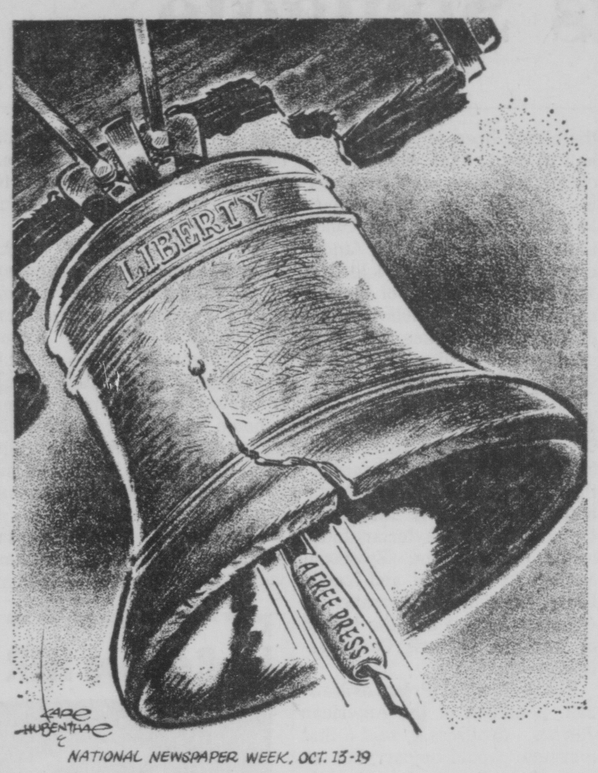
Illinois state law on open meetings of public bodies, passed July 11, 1957, is:

"It is the public policy of this state that the public commissions, boards and councils and the other public agencies in this state exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business. It is the intent of this act that their actions be taken openly and that their official deliberations be conducted openly.

"All official meetings at which any legal action is taken by the governing bodies of the state, counties, townships, cities, villages, incorporated towns, school districts, and all other municipal corporations, boards, bureaus or commissions of this state, which are supported in whole or in part by tax revenue, or which expend tax revenue, shall be public meetings, except for deliberations . . . where the acquisition or sale of property is being considered, provided that no other portion of such meeting shall be closed to the public . . .

"Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the governing body of any agency of government from holding executive sessions to consider information regarding employment or dismissal of an employe; provided, that no final action for employment or dismissal shall be taken at an executive session . . ."

Why It Rings True



The editors report that school boards most frequently violate the principle of open meetings. This conclusion is based upon experience reporting various public bodies in more than 20 northwest communities.

Executive sessions are a regular practice of most school boards in north DuPage County. The Mount Prospect school board holds such a session before each of its regular meetings.

According to the editorial study, it is not unusual for area school boards to interrupt regular meetings and adjourn to another room for a "closed" session. Frequently, citizens attending board meetings have been requested to remain in the hallway while board members stage a "private" conversation.

Reports of school superintendents to their school boards are usually regarded as classified material and unavailable to the public.

EDITORS FIND that school boards or superintendents often attempt to impose an unwritten rule that board members shall not issue public statements as individuals. Such a rule was recently suggested by members of the Schaumburg school board.

Citizen school caucus committees, organized to select candidates for board election, usually insist on interviewing prospective candidates behind closed doors.

Village governmental bodies—particularly zoning boards of appeals — often dodge public scrutiny by holding unannounced meetings. A similar practice is calling "committee meetings" without adequate public notice. In the northwest area, editors found Elk Grove and Buffalo Grove village boards and Palatine Zoning Board of Appeals as examples of this procedure. Similar reports have come from Mount Prospect.

Although Elk Grove's village officials regularly meet behind closed doors, the school board has been exemplary in conducting its affairs in public view, the survey revealed.

Village bodies in Arlington Heights have also conducted their activities squarely in the public spotlight. They have done much to encourage and facilitate public interest and awareness in municipal problems. The village government has been a leader in disseminating information such as minutes of meetings, advance agendas, and special reports.

Over-all, the editors found Wheeling to be the most progressive community in opening its governmental doors to the public. This practice has come about in the last years, when the village board instituted a formal policy that all committees and commissions must post meeting notices on the village hall bulletin board at least 24 hours in advance.

Opponents of this policy argued that there would frequently be times when emergency sessions would have to be called; there has not been an 'emergency" in the past two years that required violating the policy.

THE WHEELING Plan Commission has also instituted an extensive distribution system for its minutes, reports, and communications received and sent. For a brief period, the commission kept tape recordings of its meetings on public file.

Wheeling school board has followed the example set by the village board. At the request of a citizen, it recently began distributing to the public bi-monthly reports of the superintendent to the school board.

Wheeling Zoning Board of Appeals has been headed in a similar direction, although there is still a difference of opinion among its members.

Also working to maintain a close liaison with the public is the Wheeling Park Board.

Once invited to a dinner session with a builder, the Wheeling Plan Commission replied that it meets at 8 p.m. every other Thursday, and anything the builder has to say to commission members could be said at that time.

Editors generally blame public apathy for the continued prevalence of closed meetings.

Private discussions are permitted by state law in two specific categories: hiring and firing of personnel, buying and selling of property.

These two exceptions have sometimes been abused by boards which claim that a closed meeting is being held to discuss one of the exempt topics but which then "digress" into other matters.

DESPITE THE problems which still remain before the people's right to know is fully realized, there has been progress achieved in recent years—nearly two centuries since the U. S. Constitution went into effect.

The battle for open government is just beginning, and much remains to be done at all levels of government. (A14

Government Decisions Made At Non-Meetings: Attorney

"Are meetings where the (municipal) council simply gathers for dinner and discussion of the agenda before the formal session something to be encouraged or to be prohibited?"

Roderic Duncan, deputy attorney general of California, posed this question in an address at the 1962 meeting of the American Bar Association. He then proceeded to call for a fight against closed meetings by public bodies.

Presentations at municipal plan commission hearings are frequently "only the window dressing," he said.

An experienced attorney would make his "chief points (to commission members) . . . long before the hearing date . . . at lunch, after work at the country club or . . . at the increasingly popular breakfast meeting," Duncan said.

SPEAKING as a former newspaper reporter and a long practicing attorney, Duncan stated, "I found that the real decisions are often made at the 'non-meeting.' Sometimes precautions are taken so that these decisions are not verbalized; they become simply implied agreements to agree. They are ratified at the regular meeting of the group, usually without much discussion."

"In my mind there is absolutely no doubt that every secret meeting is not only bad, but discussion.

"Public officials are only agents of the citizenry. They do not become some sort of royalty or superior class by their election. Their principals have an undeniable right to know all about every governmental act they take."

IN ORDER to make democracy work, the attorney contended before the bar association, "democracy must make it possible for him (the citizen) to find out, either personally or through his newspaper, what kind of a man he has chosen to make those decisions for him . . .

"Only by knowing the compromises, the balancing of interests, and all of the considerations that go into a decision, can the citizen truly evaluate his representative . . .

"Some will argue that as a practical matter, a free, honest exchange of opinions on a controversial issue is impossible with an audience looking on; that members may act unwisely rather than display their lack of knowledge before an audience; that compromises are nearly impossible in the presence of the public.

"Of course, there is substance to these points, but it would seem they are not directed toward the principle of open meetings, but to the very form of government we live under.

"There is no place for secret meeting in a democracy. There is no place for the public official who tells the public 'only what is good for them.'

"The secret meeting may promote efficiency in government, but efficiency in a democracy—however we may pray for it—must remain subject to the democratic process itself."

DUNCAN QUOTED from the preamble of the California state law essentially forbidding closed meetings:

"The people of this state do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them . . . The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

Citing statutes, he noted that New Jersey's law on the subject covers "every . . . group of two or more persons organized under the law of this state to perform a public governmental function by official action."

Best penalties for violations of such laws, Duncan said, are invalidation of the governmental action taken

About meetings held in private homes, he read from one court decision, "Anything which tends to 'cabin, crib or confine' the public . . . would be destructive" of its right to know and hear.

About actions agreed to in a secret or closed session, and later formally acted upon in open session, Duncan cited three court decisions which held that the action had already been illegally taken at a closed session. One court said, "the open meeting held was nothing more than a sham and . . . ought to be dealt with as if it had never occurred."

DUNCAN CALLED "secret meetings . . . the tool of the lazy or the inept public official."

Citing several court cases contrary to the principle he espoused, he further commented, "A principle one learns early in dealing with open meeting statutes is that most courts are extremely unfriendly to the whole concept."

There are 26 states with open meeting laws, Duncan said. But they are "relatively new and controversial. Ten years ago only one of the laws existed in its present form."

New Era for Ward's to Begin Nov. 7

Chain Begins Growth Move

by DON HEINE
Staff Writer

To many customers at Randhurst, Nov. 7 will mark the beginning of one-stop shopping.

But to Montgomery Ward the day will begin its entry into the Chicago area retail market.

The present Fair store at Randhurst will be converted into a full-line Ward store, using the Ward name. This store will be the first of 12 to 15 opened by Wards in the Chicago area in the next five years.

Even though Ward's was founded in Chicago 91 yaers ago and maintained its headquarters there, its Chicago area business has been transacted largely through catalogues rather than stores.

The retail expansion here in part of a country-wide push by Wards. In the past six years, Ward's has opened 72 stores in 24 states. In the next five yaers, approximately eight new stores are scheduled to be opened each year in major metropolitan markets of the United States.

A PREVIEW of forthcoming events at Randhurst was given last Thursday when Ward executives accompanied a group of Chicago and suburban newspapermen on a tour of new stores opened this fall on the outskirts of Washington, D.C.

These key Ward's men were eager to present a new look—of a progressive, expanding company, highly conscious of customer service.

Gone are the days when Ward's, under the management of Sewall Avery, checked its expansion because he feared a depression. Under Avery in the 1940s and early 1950s, Wards' sales volume slipped far behind Sears Roebuck.

While Wards would have to go a long way to regain its comparative ranking, it is making a heavy bid today for top management talent. In fact, a gathering of Ward's management men proved to be a good place for meeting a lot of former Sears employees.

Among the mare J. E. Nelson, who will be manager of the Randhurst Ward's store, coming Arbor, Mich., and Robert Daly, who switched to become manager of the newly-established Chicago metropolitan district.

2Exactly how fast Ward's will be able to expand will depend, according to company spokesmen, on the company's ability to hire or train men of top management ability. Men are seen as being far more important than buildings or capital in the company's future.

Annual net sales of $1,425,000,000 weer achieved by Ward's in the 52-week period which ended Jan. 30, 1963. That was an increase of $99 million over the previous year, or a gain of about seven per cent. About one-third of the sales volume came from catalogues. Forty-two per cent of the volume was on credit, a figure which Ward's expects to see expanded to 50 per cent.

BEHIND THE charts showing sales increases, lie changes in both merchandise and merchandising methods.

Martin C. Munger, Ward's retail merchandise manager, said the new display and layout plans increase the capacity of a store by 40 per cent. This means that the new Randhurst store, with 90,000 square feet of selling space, now will be equal to a store with 126,000 square feet with old type of counters and displays.

An example of the display was seen in a rack of men's underwear in the store at Landover, Md. Forty-eight dozen pair were displayed on a single rack, which reached from near the floor to a height of about 48 inches. Yet the desired size could be quickly singled out.

This same space usde for the former type of counter would have held three or four dozen pair.

Another innovation at Randhurst will be cashier wrapping service. Cashiers are located at stations throughout the store. The idea is to eliminate long waits for customers. Now a shopper can pick up an item in any department, carry it to any cashier, pay for it and get it wrapped.

One way in which Randhurst is different from most new Ward stores is that it is on three floors. The others generally are on one floor.

Ed Donnell, a company vice president, said the one floor lay-out is favored because all merchandise, the profitable items as well as the bait, can have a high exposure to shoppers.

Donnell said metropolitan expansion is being based on the cluster idea, having a number of stores to share in the expenses of warehousing and advertising costs.

RANDHURST WAS selected as the ideal starting point for the Chicago area push. Asked why, the Ward's men said the northwest suburban area is composed largely of young families at a relatively high income level. Then too, the steadiest customers are home owners rather than apartment dwellers. Once an apartment is filled, the occupant is limited in what he needs, but the average suburbanite needs an unending supply of items for his yard, house, garage, workshop or outdoor life.

With the opening of the new store, Randhurst will become more of a one-stop shopping center than ever before. No longer will it be necessary to drive some place else if you want a package of nails, a shrub, equipment for a boat, or numerous other Ward items.

Randhurst, when it opened last year, was considered an oddity among shopping centers, in that it was operated by three major retail houses—the Fair, Wieboldt's and Carson, Pirie Scott—all having parallel goods in a similar price range.

At one time, plans called for the Fair store to be opened as a Ward's outlet, but that was delayed until now. The automobile service center, however, has been a Ward's facility from the beginning.

Conversion of all Fair stores has been planned since Ward's purchased the chain six years ago.

MANAGER J. E. NELSON (r.) of the new Montgomery Ward store at Randhurst discusses expanded merchandizing program with Donald Heine, a Paddock Publications staff writer, on a visit to a new Ward store at Landover Hills, Maryland. They were members of a party which also visited a new Wards store at Falls Church, Virginia. Both stores, in suburban Washington, D.C., are similar to those to be developed in the Chicago area. (A14

Northbrook Project Concerns Hospital Council Director

by HELENE BRISTOL

A controversial proposal to build a hospital in Northbrook was a main topic of discussion last week at the Hospital Council for Metropolitan Chicago.

Sponsors of the hospital have won a court appeal against Northbrook's refusal to grant a special permit for the hospital under the village zoning law. The village is appealing.

The court decision voiced concern with the hospital sponsors' rights under a free enterprise system.

Dr. Karl Klicka, executive director of the hospital planning council, has called to proposed institution a "pseudo-voluntary" hospital, using a "gimmick" by which "a hospital operation that is in fact proprietary (profit making) is made to appear as if it were voluntary and non-profit."

DR. KLICKA said the rise in hospital operating and building costs calls for opposition to unnecessary or improperly sponsored hospital building plans.

"Hospitals have a 'limited marked,'" he said, "and if the 'market' is split, thereby lowering occupancy in hospitals, the rates that patients must pay in meeting hospital costs must increase. Hospitals should exist only to fulfill a need."

Dr. Klicka also said, "Unless our free enterprise concept can be reconciled with some public interest guidance in the construction of hospital facilities, our hospital system could find itself suddenly weakened and ultimately controlled by the federal government . . . Compulsory health insurance and government domination of hospitals is the accepted practice of operating hospital systems everywhere except in the United States of America."

He said that community hospital planning will succeed on a voluntary basis only if the controls the community planning agency imposes are voluntarily accepted by the non-profit and proprietary groups alike.

Dr. Klicka said the strength of voluntary non-profit hospitals is found in their corporate structure which places ownership and responsibility for the operation of these hospitals in boards of trustees composed of members of religious orders or of civic leaders representing the interests of the community.

HE STRESSED that the free enterprise system has encouraged the development of this type of control of hospitals. The majority of general hospital care is provided by voluntary non-profit hospitals.

During the first five years of the Hospital Planning Council operation 82 programs for expansion, contraction or relocation of existing hospitals have been reviewed. Only a few proceeded with construction in disregard of the council's recommendations. The other programs proceeded after a careful review and endorsement by the council, or the programs were abandoned or postponed in accordance with the council's recommendations.

In the same five-year period the council reviewed 89 proposals for the establishment of new hospitals. Only nine of the proposals were endorsed on the basis of a demonstrated need for them — the remaining 80 were not endorsed because a lack of demonstrated need or for other reasons.

Seventy per cent of the proposals were for construction of profit-making hospitals.

THE NEEDS in each instance were already adequately met by hospitals within the area, or there were plans already under way for existing hospitals to expand or other groups were already under way with construction of new hospital facilities.

Of the 89 new-hospital proposals, 25 came from voluntary non-profit hospitals. From this group came the nine endorsements. "By selecting p ments.

"By selecting patients carefully and limiting services, it is possible to make a tidy profit in the hospital business," Dr. Klicka has said, stressing that "this type of operation (proprietary) runs counter the community's long range interest."

"25 YEARS OF TOGETHERNESS - AND NOW I FIND OUT SHE'S A POOR LOSER!"

Randhurst Plans Second Auto Show

The second annual auto show is scheduled for Oct. 24 through Oct. 27 at the Randhurst Shopping Center.

The show, the first Chicagoland show of the 1964 model autos, is sponsored by Randhurst and the North Cook County Automobile Dealers Association.

The cars, which will include all of those manufactured by United States manufacturers except one, will be viewed by the public on the center's mall from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday and from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

THE SHOW WILL consist of domestic autos only and will be restricted to passenger cars.

Randhurst officials said only one auto has not been lined up for the show as yet, but said they hope to have that one included also.

The large number of autos to be displayed will not interfere with shoppers, according to center officials. (RH

Tattling Machines Silenced

LA PORTE, IND., (UPI) — The tattle-tale voting machines of La Porte County, which couldn't keep a secret in the last election, will be back on the job in the Nov. 3 elections — with their lips sealed.

The machines were removed from election booths last year when it was discovered they clicked three times for a Democratic vote and six times for a Republican.

The clicks could be heard about 50 feet from the machines, which have now been "revised" by the manufacturer. (A-14

The Human Relations Beat

Clergymen's Voices Heard In Civil Rights Struggle

by SHERWOOD ROSS

The church has been caught in a withering crossfire in the civil rights battle.

Clergymen have been chided for "not doing enough" by integration leaders while reationary groups like some of our south side property owners have been busy heating buckets of pitch and brimstone for ministers who backed open occupancy.

The increasing effectiveness of the clergy in the fight for equal opportunities for Negroes can be measured by the strident voices of their critics. One West Coast congressman, whose name we had never associated with any worthy act, made headlines by asserting he could spot "a lot of phony ministers" in the Aug. 28 March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom. Asked how he could sniff out such men in a crowd of 250,000 people, he replied that his father was a minister.

ROSS

History may not dignify this congressman with anything but ridicule, but it cannot ignore that this obvious anti-freedom fighter, like so many others, was feeling the ecclesiastical heat.

Never has the clergy been so active in behalf of civil rights. Hundreds of clergymen each day are joining appeals from their superiors for improving the conditions in which 20,000,000 American Negroes are forced to live. The National Council of Churches, the Roman Catholic Bishops of the United States and numerous other bodies have taken strong stands.

Supporting the Aug. 28 march with delegations of their own were the Lutheran Human Relations Association of America, the Interracial Council of Methodists, the Catholic Interracial Council, the Presbyterian Interracial Council, the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity, the Church Federation of Greater Chicago and the United of America Hebrew Congregation.

Rabbi Joachim Prinz, of Newark, president of the American Jewish Congress, said that marchers would be carrying out a "mitzvah" or good deed, in keeping with the highest ideals of Judaism.

The Catholic bishops, who convened here in early August, prepared a pastoral letter declaring, "the conscience of the nation is on trial" and urged Catholics to do all they could to make equal rights in voting, housing and jobs "freely available" to every American.

Matthew Ahmann, executive director of the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice, recently blasted the cult of property rights whose apostles are crying for a referendum on open occupancy. "Human rights cannot be made a matter of popular will," he declared. "Human rights are given by God to man" and these rights, such as freedom of residence, ought not be restricted by racist laws.

He added, "The realtors and mortgage men now decide the general pattern of movement of Negroes in our communities. The goal for Christian social action should be the freedom that will ultimately bring substantial racial mixture in all neighborhoods. We need a parish program to encourage Negro families in the ghetto to look for housing in the suburb. . .just as we provide these services to Cuban and Hungarian refugees."

The open occupancy fight here was aided by clergymen of all faiths, who gave telling testimony before the City Council. The Rev. Paul S. Kyger Jr., Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, said: "It is morally wrong to prevent anyone from buying a home which he can afford in a community in which he wishes to dwell solely because of his race, color, creed or national origin."

The Rev. L. W. Halvorson, secretary for human relations with the National Lutheran Council, said his denomination has adopted several resolutions favoring freedom of residence. Maynord I. Wishner, chairman of the Chicago Chapter of the American Jewish Committee, said "segregated housing practices affect the general welfare, security, health and living standards of the nation" and added that it demoralizes people inside slums and damages "the emotional wellbeing of the prejudiced individual" living outside of them.

Also, the Urban League's interracial and interfaith Council of Religious Leaders, issued a statement noting, "No one can live fully the precepts of his religion in a segregated community. Only in a truly integrated community which includes all men, can the value of love be practiced. Love bounded by limits shutting out some men because of their color or creed is not the love taught by our religions." (A14

Jaycees To Extend Membership

Two Palatine men are co-chairmen of a newly - formed committee of the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and Industry whose job is to increase Jaycee membership in communities outside Chicago city limits.

They are Gaylor Jones and Paul Marx, both employed by Pure Oil Company, 200 E. Golf Road, Palatine.

According to Jones, a charter may be granted to any group of 25 men between the ages of 21 and 35 who profess a genuine interest to engage in civic activities. The extension plan applies only to communities which do not have a junior chamber, he said.

Persons interested are asked to contact either Jones or Marx at their offices in Palatine. (A14

INSIDE RANDHURST

Bargain Fest Begins Today

By BETTY ROGERS

Did you miss Not seeing the "Inside Randhurst" column last week? I know I did. I always look forward to reading Barbara Davis' column every Thursday, and when it didn't appear I had to ask her why. Since she told me, I'd like to pass it along to you.

"PICTURES, PAINTINGS, SCULPTURE, ARTISTS, OILS, WATERCOLORS, CORRESPONDENCE" . . . that's what she said.

What she meant was, the Randhurst second annual art fair was a great success thanks to the fine array of art works shown, and the scores of art lovers who came to look, appreciate, and in many cases buy. But a successful art fair just doesn't "Happen." It takes a lot of work on the part of many people, and one of the people who did much is Barbara Davis. So, "thank you, Barbara." I enjoyed the art fair, as did so many others; we'll be looking forward to next year.

Did you go to see the fire fighting demonstration last Saturday? As a grand climax to a week dedicated to fire prevention, the Mount Prospect Fire Department demonstrated the fire fighting procedure taken when an automobile is ablaze. An old car, towed to the Randhurst parking lot, was the "star" of the demonstration. Fire Prevention Week began Oct. 6, with a program at Lions Park when Chief Haberkamp of Mt. Prospect presented awards to all of the school children whose fire prevention posters had been selected as winners in the poster contest sponsored by the fire department in cooperation with the Randhurst Corporation.

Today is the beginning of a big sales event out at Randhurst. You should have received the "Harvest of Values" Shopping Guide in your mailbox the other day. I've been looking through it for something special to go with my new hat. What a hat! I love it. Now if I can get people to stop asking "Where's your horse?," I'll have my problem licked.

As you might be able to tell, it's a high black bowler and what a conversation piece! The trick to wearing this hat is to never, NO NEVER, ask anyone, "How do you like my hat?" . . . They might tell you, and sometimes it's better not to know. I learned the hard way, but I still like my hat. I found it just the thing to wear while having "Fish and Chips," the Friday special served at Carson's Pancake Branch. I'm not one who orders fish too often but last Friday I had it twice. It was so very good, and reasonably priced. It's even served in a newspaper lined basket, so that if you have to eat and run, you can do like the "Londoners" do and just clench the paper in your hand and away you go. If this is a "bit much" for you, you can sit and have a leisurely meal and even use silverware if you wish, but I like to use my fingers—it's so British you know, and after all, I do have on my Bowler.

With my new hat on I find it difficult to feel really well dressed when I have to drive our old Chevvy. Somehow it loses something in the transportation. But I'm saved! While I was busy looking at all the bargains advertised in the "Harvest of Values," and clipping coupons like crazy (are you a coupon clipper?), I saw the announcement of Ranhurst's second annual auto show. Do you suppose I can convince friend husband that my hat would look great if I traveled around in a new '64 model car? They'll soon be on the Mall again. The Auto Show starts Thursday, Oct. 24, thru Sunday, Oct. 27.

This is the time when the male member of the family doesn't care how long it takes Mother to "just LOOK at some material for the kitchen curtains." He'll look at the cars with mother and the kids the first time around, but what he's really looking forward to is being able to go over each model unhurriedly, taking his time, opening and closing the doors, feeling the wheel, and dreaming his pleasant daydreams. Who wants to look at kitchen curtain material anyway?

I'll never forget the first time I saw the maintenance crew open the doors for the cars to get onto the Mall. It's quite an operation. The large entrance doors at the end of one of the arcades have to be completely dismantled. The first time around it took quite awhile, but Mr. Carmichael and his efficient men have mastered this great project until they now have it done in short order.

So, fellows, get the doors ready. The cars are coming in and I'll be there to see them. Hope I see you there, too!

Robert Hall Opens New Hoffman Store

The new Robert Hall Clothing Store near Roselle and Golf Roads, Hoffman Estates, celebrates its grand opening today (Thursday).

The store is the newest for the firm which claims to be "America's largest family clothing chain."

The store brings to a total of 27 the Robert Hall outlets in Chicago and the surrounding area. According to company officials, all the stores will join in a "savings celebration" lasting through Sunday.

REGULAR HOURS are 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Those attending opening day festivities today will be eligible for several free gifts.

Double orchids will be presented to the first 1,000 women to enter the store. Children, accompanied by adults, will receive pencil box ruler, coloring books and balloons.

PICTURED IS THE new Robert Hall store near the Golf-Rose Shopping Center in Hoffman Estates. The store is located west of the Roselle Road on Golf Road and opened for business this week. The establishment is known as a family clothing store.

GIFT CERTIFICATES will be awarded every hour from noon until 9:30 p.m. today, at the new store.

The beginning of the stores came in 1941 in Waterbury, Conn., and the company has grown with marked phenomenal speed into a coast-to-coast chain. Robert Hall was the first family retail clothing chain to open salesrooms on the main highways across the nation.

Priest Reads Granddaughter's Wedding Vows

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — A Catholic priest read the mass and wedding vows of his granddaughter Saturday.

The Rev. Fidelis Collentine, O.S.B., of Collegeville, Minn., was a former Milwaukee physician and widower with three children. He gave up his practice and took the priestly vows of poverty, chastity and obedience.

The marriage will unite Miss Mary Therese Collentine, one of Father Collentine's 18 grandchildren, and Bryan Brooks, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (A14

ROSELLE JEWELRY STORE

Fine Diamonds - Custom Jewelry Clocks Silverware Expert Watch and Clock Repairing

Did you know that we have the good fortune of having a jewelry store operating in the Old Tradition, located right here in this area. Jewelers who are not only fine craftsmen, but artists . . . the Roselle Jewelry Store, located at 13 E. Irving Park Road (Rt. 19) in Roselle.

At the time they were first beginning to record history in Mesopotamia and Egypt, in the Tigris - Euphrates Valley, the wellspring of civilization, the makers of jewelry where already accomplished artists.

Jewelry making is actually one of our earliest art forms. As far back as prehistoric times primitive people were making decorations of Ivory, Bone and Shell. After they learned to work metal they created lovely designs in Gold, Copper, Silver and Bronze, using the natural forms of animals and plants.

A new interest in jewelry making came with the opening of the Renaissance. Many sculptors were also goldsmiths who designed their fine jewelry as well as gold objects of art.

As trade expanded and wealth increased, the costumes of the day became richer and more elegant. Jewelry of great magnificence was worn by men as well as women.

The rules of fashion for wearing jewelry have changed frequently. But today, as then, the wearing of jewelry is a symbol of rank, wealth and prestige.

We urge you to stop in and see the display at Roselle Jewelry Store . . . Jewelers who take pride in pleasing YOU . . .

ABILITY GLASS & MIRROR CO.

Mirrors - Tops - Plate & Window Glass Auto Glass Installed While You Wait Free Estimates - Pick Up - Delivery

Ability Glass & Mirror Co., 25 S. Northwest Highway in Palatine, are specialists in furnishing a large assortment of Glass for every purpose, including Mirrors for Doors, Walls and Mantels, Glass for Furniture Tops, Television Set Tops, etc., Plate and Window Glass and Auto Glass.

A complete service is offered on Picture Frames and Framing, Repairing Broken Glass for Storm Windows and Doors, Mirror Re-Silvering, etc. offering free estimates, pick-up and delivery service.

Glass is one of the most indispensable materials of which man makes use. Without glass most of us wouldn't know what we look like and some of us who are obliged to wear spectacles, wouldn't be able to see at all.

We all know how unpleasant it is to drive along a highway on a rainy evening when each passing car splashes water or mud on our windshield. We also know that even bugs which accumulate on the windshield can diffuse light rays of the headlights of oncoming vehicles and imperil our safety.

When we consider the unpleasant effects of these temporary and relatively minor windshield imperfections, we begin to realize the importance of the glass in our car.

Ability Glass & Mirror Co. are equipped to install new glass on all makes and models of cars or trucks. If a cracked windshield or window has been imperiling your vision and safety, and you've been putting off having it fixed, this would be a good time to go to Ability Glass & Mirror Co. and have it taken care of. This is the bad driving season coming up, and you ought to have your car in the best shape to get through it O'K' . . .

AND NOW! . . . Ability announces their FIRST ANNIVERSARY SPECIAL . . . A Special Sale of FULL LENGTH DOOR MIRRORS . . . AT TREMENDOUS DISCOUNTS . . .

9-Year-Old Boy Robs Bank of $1

ELDORADO, ILL., (UPI)—Local county and federal authorities have closed the books on a $1 "bank robbery" by a 9-year-old boy with a frontier-type cap pistol.

Authorities said the boy, wearing cowboy hat and boots, went into the C. P. Burnett & Sons Bank Friday and told Teller Mrs. Gladys Baker, who had her back turned, "This is a stickup. Give me your money."

Turning around, Mrs. Baker saw a pistol over the edge of the bank cage and the lad behind the gun. She asked him if he was joking.

"This is no joke. I'm not kidding," the youngster replied.

AUTHORITIES said Mrs. Baker feared that an adult might have accompanied the boy. She asked him how much money he wanted and he replied "a dollar."

With a dollar clutched in one hand and the toy pistol in the other, the boy headed for the door but was grabbed by a bank official.

Authorities said an investigation showed that the boy was subject to sudden illnesses and had been kept out of school Friday.

He had accompanied his mother to town and she had parked her car near the bank while doing some shopping.

Authorities said no charges were filed because of the boy's age and condition.

by Robert E. Hood, Assistant Farm Adviser

Compared with last year, farmers had put substantially less wheat under the price-support program through the first month of the new marketing year.

In Illinois, 1963-crop wheat put under support by the end of July totaled 845,337 bushels, of which 822,963 bushels were under warehouse-stored loans. This compares with 223,854 bushels of 1962-crop wheat put under the support program through July of last year.

For the country as a whole, 43.2 million bushels of 1963-crop wheat had been put under the support program through July 1963. This compares with 72.8 million bushels of 1962-crop wheat put under support through July 1962, and 130 million bushels of 1961-crop wheat put under support through July 1961.

This year's price-support program for grains under reseal loan has some important changes from last year's program which growers should keep in mind in managing their stocks.

One program change offers an incentive to growers to redeem their resealed grains. Growers who redeem their resealed grain before the end of the storage period will receive a storage payment comparatively higher than under last year's program, since the reseal storage period will start on the day following loan maturity.

In the case of deliveries to CCC, however, the reseal storage period will start 60 days after loan maturity, as was the case under the 1962 program.

The other important change is that the storage payments available on grain under resealed loans will cover only the period of storage. This means that, in all cases of redemption or delivery prior to maturity — including loans called early for the convenience of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the storage payment will be prorated, to cover only the period of storage. (Under previous programs, the full yearly storage payment was made on grain delivered early for the convenience of CCC.) As in the past, reseal loans are subject to call by CCC prior to the reseal maturity date.

Annual reseal storage payment rate for the 12-month 1963-64 period is 14 cents for corn.

In Cook County, the 1963 reseal program is available for these grains under farm-stored loans: 1962-crop corn, 1960-crop corn, and 1959-crop corn. Resealed loans on 1961-crop corn will run for another year under the 2-year program announced in 1962.

The search for a new farm crop continues; although, safflower is a profitable oilseed in the Western United States, it does rather poorly in Illinois. A University of Illinois plant breeder says that summer conditions in Illinois include too much moisture and humidity for profitable safflower production. (A14

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell the Truth, and Make Money": H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

How Dare You Want to Know What We Do

The Way We See It

Informed Public Is Vital to Democracy

National Newspaper Week, Oct. 13-19, gives newspapers a convenient opportunity to reflect upon their responsibilities and how well they are being carried out.

This is really not an easy thing to do for two reasons. One reason is the variety and complexity of human activities that newspapers are called upon to report. Another is the changes that take place at ever increasing speed.

A newspaper trade magazine recently reported that the final years of the last century and the first two decades of the 20th century were the heyday of the weekly newspaper. The magazine told how one rural community in Kansas, around 1895, had six weekly newspapers. There were two each for the Populist, Republican and Democratic parties, each representing one faction of its chosen party.

Two wars and a depression and the continuing migration of people to urban centers brought about a sharp decline in the number of weekly papers. However, in recent years, the growing suburbs have given birth to many new papers. Examples include the Elk Grove Herald, the Rolling Meadows Herald, the Hoffman Herald, the Addison Register and the Itasca Register. And so the number of weekly and semi-weekly newspapers is rising again.

The community editor today is inclined to think he has a more complicated task than, say, his predecessors in that six-paper Kansas town.

One suspects that those Kansas editors felt their primary — perhaps only — task was to help win an election for their particular party. If some of them accepted a broader responsibility, they found the issues being debated relatively simple as compared with today's.

The technological forces that helped drive so many of these small newspapers out of business are the forces that have complicated issues so greatly, and created a few more.

Many of these issues, such as those resulting from the unleashing of nuclear forces, are national and international in scope and not in the immediate province of the suburban press.

Yet they all affect us locally. For example, take that foremost area of local concern, education. The technological age has changed the obligation of local communities in educating the children. In brief, a better education is required.

When this requirement for more quality is added to the demand for more quantity, due to the population explosion, the obligation of the newspaper to make clear the needs, and of the public to respond to the needs, is something different than what a rural town faced a generation or two ago.

However, although obligations and methods change, the American principle of finding solutions remains valid. The essence of that principle is the best government is the one where the people govern themselves.

There are some who express doubts. A minority has always doubted the wisdom of this solution. Perhaps today they are joined by a few who think that democracy is obsolete in the nuclear age. The truth of the matter probably is that democracy is even more valid in the nuclear age than before.

The particular obligation of the press in a democracy is to inform the people so that they may make intelligent decisions.

In our northwest suburban area we find perhaps an increasing acceptance by village and school and township officials that the public has a right to know all the details of its business.

But of course there are a few holdouts, some of them sincere, who have an exaggerated fear of the public. They try to run their governmental bailiwick like a closed corporation.

As a rule, they don't do as good a job as they would if they operated in a goldfish bowl. Nothing is more doomed to failure than an effort by an official to convince the public that he is perfect.

Paddock Publications, on the occasion of National Newspaper Week, pledges to try during the coming year to bring more complete and more accurate information to the readers so as to arm them with the ability to make intelligent decisions during the coming year.

Symptom of Trouble

There is a growing concern over vandalism and rowdyism among spectators at night football games in high school.

The seriousness of the situation was highlighted when the city and Board of Education officials of Toledo, Ohio, and Milwaukee announced that all nignt games involving high school teams were being abandoned.

The Toledo action was taken after a series of fights broke out following a Friday night game and four policemen were injured.

Chicago banned night contests in all sports following a series of outbreaks in 1954 but still experiences problems. A fight resulted in 24 arrests following an afternoon game this year.

Some suburban communities have eliminated night games and newer schools do not have lighted fields, but the problem is not as acute in the suburbs and it is our feeling that night football offers many advantages.

It is easier for the family to attend night games and attendance is greater, a vital point to consider in a program where gate receipts are needed to finance athletics. Attendance is generally three times as great, according to an area athletic director.

Some coaches favor night football games because they encourage their players to rest on Saturday and see other games. "That is just as much a part of football as practicing and playing," one coach said.

Eliminating night football games in high school — one of America's most cherished traditions — is not the answer.

An unfortunate stigma has been placed on high school sports because of some recent disorders. But are the schools really to blame?

Fighting following a football game — night or day — is a symptom of trouble that festers in the community and is not necessarily associated with the schools.

Critic's Corner

Nothing New From Valachi

by BOB YEARICK
Roselle Register News Editor

Joe Valachi, underworld historian, is fast becoming a legend in his own time. He's been on television and the front pages of newspapers, and now Hollywood wants the rights to his life story.

Bad Joe undoubtedly will be happy to comply with filmland's request, for he has a true sense of the dramatic. During his testimony recently, in that rusty razor voice, he said, "This is my doom."

What followed was nothing more important or earth-shaking than he had said before, but Joe certainly thrilled and hushed his listeners with that little preface.

YEARICK

In fact, all of his testimony has been essentially worthless. I believe Joe Valachi is simply a worn-out hood who decided to grab some headlines and a little freedom before it's all over.

HE CERTAINLY makes a fine public relations man for American gangsterism. Square-shouldered, with white hair dyed red to disguise him from the Cosa Nostra, Joe rasps on in his New York street accent and vocabulary.

His seventh-grade education is sometimes laughlingly apparent. One senator asked him about vice in Omaha. Joe said he had never heard of the place.

Yes, old Joe is always good for a laugh. Like when he tells about the artichoke king—the gangster who cornered the market on artichokes, a delicacy his customers couldn't do without. Or like the time Joe was wounded at the scene of a crime, and his pals took him to another section of the city and fired six shots into the air, hoping to make the police think he had been wounded at that spot. A little later, the hoods returned and found Joe still lying there. It seems no one had reported the shooting to the police.

ASIDE FROM the humor involved, about all Valachi's testimony has done is corroborate the goings-on in "The Untouchables"—all the dramatic oaths, raids, shootings and stabbings. The story of his more than 20 years in Cosa Nostra is very interesting historically, but as Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., said, "I think there are more important things to claim the attention of Congress."

As of Oct. 7, Valachi had reached 1932 in his chronicle of crime in America, nearly all the gangsters he named have been rendered null and void. Even law enforcement officials say the value of his testimony is doubtful.

"There is very little new to us," a New York officer said. He added that the testimony "serves to make some things clear, but this does not mean that it is of such a nature that we can go to court and prosecute."

EVEN A Justice Department spokesman admitted that Valachi's words could be used only if they are "strongly corroborated."

Sen. John L. McClellan D-Ark., chairman of the investigating sub-committee, has said the testimony will eventually give some insight into the narcotics racket. Let's hope so.

Thus far, however, Valachi merely has given the senators a chance to put some questions to a witness, who, for a change, doesn't take the Fifth Amendment.

Willis Will Return

Predicts Royal Reform

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Everyone is watching the crisis in the Chicago school system. Partly it's the excitement of the thing. There are dramatic chases that Alfred Hitchcock would envy. The bailiffs chase after Supt. Benjamin Willis with their court orders. The school board "peace committee" chases after Willis, who has disappeared dramatically.

A man named Thomas Willis staying at a Lake Placid hotel gets tons of phone calls, presumably from the "peace committee" who thinks he is Ben Willis traveling incognito. Finally, a mysterious intermediary arranges a meeting.

My prediction is that Willis will return. And things will never be the same again.

CUMMINS

For one thing, if Willis returns, I don't think he should be called Superintendent of Schools. I think he should be called Benjamin, King of the Chicago School System, or King Ben I for short.

THIS WOULD denote his proper place in the scheme of things and make it easier for the board of education to remember its own place.

I understand that in the past the school board has held its meetings in what is called a board room, where everyone sat around a table and tried to hash things out. This will have to be changed, of course.

The room will have to be remodeled and provided with a dais and a throne. There should be a deep-pile carpet leading from the door to the throne. Preferably, the carpet should be purple or Burgundy red in color.

THE THRONE will be covered with a canopy of brocade. On each side of the throne will stand a turbaned youth holding an ostrich-feather fan. These youths can be chosen from a list of high school honor students.

The conduct of meetings will be quite different. There will be no more lounging around a table, shooting off the mouths. If some school board member thinks he has something to say, he will approach the throne. After kneeling and kissing the ring, he will await the royal nod. If it is given, the board member will state his observation, beginning, "If your majesty please, . . ." This procedure should effectively eliminate the disagreements which have cropped up in the past.

The pay system will have to be revised, too. I am not suggesting that the monarch's $48,500 annual salary be reduced. I am simply saying that it is un-regal for him to get it in the form of a pay check. After all, the Chancellor of the Exchequer doesn't drop in at Buckingham Palace every week to give Queen Elizabeth a pay check. Instead, the queen is possessor of vast estates that provide rents and tithes that enable her to live in royal style.

NOW, IF the city of Chicago will deed Lincoln Park to King Ben I, I am sure the monarch's Lord Chamberlain will be able to collect enough in rents and tithes from picnickers, golfers and zoo-visitors to more than equal those old pay checks. This will be doing the thing in royal style!

Also, I imagine King Ben I will want to revise the titles of his loyal chief associates. Now we have drab titles, such as assistant superintendent for vocational schools. This person will become the Viscount of Vocational Schools. And there will be a Marquis of Kindergartens and a Grand Duke of Remedial Reading and others who will be elevated to the nobility.

It's going to be a splendid and exciting thing to watch. Imagine the superintendent going from school to school in a carriage drawn by matched teams of horses! Imagine the dramatic spectacle of shako-topped janissaries at the changing of the guard each afternoon at the Board of Education building!

The board is dead! Long live the King!

Announce Paddock Sale of Interest

Announcement was made this week that Stuart R. Paddock Sr. has sold his interest in Paddock Publications, Inc. to the corporation. He will, however, continue to serve as Editor Emeritus of the 14 suburban newspapers.

Mr. Paddock purchased the Palatine Enterprise in 1898. He later combined operations with his father, H. C. Paddock, who purchased the Cook County Herald that same year. The Paddock family had left Libertyville after a fire destroyed the downtown business district, including the physical properties of Paddock's Libertyville Independent newspaper.

Subsequently, Stuart's brother, Charles, joined the family operation with the two brothers purchasing the business from their father in 1922. H. C. Paddock died in 1935.

Printing presses came and went as the years sped by, with Stuart's sons, Stuart Jr. and Robert, and daughter Marg, joining the firm. Charles Paddock's son-in-law, Frank Stites, also became part of the publishing enterprise.

With the necessity of meeting newspaper deadlines no longer present, Stuart has been touring the South and Mexico in recent years.

Tears of Envy?

The 'Giant' Is Slain

by BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

The XYZ Company started humbly. It was born in New England around the turn of the century, and competition was tough.

But XYZ's owners possessed the rare business combination of foresightedness, ingenuity, patience and a willingness to work.

The company came on strong in the 1920's, setting all kinds of sales records and winning tremendous consumer acceptance. In 1927, an XYZ salesman broke all established records. He became sort of a National hero.

LADD

The company has been the leader in its field for the past 25 years now. Its employes strive diligently to keep the firm at the top of the New York Stock Exchange. There is a real esprit de corps. There is pride in doing the best job possible. There is success.

AND THERE is envy— on the part of competitors and competitors' customers. They ridicule XYZ Company's progress. They belittle the traits that catapulted XYZ Company to fame. They vilify XYZ Company's executives. They cannot conceal their jealousy.

Fiction? Not on your life. XYZ Company is, in reality, the New York Yankees American League Baseball Club, Inc.

The Yankees' recent World Series loss has given millions of baseball fans a chance to gloat, to yelp "I told you so." Followers of the 19 other major league baseball teams are overjoyed to see the giant slain. And they refuse to let him rest in pease.

I'M NOT here to defend the Yankees. They need no defense. But I do want to point to the injustice of the anti-Yankee mania.

Why should the Milwaukee Braves draw a million fans? Unlike the Yankees, the Braves are living on past glories. Long gone are Billy Bruton, Joe Adcock, Wes Covington, Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl, Red Schoendienst and Johnny Logan — the stars of past Brave triumphs. Why don't they copy the Yankees and build a new team deserving of Milwaukee fandom?

The same goes for the Chicago White Sox, though they seem to be on the right track. 1959 is history. To win in 1964, the Sox must continue to build, to replace the stars of yesterday—Minoso, Wynn, Fox, Pierce, Lollar and Sievers.

THE CHICAGO Cubs appear to have finally adopted the Yankee approach. They're going places with fresh, young talent like Santo, Hubbs, Ellsworth, Williams, Brock and Burton. (Having a manager, too, has been a Yankee characteristic.)

Sure, I'd like to see a little more variety in the World Series come October. But I don't feel the answer is to break up the Yankees. The only reasonable answer is for the other teams to stop crying and begin patterning themselves after the Yankees. Hire the best personnel available and mold a champion.

The Yankees can't be judged by four games. Next year's 162-game schedule will prove that. They'll win the American League pennant next season by 10 games. And they'll cop the Series, too.

Meanwhile, the vilification goes on. XYZ Company has learned to live—despite success.

Calls for Appointed State School Head

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—The dean of the University of Wisconsin school of Education called for the abolishment of an elected superintendent of public instruction.

Dean Lindley J. Stiles told a luncheon meeting of Wisconsin's annual joint conference of adminstrators and supervisors that the chief state school officer should be appointed rather than elected.

In calling for a reorganization of the agency, Stiles said "The kind of state department of public instruction that was adequate for the past development in education in Wisconsin will be insufficient to the future."

STILES PRAISED past and present leadership of the department, but said the department "needs some sort of lay governing board" which should have the power to name the state superintendent.

He recommended immediate formation of a state wide committee to explore the functions, structure, program and personnel needed for education at the state level.

SWINGIN' SQUARES

The club's annual Halloween party dance is tomorrow night and as per custom calls for costumes. However, those not accustomed to costumes may attend in their customary costumery. Translation: Come dressed up funny if you want to, but don't stay away because you don't like costume parties. Everybody's welcome.

Dancing starts at 8:30 in the Recreation Park Field House with Dale Manson at the mike. Round dance instructors-program directors Carl and Marie Peterson will teach "La La La" at this dance and review it next time. At the last dance they reviewed "Keeshka Polka," a gay round they had taught at the previous session.

Swingin' Squares dance the first and third Friday nights of every month with Bob Lewis in charge the first Friday night and alternating with Manson, the third-Friday specialist. Recreation Park is at 500 E. Miner St., in Arlington Heights. Guests are always welcome.

SINCE LAST week's "banner battle" concerning the club emblems of Palatine and Swingin' Squares, the Arlington Heighters lost theirs again. Their report of the matter says, "Our banner is certainly seeing the countryside. No sooner had we retrieved it from our square dance friends in Palatine when it was stolen by the 'Four T's' of Lombard, led by none other than our round dance leaders, Carl and Marie Peterson!"

At this writing there was no report of the results of the local club's attempt to liberate their banner in time for tomorrow night's dance. Apparently the only way to find out is to hop into a costume, any old costume, and go to the dance tomorrow night.

Official: November Referenda

The District 25 school board last Thursday passed a 15-page resolution formally establishing two referenda to go before Arlington Heights voters Nov. 16.

The amount of bonds to be requested for construction of two new K-5 schools was set at $710,000 — slightly above the estimated cost of the buildings to cover contingencies and collection problems.

The second matter to come up for a vote, contained in the same resolution, is a 21-cent (per $100) increase in the maximum educational tax rate.

This would boost the rate from $1.25 to $1.46 per $100.

Though the maximum rate would not necessarily be used immediately, School Supt. Ralph P. Clabaugh said there is no reason to doubt that it will be.

"The extra money has been needed for a number of years," Clabaugh said, "and we have put off the increase as long as possible."

Tax bills incorporating the proposed increase would be payable in the spring of 1965, to cover expenditures budgeted in the fall of 1964.

The resolution also covers election procedures and judges.

Delegates Picked for Education Convention

The Illinois Education Association (IEA) convention is not slated until December 26-28, but preparations are under way in northwest suburban schools.

Section 1 of the Lake Shore Division, IEA, which covers schools in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Palatine Townships, held an election of delegates last week, naming 13 section delegates. In addition four delegates will come from Section 1 in division-officer positions.

Among the major issues slated for study at the convention are:

—Professional negotiations with school boards covering all phases of school and teacher problems;

—Code of Ethics for teachers, setting up standards for teacher conduct in school, with school boards, with pupils, with parents, with community groups, with professional organizations and in teacher-training requirements;

—Sanctions, the education association catch-all term covering all forms of punitive action against uncooperative or recalcitrant school boards. Sanctions can be investigation of conditions by state or national educational groups, the refusal of presently-employed teachers to sign contracts for teaching the next school year or the discouragement of other teachers from joining the school district.

One of the "hottest" subjects at the convention is expected to be the resolution proposed by the IEA state-level public relations committee headed by William Lowry of Fenton High School, Bensenville. The resolution would seek a change in wording in the IEA rules making it mandatory to establish procedures for professional education associations and boards of education to reach mutually - satsifactory agreements. This would replace an earlier stand by the IEA which "suggested and supported" such procedures but did not make them mandatory.

Delegates at the convention from section 1 schools will include Chester F. Raasch, president of the Lake Shore Division which has about 10,000 teacher members. Raasch is principal of Miner Junior High School, Arlington Heights.

Other division-level delegates are Frank R. Santelli of South Junior High School, Arlington Heights, chairman of the division nominating committee; Miss Verna Reisch, division program chairman and music supervisor of Mount Prospect schools; Ethan Janove, alternate division public relations chairman and principal of Brentwood School, Des Plaines, Elk Grove District 59; and Mrs. Marjorie A. Olson, Latin teacher at Forest View High School, Arlington Heights, District 214, and chairman of Section 1.

Section delegates are James Baker, Prospect High School, Mount Prospect; Kenneth Bates, West Junior High School, Prospect Heights; Miss Karen Blatt, South Junior High School, Arlington Heights; Darrell Elder, North School, Arlington Heights; William Fritsche, administrative offices, District 25, Arlington Heights; William Harner, administrative offices, District 25, Arlington Heights; and Mrs. Claire Highbarger, Paddock School, Palatine.

Other delegates are Miss Meredith Masterson, Quentin Road School, Palatine - Schaumburg High School District 211; Mrs. Madge Robinson, Sandburg School, Wheeling; John Stanley, Miner Junior High School, Arlington Heights; William Urbanek, Lakeview School, Hoffman Estates; and Ralph Witt, Kimball Hill School, Rolling Meadows.

The first alternate delegate to the convention will be Jordan Vogel of Kimball Hill School, Rolling Meadows. (B9

Big Spenders

Religious institutions of the United States spend an average of $8 billion annually.

ITEM: Before you cut an expensive wool fabric purchased for making a hand-tailored coat or suit, be sure the material has been shrunk. Many wool fabrics on the market have been pre-shrunk and will be marked "sponged and shrunk" or "ready for the needle." But even some marked pre-shrunk have been known to shrink when exposed to the steam of the dry-cleaner.

ITEM: Reducing pills themselves do not cause weight loss or influence the kinds of food chosen. They only help control the quantity of food eaten. They should not be taken except under close direction of a physician.

ITEM: If shirt sleeves are too long, it's best not to alter them at the shoulders. Instead, have cuffs taken off, sleeves shortened and then replaced.

ITEM: Homeowners transplanting trees and shrubs make a common mistake: planting them too deep. This "root burial" results in root rot. Chlorosis sets in with evergreens. Crowns begin to die. The roots become scrawny and weak and in a few years the shrubs and trees may be worthless.

EXPRESSIONS OF surprise and pleasure were reflected on the faces of five officials of Illinois Education Association, section 1, Lake Shore Division, in checking over the lists of section 1 delegates just elected to attend the annual IEA convention in December. The five, who will all be attending the convention as delegates, are Miss Verna Reisch, music supervisor of Mount Prospect schools; Darrell Elder, North School, Arlington Heights; William Urbanek, principal of Lakeview School, Hoffman Estates; Mrs. Marjorie Olson, Forest View High School; and Ethan Janove, principal of Brentwood School, Des Plaines (Elk Grove School District 59)

PROGRAM CHAIRMAN Claire Highbarger of Paddock School, Palatine, detailed plans of the upcoming annual dinner meeting for teachers in Section 1, Lake Shore Division, IEA. The IEA includes about 1,200 teachers in the Palatine, Schaumburg, Wheeling and Elk Grove township area comprising Section 1. The dinner meeting is slated for Monday, Nov. 4, at Old Orchard Country Club. Mrs. Highbarger revealed plans for the event last week to section 1 officials and building representatives in a special pre-convention session. (B9

Ordinance No. 63-25

AN ORDINANCE LICENSING AND REGULATING HAWKERS, PEDDLERS AND ITINERANT MERCHANTS

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES of the Village of Inverness, Cook County, Illinois, that:

Section 1. No person shall engage in business or activity of a hawker, peddler or itinerant merchant within the Village of Inverness without having first registered with the Village Clerk. The Village Clerk shall furnish to the applicant a registration form which shall provide for the following information:

Name and address of applicant;
By whom employed or with whom associated;
Length of such employment or association;
Applicant's place of residence and nature of employment during preceding 12 months;
Nature of the hawking, peddling or itinerant selling which the applicant proposes to conduct within the Village;
An estimate of the length of time the applicant will pursue said activities in the Village;
Names and addresses of three references;
Personal description of the applicant.

Section 2. The Village Clerk, or other person designated by the Village President, shall promptly investigate the matters referred to in the application and shall, in the event that the facts stated in the application are found to be true, issue to the applicant a permit for the period of time covered in the application; provided, however, that no such permit shall be valid for a period of more than 60 days without the renewal thereof. The applicant shall be notified of the disposition of the application within 15 days.

Section 3. Any person violating this Ordinance shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than $25.00 and not more than $200.00. Each solicitation in violation of this Ordinance shall be a separate offense.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect upon its due passage and publication according to law.

REGULATING FENCES IN THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

SECTION ONE: It shall be unlawful for any person to erect or cause to be erected any fence between the building line and the street on any lot on which a residential building is located except as hereinafter provided.

SECTION TWO: An open fence may be erected between the building line and street provided such fence does not exceed two feet in height.

For the purpose of this ordinance an open fence is one in which less than fifty per cent of its surface is closed when viewed at right angles to the line of the fence.

SECTION THREE: No fence shall be erected without having secured a permit from the building commissioner which shall be granted only if the proposed fence is in compliance with all Village ordinances and such proposed fence shall be erected in a structurally sound manner. No fee shall be charged for said permit.

SECTION FOUR: All metal fences erected in the Village shall be at least nine gauge woven wire.

SECTION FIVE: Nothing herein contained shall be construed as preventing the erection of fencing in that portion on any residential lot which shall be deemed to be a required rear yard within the meaning of the Arlington Heights Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION SIX: All ordinances or portions of ordinances in conflict with the terms of this ordinance shall be repealed except that all fencing requirements relating to swimming pools heretofore enacted shall remain in full force and effect.

SECTION SEVEN: Any person, firm or corporation violating the terms of this ordinance shall be fined not more than $200.00 for each such offense.

SECTION EIGHT: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT NOTICE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
SPECIAL ASSESSMENT NO. 155

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, have ordered the levying of a special assessment, as follows:

That the roadway in George Street from the east edge of the existing pavement in State Road (Arlington Heights Road) to the west edge of the existing pavement in Bristol Lane.

And the roadway in Burton Place from the existing pavement one hundred (100) feet south of the south line of George Street to a point three hundred ninety one (391) feet north of the north line of George Street, (excepting the aforedescribed pavement in George Street)

And the roadway in Belmont Avenue from the existing pavement one hundred (100) feet south of the south line of George Street to the aforedescribed proposed pavement in George Street.

Be improved by grading, constructing curb and gutter, paving, concrete base widening, and resurfacing where required, and by construction of all necessary catch basins, storm water inlets and connections to existing sewers and all other necessary adjustments and appurtenances. all complete in place in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois.

The ordinance for the said improvement is on file in the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Arlington Heights, at the Village Hall in the Village of Arlington Heights, and the Village of Arlington Heights has applied to the County Court of Cook County for the levying of the special assessment to pay the cost of the said improvement according to the benefits, and the assessments thereof have been made and returned to the County Court of Cook County, and known as Arlington Heights Special Assessment No. 155.

The final hearing will be had on the said proceeding on the 1st day of November, 1963, at the opening of Court or as soon thereafter as the business of the Court will permit.

All persons desiring to do so may file objections in the said Court before said day and may appear at the said hearing and make defense.

Said ordinance provides for the collection of the said assessment in ten (10) installments with interest thereon at six per cent (6%) per annum.

DATED: At Arlington Heights, Illinois, this 10th day of October, 1963.

Prospect Band Dazzles After Hours of Drill

Director Ed Volz Seeks Perfection

by BOB SETLIK

An almost imperceptible smile crossed Band Director Ed Volz's face when he left the podium following the half-time show.

His band had executed flawlessly what he described beforehand as "the most complicated show we have tried."

For regular followers of Prospect High football, the performance came as no surprise.

Volz drives his group like it were the football team. ("They practice more than we do," Varsity Coach J. O. Jackson once incredulously told a sportswriter).

The result has been the development of a band that is generally recognized as outstanding in the area and possibly in the state.

A college unit might think twice about trying some of Volz's routines. Prospect's marching band numbers 107 musicians and includes 47 "rhythmettes," a larger aggregation than many universities can put on the field at halftime.

Volz' methods seem to closely parallel those of a football coach.

IT WAS THE final rehearsal, and the band had gathered on the same practice field that the football team would use a few hours later.

They went through a program planned for 14 minutes and 21 seconds; they seemed in good form. The music was loud and clear; the marching precise.

Volz ran on the field to align one group; otherwise he appeared pleased.

They finished the first practice run.

"Fourteen minutes on the nose. That's good. You shaved off 20 seconds," Volz shouted across the field.

He gathered the band around him for a pep talk that would have made a football coach proud.

"The downfield emblems have to be faster. Your breakaways have to come sharper. You should like like a jack n' box."

"It's the little things that make the difference in being good and being superb. Remember, this is your last shot before the show. This is it. Make it a good one."

"Yeah," the shout came back.

"Up 2-3-4. Kick, 2-3-4." The echo bounded off the outside of the fieldhouse wall.

Volz's face wore a slight smile; everything was going well.

They finished the second run without a hitch.

"That's the end of the rehearsal. From here on it's your show. From here on, you make it or break it," the 31-year-old Volz told his charges. He then sent them across the field to practice the pre-game show with assistant Dean A. DePoy.

A RAIL-THIN man who is a study in concentration on the bandstand, Volz had done amazing things since taking over the band five years ago.

Saturday's performance was a case in point.

The length and complexity were unusual for a high school group.

He has planned the entire season's program around the theme "Say It With Music." This performance featured the methods of musical transmission.

They formed a juke box and played "In The Mood." They formed a three-speed record player and played another tune at 33, 45, and 78 r.p.m.

But the high point of the show came when the band divided into halves, faced opposite sidelines, and played Henry Mancini's "Elephant Walk" in stereo.

With Volz directing one side, and De Poy the other, the "speakers" were turned off and on.

"This is a real dangerous thing," explained Volz beforehand. "They have to be synchronized. If we ever lose them; they never get together." (They didn't lose them).

Volz's secret? Like a good football coach, he appears to have the knack of getting maximum results from his group.

"We drive them real hard," he said. "For the first two weeks we march their shoes off. After a while, they don't even think about it.

"I demand perfection," he continued. "You're asking a lot, but they're capable of it."

TO DWELL entirely on Volz's almost mesmeric influence over his youngsters would neglect another important factor.

A band isn't made overnight, and Volz is doing things that would have been impossible five years ago.

He came to Prospect, then a newly opened school, to head a 48-member band.

Volz formerly taught for three years at Palatine Township High School; before that he toured with professional groups and received degrees in music education from Northwestern University and the University of Illinois.

He installed the band's basic marching routine, a 22½ inch step that carries the marcher between the yard markers in eight steps. (The routine is similar to that used by many Big Ten bands, particularly Northwestern.

"If they get this right, they will always be in line," explained Volz. "If this fails, everything else will ultimately fail."

Volz can determine the number of measures of music needed by dividing the number of steps in half. (If a trombonist needs 32 steps to reach his position, he will be supplied with 16 measures of music.)

Each student must memorize a set of charts that indicates his place in formation and how to reach it.

Volz says he "can plot each kid right down to the blade of grass he stands on.

VOLZ has his band refined to such a point that he carries seven "spares" each performance who are trained to fill-in at any position if someone becomes sick. (A different seven are chosen each week).

The marching band practices two hours a day, and like the football team, has a couple weeks to round into shape before making its season debut. It is during this period that Volz "marches their feet off."

He calls his marchers "gems." From the performances they put on, the feeling must be mutual.

North Western Adds Ten Coaches to Fleet

The Chicago and North Western Railway Company's $43,000,000 commuter streamliner fleet will be augmented before the end of October by an additional 10 double-deck coaches.

C. J. Fitzpatrick, president of the North Western, said the coaches were scheduled for delivery within the next three weeks. All the cars are being constructed in South Chicago by Pullman Standard division of Pullman, Inc.

The 10 coaches were ordered early this year a few days after the discontinuance of operations of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad.

Representing an investment of $1,600,000, the 10 new coaches are the same in general design as the 200 modern double-deck cars which comprise the coaches in the road's commuter streamliner fleet. All the cars are equipped with electric heat, air conditioning, foam rubber seat cushions, wide tinted windows and fluorescent lighting. Each coach has 161 seats, or double the number of a conventional railroad coach.

Most of the cars will be used on a stand-by basis, as replacements for coaches that are temporarily taken out of service for maintenance or repairs, and will also be used to meet special demands. (AMP

Pick 3 for 'It's Academic'

Three of Prospect High School's top ranking students have been chosen to represent the school on NBC's radio and television program, "It's Academic" this Saturday, Oct. 19. They are Kitty Johnson, Bob Gewecke and Laurel Smith.

This will be the second appearance of the team.

The telecast will be at 6 p.m. on WNBQ-TV, Channel 5. The program will be rebroadcast at 10 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 20, over radio station WMAQ.

THE TEAM will face similar groups of top students from Elmwood Park Community High School and Dwight D. Eisenhower High school, Blue Island.

In the first contest, telecast Oct. 5, the Prospect team defeated Kankakee Community High School and Lake Forest High School. The victory came after a slow start when Prospect was in third place at the end of the first round. (ACM

A TEAM FROM Prospect High School will compete in its second "It's Academic" contest Saturday, Oct. 19, at 6 p.m. on WNBQ-TV, Channel 5. The trio — Lolly Smith, Capt. Warn of Squirt Gun Dangers warn of squirt—1-24 ital ....

School officials report students this week are turning in a new child's toy filled with potential danger which apparently swept the junior population of Arlington Heights last week.

The supply was limited — and illegal.

Police complaints last week indicate several disposable hypodermic syringes have been take from rifled garbage cans outside doctors' offices in the community.

They appeared as squirt guns, along with medicine bottle, in the halls and on the playgrounds of schools in South Arlington Heights.

THE HOLLOW needle tips are broken blunt — thus forming a nozzle-like opening through which liquid may be forced by the syringe plunger.

The danger is apparent. Accidental injection may result in infection, serious injury, or the introduction of a harmful drug — even narcotic — into a child's system.

The syringes are purposefully thrown away after one use to prevent the spread of disease or infection from one patient to another through the needle.

THOUGH THE source was discovered, it was difficult for police to prevent circulation of the dangerous toys, according to Detective Sgt. Maurice English.

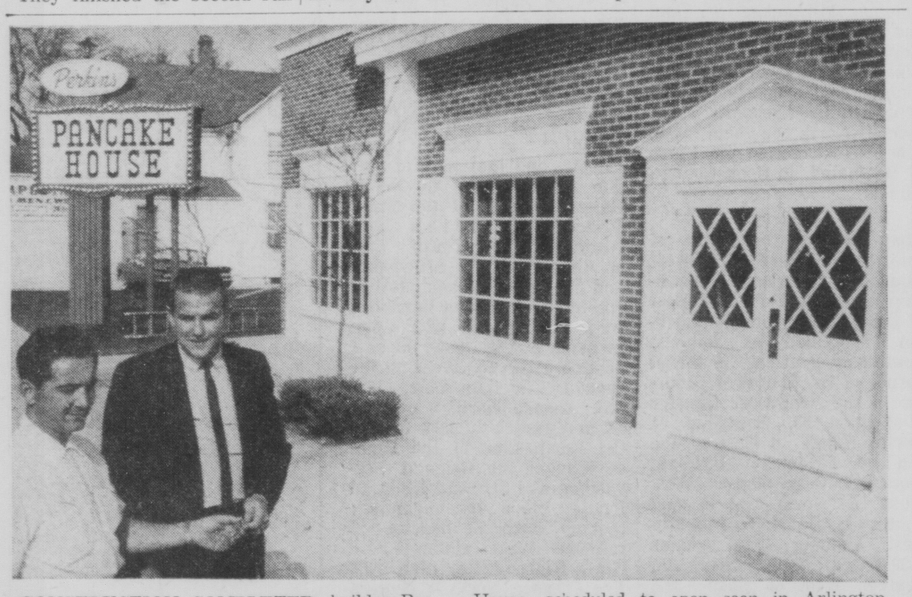
The persons who can find them and destory them quickest and easiest are alert parents, he

Ice Hockey League Opens This Saturday

It will be the Dundee Vikings against the Elgin Blades, 1963 champions, in the opening game of the Illinois Ice Hockey League at the Polar Dome, Santa's Village in Dundee, Saturday, October 19, at 8 p.m.

The contest will usher in the twelfth year of the IIHL. It will also mark the beginning of the first full season of play at the new arena just off the Northwest Tollway on highway 25.

There are five clubs in the league presided over by Art Castle, who has guided the Illinois representatives in the AHAUS for the past several years. In addition to the Dundee and Elgin clubs, the circuit is composed of the Chicago Firemen, Chicago Hornets and Aurora Falcons.



CONSTRUCTION COMPLETED, builder Ben Mammina turns over keys to Richard Abrahamson, owner of the new Perkins Pancake House, scheduled to open soon in Arlington Heights. The colonial-style restaurant is located at 203 N. Evergreen. (A

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

By C. D. Smith

Boy Ignores Girl When Buddies Come Around

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "Answer this question for me, if you can. I like a boy very much and he says that he likes me. Yet, he tells the boys that he runs around with that he doesn't like me. When we are together, he is fine when we are alone. Whenever boys appear, he acts as if I am not even around. I like him very much, but do not think he is treating me as he should. What can I do about it?"

OUR REPLY: You can give the lad the same kind of treatment, or you can wait until he "grows up" a bit more. He will decide in time that he isn't fooling anyone but himself when he says, "No, I don't like her." One of these days he will say, "Sure, I like her. What about it?"

Let's face it. Some boys are "show-offs." They can be the perfect gentleman in the company of a girl. Let some buddies come into view, however, and they feel compelled to impress their friends. They may try this by either being indifferent, or being "cute." Once the other boys depart, such a lad will become a gentleman again.

The girl who is with a boy who suddenly acts as if she is not around will be smart if, suddenly, she is not around. If this happens a couple of times, the boy will begin to realize that it's no fun at all to be left or to be ignored.

In summary, no girl is smart who will, for instance, go to the Malt Shoppe with a boy, then sit on the sidelines while he "forgets" she is there and desert her for a bunch of boys. The fact that he always comes back is not important. The thing is that he is guilty of very poor manners—and no gal should stand for it.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT KY.

Forestry Is Theme Of Scout Camporee

A record-breaking turn-out of Boy Scouts from Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Elk Grove Village is expected this weekend when the Blackhawk District, Northwest Suburban Scout Council holds its Fall Camporee, the last one for the district in its present area alignment.

The three-day outing takes place at the council's 160-acre Lakota Reservation, eight miles west of Woodstock on U.S. Highway 14.

Joseph J. Talaber, 1207 N. Wilke, Arlington Heights, Camoree chairman, says advance registrations of 700 Scouts and 100 leaders indicates all previous attendance records for a district campout will be broken. A total of 30 Scout troops and six Explorer posts will be represented at the outing which gets under way tomorrow (Friday) and ends at noon Sunday.

FORESTRY IS the theme for this Camporee, according to Talaber. With the cooperation of the American Forest Products Industries, trade association, the Scouts will learn how the lumber business takes care of its huge investments in tree farms. Use of the "Cruiser Stick," similar to the ordinary yardstick, in determing such facts as the number of board feet in a tree, will be one of the unusual features of a program that also includes woodcraft demonstrations and a nature hike.

Because the area served by the Northwest Suburban Council's five districts has been growing so rapidly in boy population, it is due to be expanded into seven districts the first of the year. Consequently, this Camporee will be the last Blackhawk District outing, Talber stated.

IN ADDITION to Talaber, these Arlington Heights Scout leaders are planning the Blackhawk Fall Camporee: C. Frank Aldrich, vice chairman and problem director; Robert A. Post, camping arrangements; Ted L. Larson, program; James G. Lindsey and Walter O. Schmidt, registrations; and Dr. Frank J. Psota, health and safety. Thomas F. Clauter, Mount Prospect, will be in charge of campfire ceremonies.

Masonic Leader To Speak

Ralph E. Whipple, right worshipful grand secretary of the Masonic Lodge of the State of Iowa, will speak on Masonry at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 30, at the Masonic Hall, Graceland and Prairie, Des Plaines.

While his lecture is being presented by Des Plaines Lodge 890, members of other Masonic lodges are invited to attend.

Prior to the lectures, a "free will offering" dinner will be served, at 6:45 p.m. promptly. Any brethren desiring to attend the dinner before the lecture, may do so, by writing or contacting Worshipful Master J. E. Reifstahl, care of Des Plaines Lodge 890, A. F. & A. M., 1345 Prairie Ave., Des Plaines.

Because the lodge is restricted to the number of people it can seat at the tables, it is necessary to accept the reservations of those who apply first, and in that order.

The lecture will be held in the regular hall, and there will be no charge, nor any need to make reservations for those intending to be present for the lecture only.

Forest View News

The Colonial Heights Home Owners Association will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 21, at the Mount Prospect Country Club. The issues at hand will be discussion of annexation.

Everyone regretting the end of summer, Gil and Dottie Kenning spent Sunday taking in the sights at the cottage of Gil's at the lake in Cary.

There were tears in the eyes of Angelica Rosiak when her grandmother left to return to Racine. She had visited for a week with Marion and Lillian Rosiak. She is Lillian's mother.

George and Evelyn Menard had as a weekend guest Mrs. Ruth Worcester of Marengo. She is Evelyn's mother.

Jerry and Jim Kingsborough and children visited the Jess Black family in Des Plaines on Saturday. While the parents played cards, the children, seven in all, tried out the new punching bag and guarantee it works great.

THE HAROLD Weitzel family had Harold's mother, Mrs. H. B. Weitzel from Pennsylvania, as their houseguest. The family spent Saturday shopping in the Loop and viewing the Columbus Day Parade.

Friday evening the Don Larsons explored Old Town in Chicago with the Larry Hodges of Powers Lake, Wis. Later they had dinner at the Red Star Inn. Tuesday, they attended the annual dinner dance of the Builder Uppers at River Forest Country Club.

Ray Projahn and Bill Scanlans of Des Plaines and Allen Links, Willard Johnsons, Frank Ehlinger, Tom Staneks and Steve Kolariches all of Chicago, called the Fearless Eight, played their last round of golf for the season at the Mount Prospect Country Club with Ray Projahn winning the trophy, with an 84. Later, the wives joined the golfers at the Bob Engelhardt home for supper.

Loraine Gorgius spent Wednesday in Chicago, having lunch with her mother-in-law and late visiting with Mrs. Paul Gorgius and Mrs. Elise Himmelberg in their new home. The two great-grandmothers, Mrs. Himmelberg and the senior Mrs. Gorgius, were happy to show Loraine the new baby, who made her a great-aunt, Diane Frances Gorgius.

MR. AND MRS. Donald Dreyer helped Susan celebrate her second birthday with a buffet supper for all of Susan's aunts, uncles and cousins.

The Tom Kellys celebrated their sixth anniversary with dinner and dancing at the Martinique Restaurant in Beverly Hills.

The Donald Daniels were proud of their daughter, Jan, when she was a flower girl for Mr. and Mrs. M. Szontaky at St. Francis Borgia Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly held a going away party for Tom's brother, Dennis, who is going to Viet Nam. After dinner, Mrs. Kelly decided to take all the guests to see her brother, Richard Pagliaro's three-piece combo at the Grand Bowl Lounge in Franklin Park.

Carla Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mortallaro, was christened Sunday with Samuel Mortallaro and Rita Di Maria as godparents. Also attending were relatives from Chicago.

MR. AND Mrs. Donald Dreyer attended a wedding in Chicago on Saturday. Tina was the matron of honor for her sister, Carmela Blasi Turano. The service was at St. Andrew Church in Chicago and the reception was held at the Parkview Villa on Fullerton Avenue. The bridesmaids wore long two tone satin dresses with a matching bow in their hair.

Following the reception, the Dreyers and Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Blasi and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Servideo were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vince Damiano at the Playboy Club. They caught the last show in the Penthouse Room, where they were entertained by Fay Adams, Kenny Roberts, Comedian Jerry Collins and the "Bunnies."

Tina Dreyer had a luncheon on Monday for the Damianos and the Serridos, who came from New York for the wedding.

THATCH...
your lawn's worst enemy!

Does your lawn have an ugly brown look? Are dead grass clippings making your lawn unsightly — depriving it of moisture, food and air?

YOUR TROUBLE IS THATCH!

Newest and worst enemy to a healthy, green lawn.

WHAT IS THATCH! Thatch is matted dead grass, imbedded in the turf, which seals water, air, fertilizer from the soil and prevents re-seeding. The heaviest accumulation of thatch develops from grass clippings being allowed to remain on the lawn after mowing.

HOW TO GET RID OF THATCH — Old fashioned methods called for a sturdy rake, hours of back-breaking effort. NOW ...with the Parker THATCH-O-MATIC POWER RAKE ... IT'S EASY. Your lawn can be freed of choking matting, and dethatched quickly and easily.

The THATCH-O-MATIC, with 104 self-cleaning, flexible steel tines, mechanically lifts thatch and imbedded debris, without damage to the living grass.

Parker

SWEEP IT CLEAN... SWEEP IT GREEN

For quick clean-up and for beautification of your lawn after dethatching ... for future thatch prevention ... a PARKER LAWN SWEEPER removes grass clippings, twigs, sticks and stones, all debris ... it gives you a cleaner, healthier, more beautiful lawn all year long. Models available for rent or sale—Manuals, Trailer and Powered — There is a Parker Sweeper for every need.

Human Relations Programs Sponsored by Grace Church

A six-week program of Christian adult education designed to discuss, evaluate and equate the growing concern over the turmoil which exists at almost every level of the practice of human relations is currently being sponsored by Grace Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights, on Wednesday evenings.

The sessions are designed to answer the question "What Can I Do About It?" An attempt will be made through the informative programs to help point thoughtful energies in the direction of Christian encounter with potential people-to-people frustrations.

It is said by the series sponsors that such programs help to bring the Christian closer to understanding his fellowman and allow him to think on the long range consequences of action which must be taken to adjust to the pressures of an explosive world.

OUTSTANDING speakers from the area have been contacted to speak each Wednesday at Grace Lutheran at 8:15 p. m. through Nov. 13.

The Oct. 9 session featured Donald Frey, an attorney and expert on the U. N.'s role in international relations, who spoke of "Getting Along with People of other Nations."

Last night (Wednesday) the Rev. Henry Hetland, representing the National Conference of Christians and Jews, spoke on "Getting Along With People of Other Religions."

Future meetings with the guest speaker and his subject include:

Oct .23: "Getting Along With People of Other Color Skins." The speaker will be announced. He will be a member of the Illinois Commission on Human Relations.

OCT. 30: "Getting Along in Syndicate Society." Marlin Johnson, Special Agent in Charge of the FBI in Chicago will discuss what can be done in the war on organized crime by us as Christians and citizens.

Nov. 6: "Getting Along With Fellow Lutherans of Different Ethnics." At this session the Rev. Ray Forstrom of Chicago's St. Mark Lutheran Church will talk and present his integrated children's choir.

Nov. 13: "Getting Along in Your Own Home." The Rev. Daniel Sandstedt, chaplain and counsellor of Chicago's Augustana Hospital, will speak on how to increase the joy we experience from successful family experiences.

Visitors are welcome to attend any or all of the sessions for which there is no charge. Refreshments will be served following the meetings.

Arlington Men Eligible for Scotland Trip

By registering holes-in-one, two more Arlington Heights golfers have become eligible to earn a trip to Scotland for two and $1,000.

Chuck Pedersen, 215 W. Beverly Lane, who scored his ace playing the Oak Park Links, and John D. Van Veen Jr., 203 N. Brighton, who gained one at the Old Orchard Country Club, were both entered in the Old Smuggler Hole-In-One Sweepstakes.

The winner will be announced at the end of the year.

Harriers Triumph

St. Viator's varsity cross country team picked up its fourth victory of the season Friday afternoon with an impressive 22-40 conquest of visiting St. Joseph.

Although Shuhrur of St. Joseph's set the pace with a 9:30 clocking, the host Lions finished two through five in squaring their season mark at 4-4.

Mike Jones ran second for the second time in eight meets with a time of 9:42. Pat Doherty ran third for the Lions at 9:49, Mike Smith fourth, Dan Mulcahy fifth, and John Lightner eighth.

St. Joseph did pick up a victory in the frosh-soph meet although St. Viator's Bob Nemec ran off with the individual honors. Nemec was clocked in 10:17 as the Lions dropped a 23-33 decision.

Also scoring for Bob Martineau's squad were Tom Crofton (4), Don Rich (8), Rich Tremblay (9), and Jan Golab (11).

Needlework Display at Woolworth's

Today the arts of crochet and knitting are enjoying a "comeback"—from college campus to suburban ranch house.

To help those who enjoy art needlework, a fashion representative of Coates & Clark, manufacturers of knitting yarns and crochet threads, will be at Woolworth's in Mount Prospect Plaza Wednesday through Friday, Oct. 23 to 25.

She will display made-up articles, help knitters and crocheters with any problems and introduce beginners to the fascinating world of art needlework.

Crochet and knitting date back hundreds of years. Women of past generations would look with amazement at the knitted "jiffy sweaters" and crocheted hats that can be made today. Yet many of their patterns are still used for bedspreads, afghans and doilies.

The Coates and Clark representative also will distribute many free leaflets while at Woolworth's. (BB

Marken Promoted By Bell & Howell

John C. Marken has been appointed director of industrial relations for Bell & Howell Company's business equipment group, according to an announcement from Scott Harrod, president.

Marken will be responsible for the administration of all industrial relations programs for the business equipment group, which includes, DITTO, Inc., Bell & Howell Phillipsburg Co., and the Southern business forms micro photo, Baumfolder, Rochester film and micro - data divisions.

Marken has been associated with Bell & Howell since 1946 in a variety of marketing and personnel posts. He was named sales - coordination manager in 1958, director of training and communications in 1959 and manager of compensation for the photo products division in 1960.

In 1962 he was transferred to Bell & Howell's business machines division as manager of personell and training. In March of this year he was appointed personnel manager of the business equipment group.

Marken lives at 707 N. Elmhurst Ave., in Mount Prospect, with his wife and two children. (BB

Roselle Man Is Promoted

George Tews, 105 E. Irving Park Road, Roselle, an agent for the State Farm Insurance Companies associated with the W.E.D. Moore Agency, was honored at a luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 3, at the Drake Hotel in Oak Brook.

Tews established a new production record for life insurance in September, helping the Moore agency establish an all-time record for the month. An award was given to him for his outstanding record.

The principal speaker was Mr. Fred Heitmann, President of the Northwest National Bank of Chicago. (BB

More Snacking

Consumption of snacks accounts for 26 per cent of all eating time of Americans. Just five years ago only nine per cent of eating occasions were snacks.

Screen of New Theater Is Unusual

Magic is the word for the screen of the new Cinema Teatre in Mount Prospect, now being readied for its premiere Nov. 1.

According to Richard A. Smith, president of General Drive - In Corporation, the unique color curtain that dispenses with the conventional drapery produces an unusual effect.

The entire wall and screen seem to dissolve in a mist of color, presenting the viewer with a huge window that looks out into the vast distance of another world. The screen itself is the largest in the Midwest, 62 feet.

Other features of the new movie house on Rand Road and Central are free paved parking, push-back seats, perfect acoustics and the latest development in sound and projection.

Car-Buying Everyday Thing For Mount Prospect Man

Buying a new car is a major event for most of us. But, for Russell J. Timko, 804 W. Milburn St., Mount Prospect, it's an everyday occurrence — he's bought as many as 6,617 vehicles in a period of five years.

Timko is manager of the motor vehicle department at Automatic Electric Sales Corporation, Northlake, a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corp. He supplies trucks and passenger cars for the General System, one of the largest privately owned passenger car and truck fleets operated by shippers in the United States.

At the latest count, there were 9,036 vehicles in the General System fleet, including 7,080 trucks, 2,226 passenger cars and approximately 1,180 trailers of assorted types.

According to figures compiled by the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, General Telephone's array of trucks is exceeded in numbers by only a few major companies, including AT&T, Continental Baking, National Dairy Products, REA Express, Borden Co. and United Parcel Service.

TIMKO'S familiarity with machines covers a great deal of ground—and air space as well. He flew torpedo and dive bombers during World War II with a Marine squadron flying off the carrier Block Island. On returning to civilian life, he worked in automobile sales for several years, joining Leich Sales Corp., now merged with Automatic Electric, in 1956.

"After selling cars and trucks for ten years, this is like reaching the big leagues and the World Series in baseball," Timko said.

WORKING FROM Automatic Electric headquarters in suburban Northlake, Timko supplies not only the General System operating telephone companies, but also some of the other GT&E subsidiaries. Each year, replacements or additions are furnished, totaling more than 1,000 vehicles.

Timko also provides accessory equipment that is needed. Such accessories might include only a small utility service body or a large construction body complete with hydraulic winch, derrick and digger. Timko determines what must be purchased and supervises the installation so that the completed unit can be delivered to the telephone company.

Timko and his wife, the former Janet Ferrier, have a daughter and three boys to keep things humming and numerous activities in the home and community to take up whatever spare time they might have.

TIMKO WAS one of the organizers of "After the Prom Committee, Inc.," a group of parents who supervised an all-night party after the Prospect High annual prom. They provided wholesome entertainment for 450 youngsters, many of whom might otherwise have sought after-the-dance fun in night clubs and other places of questionable reputation.

In a recent election of village trustees, Timko assisted in the campaigning as a member of the Better Government Party. On Sundays, he is an usher at St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

He is a "do-it-yourself" man and likes to golf and swim.

Knitting Shop Is Dream Come True

The "Ball of Yarn," a new Arlington Heights business, opened this week at 100 W. Campbell St., on the corner of Vail and Campbell.

Mrs. Helen Klotz, 43, of 543 S. Evergreen is the proprietress of the business, and said its opening is a dream come true for her.

SHE HAS operated a knitting service in her basement for 1½ years, and has been the knitting instructor at Wieboldt's Department Store, Randhurst Shopping Center, for 14 months.

Mrs. Klotz said she will carry four brands of yarn and a complete line of accessories. In the near future, Mrs. Klotz intends to begin classes in knitting. Also, the shop will furnish a custom knitting service.

MRS. KLOTZ said the operation will begin with three employes, and hopes it will expand.

She said the interest in knitting has grown rapidly over the past few years, and said it appears as though the interest will continue to expand.

Store hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, and until 9 p.m. on Monday, Mrs. Klotz said.

Will Write Technical Bulletins

S. T. Leopardo, 63 Evergreen St., Elk Grove Village, has been named supervisor of technical publications at Automatic Electric Company, Northlake.

Leopardo, who joined the telephone and electronics manufacturing company in 1950, has been a technical writer since 1959. In his new position, he is responsible for the preparation and printing of technical bulletins.

He and his wife, Mary, have five children. (BB

Agency Has 2nd Office

The Sheets Employment Service of Chicago now has established an office at 207 N. Evergreen in Arlington Heights.

The agency offers 24-hour service and serves both men and women. It operates in all parts of the suburbs and Chicago, north and west.

Glenn E. Sheets, agency manager, said his organization is able to fill positions for all kinds of office women, technical office personnel and both skilled and unskilled factory help, men or women. (BB

Dentist Opens New Practice

Dr. William Limpinsel has opened a new dental practice at 7 W. Campbell St. in Arlington Heights.

Dr. Limpinsel received his B.S. degree from Illinois Institute of Technology, a D.D.S., from Detroit University School of Dentistry and his M.S. in pedodontics (dentistry for children) from Northwestern University Dental School.

He is a member of numerous dental societies and received hospital training at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

Dr. Limpinsel resides, with his wife and two children, Wayne, 17, and Nancy, 12, in Mount Prospect. (BB

Furnace Firm in Bensenville

St. Louis Company Establishes First Regional Outlet

American Furnace Company, St. Louis, one of the country's largest manufacturers of heating and air conditioning equipment, has opened its first major distribution center outside the St. Louis area in suburban Chicago.

The center will serve the metropolitan Chicago area, northern Illinois, Wisconsin, northern Indiana and part of lower Michigan, it was announced by Charles H. Franke, company president.

Located in a new 15,000 square foot building in Bensenville, the center will house AFCO's regional meeting facilities and a full-line inventory of residential and commercial heating and cooling equipment and parts.

"Heretofore, we have distributed directly through some 1,500 dealer - contractors throughout the country," Franke said.

"WITH THE tremendous growth of metropolitan market areas and our rapidly-expanding list of products, however, we feel we now must shorten the supply lines for our dealers through regional distribution."

Chicago was selected as the site of the first regional facilities in the company's 63-year history because of "the tremendous potential here for both heating and air conditioning and the proximity of major markets in nearby states."

American Furnace Company manufactures gas, oil, electric and coal furnaces, central air conditioning equipment, electric heat pumps, electronic air filters and accessories. Production facilities are located in Red Bud. Ill., 40 miles southeast of St. Louis.

MAJOR DISTRIBUTION CENTER for metropolitan Chicago and four-state area has been opened in suburban Bensenville by American Furnace Co., St. Louis manufacturer of heating and air conditioning equipment. The 15,000-square foot building also will house regional sales offices. (BB

HEATING AND cooling products will be shipped to the Chicago center direct from the plant by truck, according to Robert M. Meigs, regional sales manager. Deliveries will be made by AFCO trucks in the Chicago area and by common carrier to other points served from here.

The recently-completed building was purchased from the Dahlstrom Construction Co., Franklin Park, the builder.

A complete drapery and carpet department has been added to The Designer's Shop, Petersen Interiors, Inc., in the Elms Shopping Center, Arlington Heights.

Arthur E. Petersen, Jr. announced this week that through the purchase of an adjacent store, 2000 square feet of space have been added, half of which are devoted to carpets, drapery and upholstery fabrics. The other half contains wall and modular storage furniture and in the future, a bedding section.

In celebration of the new addition, the store is holding open house Sunday, Oct. 27, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. The public is invited to attend and at the same time to view a room setting display which is a replica of the store's successful exhibit at the recent September Home Furnishings and Electric Living Show which was held at McCormick Place.

THE ROOM is a livingroom area with dining facilities done in teak and walnut furniture and a restful sauterne, olive green and aqua color scheme.

"We believe our carpet and drapery department is unique for this area," said Petersen. "It is keyed to contemporary living and represents a careful selection of the finest currently available good designs, with diversity in range of fabrics, colors and price."

Draperies are displayed according to types of fabrics and range from basic casements, loose weaves, imported linens, sheers and semi-sheers to antique satins, the newest orlon and acrilan casements and very high style imported Scandinavian woolens. Upholstery fabrics also cover the gamut of materials suitable for reupholstering, slip covers and bedspreads and in every price category from burlap to imported woolens.

"High style fabrics of the kind seen in glamorous shelter magazines, but often hard to find, are also carried in the section," reported Petersen. "These include the fabrics designed by such well known designers as Jack Lenor Larsen, Boris Kroll and Ben Rose."

THE CARPET section introduces a novel display idea. To simplify selection for the homemaker, all carpets are arranged according to color and cover the entire spectrum from off-white to deep purple.

The newest contemporary colors such as sauterne, pale golds and yellow greens are to be found as well as carpets in all price ranges from budget qualities to the finest custom all-wool which can be ordered in any size, shape and color, with many in four, five or six color blends. There is also a complete area rug section. (BB

Hundreds Needed to Bring Cadets to Football Game

It will take an "army" of Santa Fe Railroad employes to move the 2,500-man Air Force Academy Cadet Wing and some 400 loyal fans to the Nov .2 Academy-Army football game in Chicago.

The city of Chicago is sponsoring trips of both the Academy cadet wing and the West Point corps of cadets to Chicago.

ACCORDING TO Ross Chappell, general passenger traffic manager, four trains will be used to transport cadets; a fifth will carry the fans.

A total of 88 cars and 25 locomotive units are scheduled for the 20-hour journey.

In addition to the standard complement of trainmen, enginemen, chair car attendants and dining car crews, each train will carry two passenger department commander and other Santa Fe personnel, an operating department supervisor to oversee movement of the train; a mechanical department supervisor to check equipment, a dining car department supervisor, six district supervisors to ride the engines through their districts, a special agent to protect cadets' baggage and a road foreman of engines.

THERE WILL be five porters on each train and a dining car crew of 13.

A total of 10 crew changes will be made during the run to Chicago; 10 on the return trip. Some 500 trainmen and enginemen will be involved in this phase of the operation alone!

Cadet trains will leave the Academy Nov. 1 and return Nov 3. Fans will leave Oct. 31 and return Nov. 3.

A. B. Dick Appoints Area Men to New Jobs

Paddock Publications - 57 THURS., OCT. 17, 1963

Suburbanites in the news — DESIGN for LIVING — Business Building Improving

A B. Dick Company has appointed two area residents to new positions with the firm.

Kenneth B. Marble, 604 W. Shabonee Trail, Mount Prospect, was named to the newly created post of national federal government sales manager. He will be responsible for national distribution of the company's products to the federal government.

He has held various sales positions with A. D. since joining the firm in 1946. He is married and has three children.

William P. Heffernan, 616 S. Burton Place, Arlington Heights, was appointed sales manager.

WILLIAM P. HEFFERNAN

He joined the company in 1954 and most recently was district sales manager in Seattle.

Heffernan also is married and has three children. (BB

Record Dividend At Palatine Savings

The semi-annual dividend of $151,638 distributed at the end of last month by Palatine Savings and Loan Association represents another record for the local savings institution, according to William W. Heise Jr., executive vice president.

Heise said the latest dividend is $10,000 more than the last one, paid last March, and reflects the current high dividend rate of 4½% paid on all savings accounts. For the association's more than 6,500 savers, dividends amount to $292,944 for the current year.

The steady growth of Palatine Savings, Heise said, indicates its increasing acceptance in the community. He attributed this to the friendly personal service and experienced conservative management. The association recently increased its parking and drive-in facilities.

Situated in the center of downtown Palatine, Palatine Savings and Loan Association is open 33 hours a week. In addition to drive-up and walk-up window service, save-by-mail facilities are offered. All accounts are fully insured to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., an agency of the U. S. government. (BB

Area Residents Enroll In Management Institute

In order to become better trained as management personnel, three area residents are students in the Lake Forest College Industrial Management Institute which began its 18th year of classes on Sept. 16.

Taking the specialized training are Robert Andreasen, 1726 S. Brookview Lane, Palatine, employed by Motorola, Inc., in its managing engineering services department; James Fischer, 130 Lancaster, Mount Prospect, manager of general accounting for Baxter Laboratories, and Glen P. Skoog, 27 Mandel, Prospect Heights, manager of administrative services for Motorola.

They will attend classes one night a week from 7 to 9:15 o'clock. Four years of discussion and conference work is required to complete the program.

The institute is sponsored jointly by Lake Forest College and 27 employers to provide a basic business education for the men selected to enter the program to help them develop a better understanding of modern management problems. The ultimate goal is to produce broadly-trained mid-management personnel who are able to provide intelligent, responsible leadership for their companies.

THE FACULTY includes regular members of the Lake Forest College and Northwestern University faculties, as well as business and professional leaders. A.D. Kaufman, former director of educational services for Johns-Manville Products Corp. is the new executive director of the IMI.

New faculty members include Dr. Herbert A. Nicholaus, professor of economics and business administration at Lake Forest College, who will teach financial controls; Dr. R. S. Smith of the Northwestern University Graduate School of Business, who will teach administrative functions and controls, and Daniel A. Nimer, director of budgets and marketing for Automatic Canteen Company of America, who will teach economics.

THREE NEW companies have joined the IMI this fall: North Shore Gas Company, Corral Chemical Company (Waukegan) and the Grand Avenue Lumber Company (Waukegan).

During the first year the men study effective speech, communications and industrial psychology; second year—managerial statistics, conference leadership and financial controls; third year—econimics, distribution and marketing and administrative functions and fourth year—problem solving, labor-management relations and man and ideas. Golf-Rose Paint Has New Hours

To accommodate customers, Manager Dick Williams announced new hours of the Golf Paint Glass and Wallpaper Co. in the Golf-Rose Shopping Center in Hoffman Estates.

The new hours will permit shopping during hours that are convenient to customers and that have proved to be the times when most shopping is done. The new schedule, effective today (Thursday), will be Monday through Friday from 9:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m., Saturdays 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. and Sundays from 12:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Golf Paint opened for business Aug. 28, the first in the new center.

Joseph Faner Named To Vice Presidency

Joseph F. Faner, 615 Mayfair, Arlington Heights, was elected vice president of marketing and sales in all electrical productlines for Joslyn Mfg. and Supply Co. of Chicago on Oct. 1.

Faner, a graduate of Northwestern University, joined the Joslyn Company in 1939. During World War II he served as a submarine officer in the Navy. For the past 10 years he has been marketing manager.

Faner, who is president of District 25 Board of Education, succeeds Robert H. Gasch, who retired after 41 years with Joslyn. Gasch continues in an advisory capacity until Dec. 31.

Glantz Appointed Manager of Burry

Richard H. Glantz, former resident and village trustee in Arlington Heights, recently was appointed general manager of Burry Biscuit division of The Quaker Oats Company of Chicago. Division headquarters is in Elizabeth, N. J.

Glantz, who joined Quaker in 1942, has been director of manufacturing since April, 1962. He was associated with George W. Burry, vice president who died Oct. 2, in over-all management of the Burry division.

He and his wife and two children live in Chatham Township, N. J. (BB the last time he had "nothing to do" was the day before he moved to . . . Inverness

Young minds — as well as young bodies — should have room to expand, places to explore, things to keep them busy. And other young people to share experiences with. At Inverness there's a five-acre playfield for all the running and tumbling one needs . . . plus baseball and football fields. There's a Girl's Club and a Boy's Club.

Magnificent wooded homesites are still available in Inverness for a few discriminating families who want only the best. A homesite here is one way to plan for the future—the wonderful way of life that is Inverness. Property such as this is impossible to find except here and is sure to increase in price. The number of sites is limited. Inverness homesites are big—contain 1 to 5 acres of rolling countryside with high plateaus and deep ravines; the trees are generations old.

An Inverness homesite is for the family with a future . . . a future you can assure by purchasing now and building when you desire. Watch your land investment grow and at the same time assure yourself of the location of your choice. Inverness sites can be purchased under contract, much like building a monthly savings account.

Inverness homesites—1 to 5 acres—are beautiful, unusually so. They are priced from $6,000 to $18,500. Inverness is an established community of over 25 years offering outstanding living. The roll of the land just naturally offers breathtaking views from the hilltop sites.

Man's improvements on nature include blacktop roads, miles of bridle paths, a private stable, a private 18-hole golf course and swimming pool, a community house and well-kept tennis courts.

Too, a superior school system, fine churches, excellent shopping, and convenient commuter transportation are all close at hand.

Drive Out To Inverness This Weekend! Come to the 4-silo office (open daily), the distinctive landmark on Baldwin Road just west of Northwest Highway (Route 14), between Palatine and Barrington. Inverness is very convenient to the Northwest Toll Road.

Beautiful Inverness homes, from $40,000 up, some new and others being sold by people leaving Chicagoland, are currently available. They are ready for your inspection.

Wiederin to Manage Telephone Office In Libertyville

Art Wiederin of Schaumburg has been named manager of Illinois Bell Telephone Company's Libertyville office.

He succeeds R. E. Montgomery, who was transferred as manager to River Grove.

Wiederin was promoted to the Libertyville position from a job as assistant manager of Arlington Heights. He joined Illinois Bell in 1957 as a salesman in Cicero and served later in that capacity at Harvey and Wheaton.

In 1959 he became account salesman in Wheaton and later sales manager at Arlington Heights. He was in Elgin before coming to his most recent post at Arlington Heights.

WIEDERIN lives at 21 Westover Lane with his wife and three children.

He will be succeeded in the Arlington Heights office by Joseph Mulay, 1161 Hickory Lane, Elk Grove.

Mulay worked in the company's training program in River Grove before his promotion. Prior to that he was an installer. (BB

Asks 'Weeds of Socialism' Be Plowed Under

This is the time of the year when the farmer is busy reaping the fruits of his labors of many months. His results depend upon careful selection of the right kind of seed, proper preparation of the soil, timely sowing of the seed, meticulous cultivation during the growing period, and, of course, the weather. His decisions are based upon knowledge accumulated through the past modified by modern, scientific tools. The results have been an American agriculture which has, year after year, been able to produce an overabundance despite the uncertainties of weather and a declining farm population.

In government a similar situation exists. The seeds that are sown are the basic philosophy of the people. The soil is the people. The cultivation is politics. The weather is the uncertain day-to-day problems. Oh, yes—there is also a harvest time.

Let's relate this to today. The seeds were carefully selected in 1776, the soil was properly prepared and they were sown with the adoption of our Constitution. At first cultivation was careful and meticulous; however, in modern times weeds have been allowed not only to grow but, at times, have been cultivated in preference to the crop sown. The weeds of socialism at the present time are beginning to choke out the crop of freedom planted by our forefathers. We are even told today by some of our leaders that these weeds of socialism are far better than the crop of freedom.

WHY HAVE WE allowed the weeds to gain such a foothold? It is because we have not cultivated continuously the crop of freedom. We have been apathetic and have allowed the Fabian Socialists to cultivate the weeds. Our continued apathy may well allow an early harvest of these weeds.

What can you do about this? First, you can get out into the field, open your eyes and see these weeds. You then must cultivate the crop sown by our founding fathers with every bit of energy you can muster. How do you do this? You get to work actively in your political party—yes, you volunteer to do whatever needs to be done. At the same time you help your precinct, ward and township committeeman to do everything possible to support the philosophy of our founding fathers, and to plow under the weeds of Fabian Socialism. In addition, you write your Congressman and Senators and tell them how you feel. Don't neglect local, county, and State government. When the time comes for elections, be informed on all issues and candidates. You cannot do this in one day. Diligent attention on your part for the next year concerning issues and candidates for local, county, State, and Federal offices will allow you to cast your vote as an informed, intelligent voter.

Will you harvest the crop of freedom or will you harvest the weeds of socialism? It's up to you. Start your cultivation now!

Readers Reminisce About Old Palatine-Wauconda Railroad

THE PALATINE, Lake Zurich and Wauconda R.R. is shown in operation about 40 years ago. Several readers have supplied their recollections of this small railroad as it was during and after World War I.

Thank you for publishing my letter in your Palatine Enterprise Sept. 19.

I received numerous replies, all of them giving me a great deal of information regarding the Palatine, Lake Zurich and Wauconda R.R.

Part of a letter from Mrs. George Howes, 248 N. Bothwell St., Palatine, read as follows:

"My father, Wm. H. Brockway, was the conductor for that railroad. We moved to Wauconda then and I had many happy times traveling that railroad to Palatine to high school, which was sometime between 1916-1919."

Mr. R. H. Sanford, 58 N. Plum Grove Ave., Palatine, wrote me a nice letter, a copy of which I am enclosing, as well as a photo of the train that may interest some of your readers.

MR. SANFORD'S letter follows:

"As a boy of 13, my parents brought me to Palatine in 1920.

"The R.R. you speak of was in operation then. I think it began around 1914. Roads were such that it was the only means of transport between Palatine and Wauconda, if it rained or snowed, other than by horses.

"It was dubbed the P. L. Z. and its name was short for Palatine, Lake Zurich and Wauconda.

"IT WAS intended to run it to Lake Geneva, but it only got to Wauconda.

"I rode in the box-car. It also owned two old coaches. Its first locomotive had a name, "Maud"—coal and steam. A light one, small, two drive wheels per side.

"Later got a heavier one, an old yard engine, four drives per side. It was too heavy and bent the rails and was sold.

"Then a White motor bus was used, flanged iron wheels replacing the regular road wheels. It was too light. Then a four-wheel drive bus built on a truck chassis was put into service, working well until the road was abandoned.

"LAST FOUR or five years it was known as the C. P. and W. R.R., short for Chicago, Palatine and Wauconda.

"Hauled two or three cars of milk daily from dairies in Lake Zurich and Wauconda. Engineer was Ed Klein. Fireman Henry Love. (Latter lost both feet when an engine step broke.)"

Again I wish to thank you for the favor you have extended in getting so much information for me.

Dislikes Way Things Handled

A note of congratulations to Mr. Bruce Ladd on his column, "Threat Strikes Home."

I feel Mr. Ladd has hit an important thought by objecting to the "procedure" of handling zoning in Arlington Heights. This is the objection of many people in my own neighborhood—"the way things are being handled by municipal officials."

Says Billions Needed for Illinois Roads

OSHKOSH, WIS., (UPI)—Milwaukee County Executive John Doyne, who has the only job of its kind in Wisconsin, said today it is an absolute necessity in most counties to have an elected county executive or an appointive county administrator.

Doyne, addressing the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention, said "before we can expect to get any kind of leadership at the county level, we must have a governmental framework suitable to handle our affairs.

"This framework does not include a headless government, nor a county board consisting of 40, 50 or 80 members."

DOYNE SAID he has come to the conclusion "we all must admit" that many county governments are not properly organized to accept the role of community-wide leadership.

"All counties should have some administrative leadership if they are to operate effectively, economically and in accordance with the demands that are presently being made upon them from their citizens," he said.

Milwaukee County is the only one in Wisconsin which has a county executive.

Doyne said an executive branch has given Milwaukee County government dignity in its association with other governments and has provided a "Vehicle for functional operation of government on a county-wide basis."

Offers Help To Form Plan In Aging Field

I would like to add a second to your excellent editorial last week, "A New Challenge for the Suburbs."

It is vitally important that groups already working in the field of the aging start working together on a coordinated program. A large part of the community is not even aware of services available or programs already under way. The Kramer Foundation, for example, has been working since 1961 on research and educational projects in Illinois nursing homes with emphasis on medical and psychosocial aspects of patient care.

Establishing communication, as you suggest, can be started by representatives of all groups interested in aging meeting together at the community level. We offer the Activity Room of the Plum Grove Nursing Home for meetings, the extensive library of the Kramer Foundation, and any services which the professional members of our staff may be able to give.

Says Counties Need Executive Leadership

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — Illinois faces the need for providing for $5 billion worth of highway modernization and new construction in the next 10 years, according to Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works.

Addressing the 69th annual meeting of the American Public Works Association in Detroit, Lorenz said that highway needs in the Chicago metropolitan area will require an expenditure of $2 billion to meet traffic demands and that $3 billion will be needed in downstate Illinois.

He said that Illinois also must meet the demands of its state universities and colleges for expanded facilities to meet the continual increase in enrollment. He said another need is the expansion of existing recreational facilities and the creation of new ones.

Kerner Tells Steps To Break Crime Grip

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI)—Gov. Otto Kerner today said the Illinois Crime Commission "has great possibilities, particularly if it does its job objectively and without political considerations."

He said the commission will be able to serve as a "backstop" to local law enforcement agencies.

Kerner said the ultimate goal of the crime commission and of other similar efforts is "a state free of organized crime and corruption."

HE POINTED to the work of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, "which has handed me down more than 18 times as many revocations and suspensions of liquor licenses as previous commissions, for such violations as gambling and selling liquor to minors."

"Another area where we have stepped up enforcement is at the horse race tracks," said Kerner. He said the recently formed state bureau of race track police has "one mission—to fight crime."

The governor also pointed to the investigations which have uncovered irregularities in a number of state police districts.

"The great majority of our state policemen are honest," Kerner said. "We owe it to them and to the public to weed out those pockets of dishonesty. That we are doing."

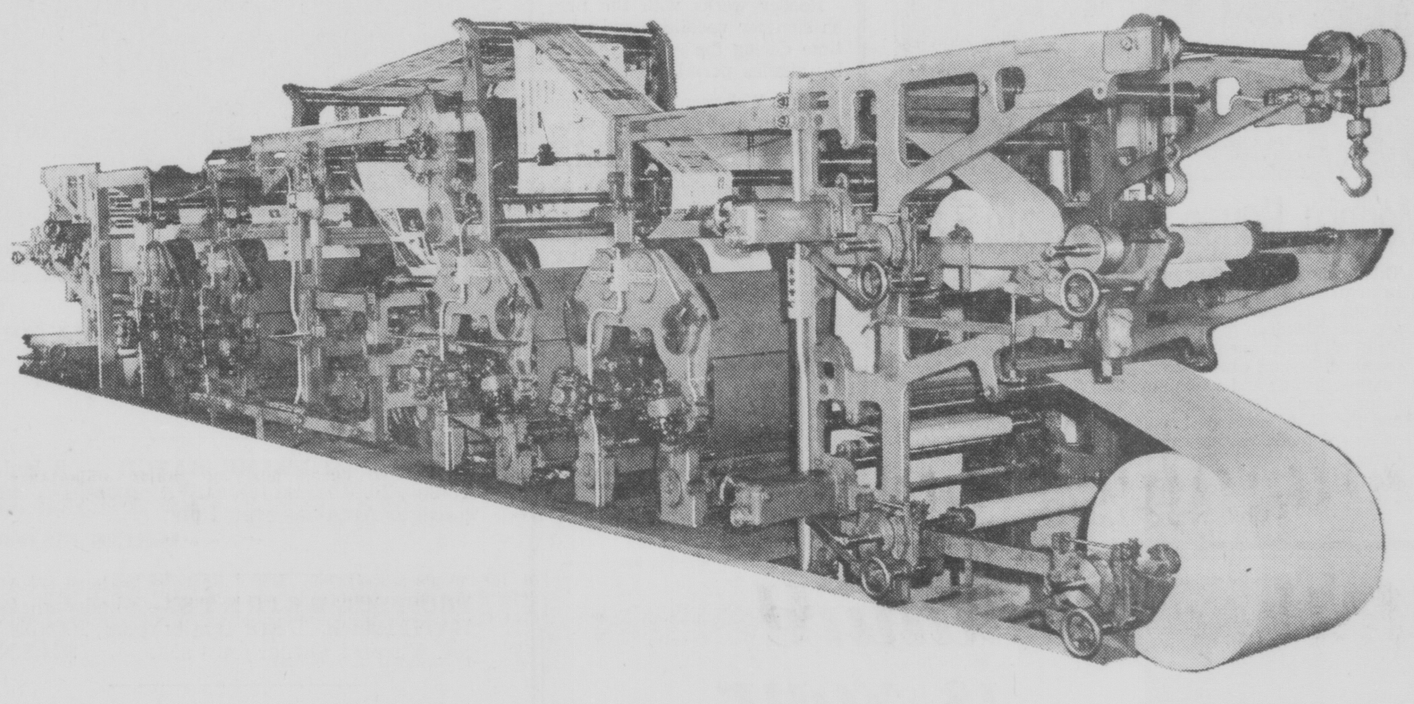
National Newspaper Week October 13-19, 1963



MEET THE PRESS

It's National Newspaper Week — a time when all of us pause to salute the Four Freedoms that we cherish so much, for it's the newspaper press, shown above, that insures those Four Freedoms for all of us.

No, it's not just the press above, the one standing over at Paddock's that's the guardian of all of that responsibility for all of us.

It's the zillions of presses, the four-color giants, the 144-pager on the west coast in the office of the Van Nuys News; the 8-page Duplexes, in hundreds of small shops in rural America; and the flat-bed Miehles that turn out four pages at a time.

All too many times we take our freedom for granted. We become so used to doing just what we want, when we want to, and the way we wish, that we forget the years of trial and tribulation that preceded the coming of the printing press. Kings and lords ruled the masses, taxed the citizens, and disposed of the lives of their countrymen as they wished.

With the coming of America, those Four Freedoms were enumerated and cherished. Benjamin Franklin was one of the first to create the headlines, and tell the story, of America's fight for freedom, and to help make certain those freedoms would stand forever.

There are those who feel times have changed, that you are better off without those freedoms. They speak of regimentation of your life, your time, your thoughts, and attempt to persuade you you're better off in a socialized world.

Don't let them take those freedoms from you! Your newspaper stands ready to help you protect those rights, to expose the truth, to be a constant guardian of liberty.

Yes, the 48-page Goss Universal at Paddock's stands ready to do your bidding, to speak your piece. Let it tell you what's going on in town, what your friends are doing, and give you the facts about your schools, your churches, your stores.

And make certain that when the time comes that someone wants to take any of those four freedoms from you, rally 'round, wake up that press, and let it speak for you.

It's Your Press! It's Your Life! It's Your Freedom!

Homemakers Tell Shopping Views

THURS., OCT. 17, 1963

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

MRS. GRAHAM MORGAN, first candidate for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year title, surrounds herself in her home with pictures of her children and mementoes of her "adopted" children, the many young people who have benefited from her concern and deep loving kindness for all youth. Rating a place of prominence in the living room is the bridal photo of her daughter, Kathleen Grunder, who nominated her mother as "Homemaker of the Century."

Shopper Survey Staged

by DOROTHY MEYER

When Arlington Heights homemakers do their supermarket shopping they'd like the bread they buy to be the last item to go into the cart, and they wish the former "have a cup of coffee on us" practice was still in effect.

These were two of the many divergent shoppers' views expressed by 22 local women last Tuesday afternoon when they were guests of Jewel-Osco at luncheon in Old Orcahrd Country Club. The group was selected by Jewel-Osco as a cross-section of suburban housewifery, and the women's opinions about supermarket shopping were invited by their hosts, three representatives of the new Jewel-Osco store, tentatively scheduled to open in downtown Arlington Heights early next month.

BILL NEWBY, community relations man, spoke briefly about the Jewel-Osco concept. Next Eugene Tagliapietra, manager of the Jewel Tea Co. section of the store, and Tom Hoye, speaking for the Osco chain, took their luncheon guests on an imaginary walk-through of the new store. Then Mrs. Arlington Heights was invited to have her say.

Newby explained that Jewel-Osco assumes the average shopper prefers to find just food in a food store, saying, "We don't feel that you like having to go through a lot of kitchen gadgets and clothing items to get to the grocery needs on your shopping list." However, since most housewives need daily non-food items, she wants to be able to get them on the same one-stop shopping trip.

Tagliapietra — nicknamed "Tag," naturally — and Hoye then showed their guests how this is accomplished by Jewel-Osco, guiding the ladies through the new store via a floor plan of the proposed lay-out. Grocery items are confined to one section and non-food items to another, but there is a common exit and only one check-out process is necessary. An express check-out counter will accommodate the shopper with only a few purchases, whether they are all-Jewel, all-Osco or a combination of both.

FLOOR PLAN OF new Jewel-Osco store in Arlington Heights was of prime interest to Arlington Heights homemakers Mrs. Robert M. Bishop and Mrs. Fred Empkie, who were among cross section of women lunching recently with store representatives to express their views on supermarket shopping. Eugene Tagliapietra, manager of the Jewel section, points out location of greeting card section.

OSCO. A name in chain drugstores for 25 years, will stock the usual drug supplies, gadgets, appliances and toys. There will be a registered pharmacist on duty at all times and a trained cosmetician will assist cosmetics shoppers. Film equipment and service will be available, as well as records, books, magazines and greeting cards.

Judging from the pleased reactions of the women, the availability of a relatively minor item, greeting cards, is of major importance. The idea of being able to pick up a greeting card and a loaf of bread in the same store apparently intrigues the average shopper.

A lively discussion concerning a loaf of bread resulted when one woman suggested having the bread stocked at the end of the shopping route instead of the beginning, so that it doesn't get crushed under heavier foodstuffs. The majority seemed to agree with her and Newby made a note of it.

ANOTHER LUNCHEON guest asked rather wistfully if Jewel will provide a cup of coffee for its shoppers as it has in the past in local stores. The men were sorry to report that it won't. The practice was discontinued because some shoppers leave half-filled cups of coffee "just anywhere" and they are spilled, damaging merchandise and inconveniencing other customers.

The most enthusiastic responses came with announcements of the "Patio Shop" and "dual-jet." The Patio Shop is the new name for the delicatessen section, undoubtedly one of Mrs. Arlington Heights' favorite departments.

Dual-jet is an entirely new process of stocking frozen foods which enables the items to be displayed at eye-level on easy-to-reach shelves. An obvious boon to women who have trouble reaching articles at the bottom of conventional freezer cases, this announcement brought pleased grins to the faces of "shorties" in the group.

EASIER, FRIENDLIER customer contact with the butchers servicing the meat department will be another feature of the new store, Newby explained. Although the meat cutters have always been ready and willing to fulfill special requests of the customers, Newby said that the closed-off, "don't bother us" atmosphere of the glass partition tends to discourage the "timid" shopper. This has been eliminated with a "new look" that invites customer requests.

Mrs. Arlington Heights was reluctant to end the afternoon's discussion, but school's-out time came and she had to leave for home and children. Her thoughtful suggestions, and comprehensive questions and responses left little doubt that the lady in charge of the budget is a thorough, intelligent shopper.

First Entry in Search

Daughter Nominates Mother for Top Honor

by HESTER KLINE

"I only wish that the title conferred could be 'Homemaker of the Century,'" a young woman wrote of her mother, the first entry in the second annual search for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Kathleen Morgan Gruner was visiting her parents, the Graham S. Morgans of 1010 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights, when she learned that Paddock Publications is again participating in the Suburban Press Foundation national search for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

MRS. MORGAN is the mother of three grown children, and the adopted mother of "a great many," her daughter reports. "She worked as a volunteer with the Cleveland Youth Bureau and was able to reach the deep, inner conflicts of teenage children in trouble with the law and to bring them to a deep and full understanding of what true kindness means," Mrs. Gruner wrote.

"This is a home that puts its arms around you," said a young man visiting in the Morgan home.

A Girl Scout leader for 13 years, Mrs. Morgan sings in the church choir and serves on various school and church committees to round out her civic activities. Several years ago, with her children grown, she entered the world of business and operates the Executive Secretarial Service in Arlington Heights.

THERE ARE many women in the northwest area who measure up to these high standards of suburban homemaking, and who qualify for nomination in the Suburban Homemaker of the Year quest.

All that is necessary is for a friend or relative, a club or organization to which they belong, to nominate them, using the official entry blank and telling in a letter of 500 words the nominee's qualifications.

Entries close at midnight Nov. 2, and during the following week a panel of five judges will review the entries to choose the woman who best qualifies as the northwest suburban representative to the national Suburban Homemaking Conference in Chicago Nov. 21 and 22.

THE OUTSTANDING local homemaker will receive a $50 gift certificate from Paddock Publications and numerous other valuable prizes from area businesses. She will be eligible for the national grand award of $5,000 given by the American Dairy Assn.

There are rewards for the person or organization sponsoring the winning homemaker. Paddock Publications is offering $50 to the writer of the letter which nominates the local winner, and the Suburban Press Foundation has announced a $500 prize for the writer of the letter nominating the national Suburban Homemaker.

Dehydrated Sandwich Developed

WICHITA, KAN., (UPI) — A food expert said that development of foods for American space flights will lead to new products for the home.

Dr. Herbert Hollander, Chicago, director of the foods division, Armed Forces Food and Container Institute, spoke at a Kansas conference of persons in the food industry.

He said one of the developments for space flights was a bite-sized dehyrdated sandwich, that rehydrates in the mouth without the addition of water.

Challenge for Leadership

Suburban Leaders Praise Goal of Homemaker Search

by HESTER KLINE

The role of the suburban homemaker has changed as dramatically as Chicago and the new Fords.

Leaders in suburban living hail the recognition being given the 1963 model in the current search for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Even the men, bless them, are aware of the importance and stature of today's homemaker.

"The homemaker plays a very important part in the well-being of the community," said Mayor John J. Woods of Rolling Meadows. "There is a definite value to recognition of the contribution to the community by the average homemaker. The Suburban Homemaker of the Year title singles out one outstanding woman to represent all the others who may be fulfilling their duties under unusual circumstances or heavy burdens of family responsibility."

THE PURPOSE behind the national Suburban Homemaker of the Year search, according to Chester K. Hayes, executive director of the Suburban Press Foundation, sponsor of the search "goes far behind the mere paying of tribute to an important segment of our nation's citizens.

"More than one-third of our population now lives in suburban communities, and by the 1970s that figure may be changed to one-half. Suburban homemakers are facing a real challenge for leadership. To stimulate that leadership, to present that challenge to suburban homemakers are two of the objectives of the Suburban Homemaker of the Year award."

The criteria of the official rating chart compiled by national authorities last year for judging nominees represent, as far as is known, the first time the responsibilities and attributes of the homemaker have been completely spelled out. So comprehensive is that rating chart that departments of home economics in universities and colleges throughout the country have requested copies to include among their teaching materials. Thus young women are learning what a demanding yet satisfying role is the profession of today's homemaker.

"THE HOUSEWIFE now purchases many services she once performed," said Carl Mees of the University of Illinois extension service, and for years "Mr. Farm Bureau" in North Cook County. "She no longer preserves her own food, but purchases ready-prepared meals; she has automatic heat so she doesn't have to fire the furnace; she takes the children to the hospital when they get sick; she has automatic laundry equipment rather than using the old 'scrub board.'"

In return for these conveniences, he commented, she must have a better knowledge of family living, child relationship, consumer economics, interior decorating, dietetics, "n[illegible]'o mention the capacity t[illegible] ball in Little League a[illegible]auffeur her commuting husband."

Then too, she canvasses for community funds, serves on PTA committees and volunteers for other civic activities she considers worthwhile, he added.

"I THINK we should look to our suburban homemaker today in these broad terms, as the Saturday Evening Post pointed out, 'not because she is cute, but because she has brains, charm, knowledge, courage, sensitivity and education that are needed in our everyday struggle.'

"I hope your search for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year will vividly portray the changing role and the additional duties of the homemaker," Mees concluded, "and that the 'hub of activity' in any family is still in the home under the leadership of mother."

"Suburban newspapers, too, have a responsibility and a challenge as the fast-growing communications medium closest to America's suburban families," interjected Hayes. "They too must grow and develop with their communities, keeping pace with today's changing pattern of living.

"Thus it is entirely fitting that the Suburban Press Foundation newspapers are taking the initiative in paying tribute to the suburban homemaker and her vital role in shaping our present and future."

Price Cut Offered To Dryer Buyers

Public Service Company currently is offering $20 toward the purchase of an electric clothes dryer at any appliance dealer in local communities.

The bonus discount is available to its customers in October and November.

At the same time, low-cost wiring can be arranged for dryer installations in the electric company's service area. Only $29.95 is charged for standard wiring improvements needed to operate the electric dryer in a single family home.

When necessary the wiring modernization includes a new 100 ampere service entrance with expanded housepower capacity plus the 240-volt circuit to the dryer.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Who's Laughing Now!

Periodically I feel called upon to defend the female of the species. It is quite possible that there is no defense necessary as all the females of my acquaintance are quite capable of defending themselves. Maybe I just like causes.

Men have moaned for years about the inroads made by women into things always considered the prerogative of the male. Men weren't too hot on the idea that women should vote. Or drive cars. Or play golf. Or bowl. And, especially, go into business. But, we fixed their wagons, didn't we?

MARY

However, there are a couple of things that have come to my attention indicating that men are sneaking into some forms of endeavor usually associated with women. I have a friend that feels that he must take over the cooking every now and then. He starts small like with a can of Campbell's soup but from then on he is off in all directions. I haven't personally tasted his concoction but after hearing how he jazzes it up with wine, bitters, Italian sausage and garnished with raw cucumber and avocado, I'm not too sure I want to.

It is a well known fact that we women look to Paris for styles to be set in hair and clothing. According to word I have just had fro mthat city, it won't be long now fellas. This friend of mine and her husband were walking down a rue in Paris looking for that most prosaic of places, a barber shop. Hubby needed a haircut. Finally she spied a sign reading, COIFFURES-MESSIEURS. Feeling this was bound to mean something about men's haires. hubby went in to be shorn.

Before hubby knew what was up, an operator had shampooed his hair, cut it in a fancy cut with a razor, set it, tied a net over it and clapped him under a dryer. My friend was bug-eyed and convulsed. Her husband was just bug-eyed. And, may be a mite paralyzed. Friend wrote that hubby did look elegant when he emerged but I'm willing to wager he won't do that again.

Does this mean that soon men in their bull sessions will stop talking about football, baseball, women, stock market, women, hockey and women? Maybe, over their beers, they will drift into a discussion about who sets your hair, what kind of cut, what color do you use and like topics. It's rather a frightening thought but, in the space age, anything is possible.

Autumn colors, warm days and cool nights plus the area's unspoiled beauty bring thousands of fall visitors to Wisconsin Dells—Lake Delton. Modern sightseeing launches provide unobstructed views of autumn-tinted forests and amazing cliff and rock formations. Winter also attracts its share of visitors who enjoy the fun of winter sports.

Legend Says Old Indian Pyramids on Lake Bottom

LAKE MILLS, WIS., (UPI) — The legend that there are pyramids on the bottom of Rock Lake lives on here because no one's disproved it.

Since a reported sighting in 1907 by the town's Mayor Claude Wilson and a friend Lee Wilson, the townspeople have liked to think there are pyramids on the lake bottom, left over from an ancient Indian civilization.

If nothing else, according to the editor of the Lake Mills Leader, W. J. Erlandson, the people want to preserve the legend until it is proved or disproved.

OFFICIALLY the pyramids have never been geographically located, but a pilot said once that he saw three pyramid shaped objects in the lake while flying over, and a deep sea diver, Max Nohl, said he saw a pyramid on one of his plunges and claims that he even photographed it, but the pictures have never been released to the public.

Skin divers searched the lake bottom last year but found no evidence of pyramids, though they found that the lake appeared to be an old river bottom. The divers assured the local citizens that their search was not conclusive.

The pyramid legend has been temporarily memorialized in the name of a local restaurant, the Pyramid Club, a Pyramid Square Dance Club and a column in the local paper called The Pyramid, written weekly by the wife of Editor Erlandson.

Hawaii Provides 'Young' Magic

The Hawaiian Islands possess a magic that makes everyone young. Young people stay that way and oldsters, arriving from elsewhere, throw cares away and join in the fun.

Many of them haven't been to a beach in years, but it's the thing to do in Hawaii, so new bathing suits are purchased and worn with pleasure. And the best thing about it is that retired people actually find they have fun as they participate in the islands' magic.

Unique Boating In Philippines

Along the Pagsanjan River, about 65 miles from Manila, in the Philippines, visitors can take a unique boat ride.

Boats enter a gorge that is lined by steep, orchid-decorated cliffs. The silence is broken by wild monkeys which chatter their annoyance at an invasion of their provacy, or by tropical birds. Two boatmen lift a boat through the shallow parts, but the rushing water carries the boats back over them at an exciting, but quite safe, speed.

A 400-square-mile island in the Pacific, Tahiti has some of the most beautiful scenery to be found anywhere. Blue-green peaks rise almost 8,000 feet and streams and waterfalls cascade from towering heights to the coast below.

Kite-fighting is a sport indigenous only to Thailand. Contests are held on a sports field in Bangkok and the kites represent two sexes, male and female, and are made of paper and bamboo frames. It is amusing to watch the kites in action, as each strives to overcome the other and carry its tangled victim back to its own territory.

Exciting Boat Ride: Hong Kong

One of the most exciting boat rides in the world is across Hong Kong Harbor from Kowloon to Victoria, the capital city on Hong Kong Island.

Although it takes only about six minutes, and costs the equivalent of three cents in North American money (even cheaper in second class), the fantastic view of Hong Kong's hills, the junks, sampans, ocean liners and everything else in the crowded harbor that floats is a sight to be remembered forever.

RARE SIGHT — When visiting Manila, in the Philippines, tourists invariably visit Tagaytay Ridge, about 40 miles away. Located on a promontory 2,250 feet above sea level, it commands a perfect view of Lake Taal and Taal Volcano.

The Philippines Offers

Great Scenery, People

by JACK P. GABRIEL

MANILA, THE PHILIPPINES — There are so many things to see and do in the Philippines that making a choice can become a problem. Manila itself, flattened in World War II, has risen again in modern glory to become one of the great capitals of the Pacific. Its last census, in 1958, gave this city a population of a million and a half, but it is now estimated at close to two million.

Education is high in this English-speaking country which has close ties to the United States; there are 11 universities in Manila, with an enrollment of 40,000 in Far Eastern University alone. The schools, however, have a system which includes the youngsters of grade school, those of high school and college age as well.

THE PRESIDENTIAL Palace, situated on the Tasig River in the center of town, can be visited by tourists. The President makes his home there and his private apartments, of course, are not included in such itineraries. The great crystal chandeliers in the main public rooms, the state dining rooms, the gardens and the bamboo house on the river are of considerable interest.

When the city has been thoroughly inspected, a number of one-day trips into the country offer an interesting way to spend time. One of the best is to Tagaytay, high on a hill about 40 miles from Manila.

Visitors may lunch at Taal Vista Lodge and look down from an elevation of 2,250 feet at Lake Taal with its unique volcano which is an island crater containing another lake and a still smaller island in its center. Excursions to the smoking crater can also be arranged, but the sulphuric fumes do not invite one to linger for very long. The panorama from the Lodge is really stunning, and close enough for all but the most rugged tourist.

THE AMERICAN Memorial Cemetery just outside Manila is one of the most beautiful and moving monuments in the world. About 17,000 American soldiers are buried here and headstones in the form of a cross are made of imported Italian marble. An occasional Star of David, rather than a cross, marks the resting place of Jewish lads who died with their companions of other faiths. In a lovely building, the names of 36,000 men reported missing are inscribed for posterity. No one can fail to be impressed by the beauty of this cemetery.

In nearby Las Pinas, a suburb of Manila, visitors can see the famed bamboo organ, only one of its kind. It's suspended high in the local church and if you're lucky, you may hear it being played, for it's tone is magnificent.

Farther away, about 180 miles north, is Baguio, the summer capital. A plane gets you here in less than an hour, or you can make the interesting drive in about five hours. This is in the mountains and is a favorite retreat from the heat of Manila. It is a beautifully located city, nestling on many hills and its modern homes will fill visitors with envy at their comfort and the year-round temperature. The central market place in Baguio should not be missed.

IF TOURISTS lack a personal interest in purchasing the local fruit and vegetables, an inspection of those edibles is still astonishing for the vast array is a wondrous thing. The enormous section containing the artifacts and wooden carvings of the Philippines turns up items that North Americans have never seen and which make them feel they can no longer live without.

Unusual wooden masks, carved fruit and vegetables, just about everything that is made of wood is here, all selling cheaply by our standards, and all making unusual presents for friends back home, as well as for ourselves. The Pines Hotel, or The Country Club, are the best places for visitors to stay, although Baguio is a city of hotels.

For beach lovers, a new resort on the South China Sea about 25 miles from Baguio is the answer. Cresta Ola is its name, and it offers comfortable rooms with three meals a day at less than $10. It has its own swimming pool, a miniature golf course that is great fun, and its seaside location makes it a bargain at the low rates being charged.

FROM BAGUIO, one follows a winding road over scenically beautiful mountains to reach the resort in about one hour. There are almost no beach resorts in the Philippines, and Cresta Ola fulfills a need, although its success will probably inspire a rash of them throughout the country. A coral reef some way out controls the surf, and keeps out any large fish that may be hazardous to safe swimming.

Although Manila has the largest Chinese population of any city outside China, that section of the city has never been widely opened to tourists.

Located in the oldest part of Manila, a new tour now takes visitors to restaurants in the Chinese quarter, fascinating in itself because of the ancient architecture that was originally Spanish but has been converted by the Chinese. The food in restaurants in this quarter is fine and inexpensive, and a visit to one of them should provide a few lasting memories, as well as a full stomach.

All travelers should know that the Filipinos are the most hospitable people on earth. It will be worth anyone's effort to secure a personal invitation to a resident of this country; if you can do that, you're in luck! For more information on the Philippines, write to Pacific Area Travel Association, 442 Post St., San Francisco, Calif.

Colorful Race Track in Bombay

In Bombay, India, the Mahalakshmi Race Track is one of the most colorful in the world and takes on a particularly festive appearance during the racing season in August. At that time, Indian beauties display richly hued silks in the latest fashions. Similar facilities are offered during the racing season in Poona, a few miles from Bombay.

Macau Pleasant Change of Pace

Macau is a most pleasant place to visit, after the hustle of busy Hong Kong just 40 miles away.

There is no problem with local manners and customs, although Macau is controlled by Portugal and has a mostly-oriental population. The mystery and intrigue of old time novels does not prevail any more, but Macau manages to remain exciting because of its reputation and the fact that Red China is just on the other side of a gate.

New Caledonia Is 'Paradise'

A French-owned island in the South Pacific, New Caledonia played an important part in World War II. Although the servicemen stationed there in those days did not think of it as a tropical paradise, visitors who go there now know that it is one.

The delicious French food in the local restaurants, the shopping bargains and the lovely beaches all conspire to make it a paradise.

Malaya Unlike Rest of Asia

Malaya differs greatly from other Asian countries in that it has a multi-racial population. Visitors there will find as much local color as in any country in the world.

Although it is only a few degrees from the equator, Malaya does not have the extreme high temperatures of continental tropical areas and there is little variation of temperature throughout the year.

Relax in Nature

Wisconsin-- Good Escape

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

A couple of weeks ago I suggested that a day or two spent among Wisconsin hills and lakes would make for a relaxing fall holiday. Having just returned from sampling my own advice I'm not so sure it was sound.

If, as Charlie Brown maintains, "Happiness is a Warm Puppy," surely it follows that "Unhappiness is that Idiot behind You with his Finger on the Horn."

Although that idiot's natural habitat must be the expressways, for speeds of less than 75 miles an hour produce the finger-horn reflex, he is being found in increasing numbers on narrow winding country lanes. Several of his species are lost in Wisconsin's Kettle Moraine Forest where they are wandering around making life far from relaxing for contemplative souls.

WELCH

A member of the same species is the transistor-radio-carrier and he, too, is infesting the woods in greater and greater numbers.

The only recourse is flight. Take to the woods on foot. This species is usually not found in the inner portions of a forest.

In the northern section of the vast Kettle Moraine Forest, which begins just above West Bend, it is still possible to get away from it all. In fact, at this time of year you'll get away from such amenities as charcoal sold at handy park stands, so take some with you if you plan to cook out. The stands are closed, although firewood is sold in camping areas but only once a day at a certain time.

The shores of Long Lake within the forest offer one of the most secluded spots for a steak-broil and the sun going down into the lake provides a splendid climax to a day's hike among the crackling leaves. Don't forget the flashlights, either, for city eyes forget how bottomless is the dark in the forest after the sun goes down and an ankle twisted on a tree root is not the kind of travel souvenir you want to take home.

From Kettle Moraine Forest we drove east to Sheboygan, mentally remodeling into summer homes all of the wonderful barns with stone foundations we saw along the way. Kohler, just outside Sheboygan, was a golden world beside a river, made more golden by the sun pouring through golden leaves.

Turning south, I never pass up Smith Brothers Fish Shanty and its frozen fish chowder in cartons to take home. A new addition to the Port Washington scene is a century-old anchor mounted on a monument as a memorial to the brave seamen of the past who lost their lives in long ago Lake Michigan storms and other disasters.

As the road continued south the back of the station wagon began to look a little crowded. Squash, cider jugs, apples and fall mums vied for floor space with driftwood picked up along the lake shore at Sheboygan. South of Milwaukee it was back to the hornblowers and the lanejumpers on the expressway and the realization that, relatively, the Wisconsin lakes and hills had been relaxing after all, and that the memory of Long Lake at sundown made it all worthwhile.

Newcomers Jam Old Orchard for 'Hats Off to Fashion'

AT HOME ENSEMBLE by Jack Winter modeled by Mrs. Leslie Graham included gold stretch pants, bold top and the newest in footwear, boots. Mrs. Graham was one of the 10 members of Arlington Heights Newcomers Club who modeled Carson's fashions in "Hats Off to Fashion."

SMALL-BRIMMED HAT of plush tapestry was chosen by Mrs. Donald Bohlken to complement her woolen ensemble, while Mrs. Robert Scanlon chose a black whimsey for her combination knit and suede suit. The women, both of Arlington Heights, were among 400 who attended recent Newcomers Club luncheon and fashion show.

FASHION WAS EVERYWHERE—on the runway and in the audience—last week when Arlington Heights Newcomers presented "Hats Off to Fashion." Anticipating the luncheon and showing were Mrs. Frank DeSimone and Mrs. Donald Schmidt, both of Arlington Heights and both members of the club. Next program for the club will be a "Harvest Wine and Dine," a wine tasting party Oct. 26 in the Hartman House in Wheeling.

SLIM COLUMN OF FRENCH WOOL with black accessories was modeled by Mrs. Arnold Huggert in Newcomer's luncheon and fashion show, "Hats Off to Fashion" held Oct. 9 in Old Orchard Country Club. Fashions were from Carson's Randhurst Store with Carol Herman as commentator.

Inventory the Storage Space in Your House

Fall is a good time to take inventory of available storage space in your house. Why? Well, homemakers must bring out the heavier clothes and find a spot for the summer things, so storage is in the spotlight.

Don't limit your inventory to main closets in the living areas. In most cases, there is space available for storage in the basement, attic, or crawl space.

A large storage area in the basement or attic, for instance, is ideal for out-of-season items. This type of storage unit will free the other closets for seasonal clothes.

NOW THAT woolens and furs are being worn again, check to see if you have a safe storage area for these valuable items. They should be kept in a closet that is moth-repellent.

The home handyman can line an existing bedroom closet with moth-repellent red cedar over a weekend for less than what it would cost to replace a coat ruined by moths.

Aromatic red cedar closet lining is available at local lumber dealers in pre-packaged bundles.

The pieces of red cedar are applied by nailing them to the wall studs. Run them horizontally across the walls and ceiling. Since the pieces of cedar are tongue - and - grooved, they can be end-jointed at any point to save time and material.

LOCATE the studs by tapping the wall with a hammer or a stud finder. To make sure of the location, drive a nail into the wall. Studs usually are spaced 16" apart. All nailing should be studs.

After the cedar lining has been applied, trim the closet with quarter-round cedar molding. Special cedar shelving also is available.

Space - saving hangers and fixtures can be attached anywhere on the continuous wood surface of a cedar closet.

A cedar-lined closet does not require any finishing. An occasional dusting is the only maintenance required.

In addition to providing a moth-repellent storage area for clothes, aromatic red cedar establishes an informal woodgrain accent area in the bedroom. Most real estate people say that a cedar closet increases the appraisal value of a home by at least $100. (S

AN INVENTORY OF available storage space can suggest various home improvements, such as a central storage unit in the basement or a cedar-lined bedroom closet for woolens and furs. Basements, attics or crawl spaces may be utilized for more storage space for those out-of-season wardrobe items. (S

WINIFRED NELSON

Mrs. Gutzman To Host DAR Study Group

Mrs. Douglas Gutzman of Eli Skinner Chapter, DAR, will be hostessing the National Defense Study Group in her home at 344 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. This is an open meeting to which the public is invited.

Mrs. John Oster, regent, will be moderator for the discussion on "How Far Do We Go in the Separation of Church and State." No panel has been chosen to discuss this topic; rather the whole audience will be encouraged to participate.

The National Defense Committee, DAR, was established to be of assistance to its members in carrying out its patriotic, historical and educational purposes, and is working constantly in an effort to preserve the Constitutional Rights of all Americans. (S

Lyric Opera Group To Study 'Othello'

Winifred Nelson, soprano, will present an operalogue of Verdi's "Othello" on Thursday, Oct. 24, at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Thomas J. Johnson Jr., Barrington Hills, before members of Northwest Chapter of the Lyric Opera of Chicago.

KNOWN throughout Chicagoland for her public appearances in musical productions, including those of the Northwestern University Opera Workshop, Mrs. Nelson lives in Inverness and is the mother of five children.

Shakespeare's great drama, "Othello," is combined with the talents of the librettist, Arrigo Boito, and the musical genius of Guiseppe Verdi, resulting in a perfect fusion of music and libretto and the transformation of an Elizabethan play into an equivalent Italian romantic opera.

Arias illustrating the give and take between poetry and music typified by "Othello" will be sung by Mrs. Nelson assisted by Mrs. Forrest Elleman, also of Inverness.

THE TWO purposes of Northwest chapter are to have a series of operalogues in the Fall and Spring that will enhance the understanding and enjoyment of opera and to build a large group of opera enthusiasts who will support Lyric with a ten dollar yearly contribution. (S

'Dunton Doorsteps '63' Tour Depicts Town of Yesteryear

A beautiful Indian Summer afternoon greeted DAR members and their guests who took part Oct. 9 in "Dunton Doorsteps for 1963." A tour of eight homes built before 1874 when Arlington Heights was still known as Dunton, "Dunton Doorsteps" was proclaimed a huge success by DAR members, sponsors of the tour.

First on the tour, as it is the oldest home in this area, was the original William H. Dunton home built by him in 1845 and in which he lived until his death in 1896. In 1935 this home was moved to Hintz Road and is now the residence of John H. Bestmann, owner of the turkey farm.

Next on the tour was the William T. Kellogg home at 1005 N. State Road, where Mr. Kellogg has lived since boyhood. The home was built in 1892 by Theodore Preston Kellogg. The home houses Mr. Kellogg's collection of Indian relics and Mrs. Kellogg's collection of cut glass, china, household items and furniture.

NO. 3 E. EUCLID was built in 1871 by Charles Kennicott and has been restored by the Robert Nelsons. The James Dunton home at 619 N. State Road was also built in 1871. Built by the younger son of Asa Dunton, the home was the show place of its day. From the roof, the people of the town could see the flames of the Chicago fire that same year. The house was purchased last year by Earl, Robert and Margaret Reinert.

A Methodist congregation erected in 1860 is now the south end of the Evangelical Free Church at 404 N. Dunton. The Methodists occupied this corner for 96 years before moving to a new church on E. Euclid Ave. The parsonage to the west of the church was also open for the tour.

The Klehm name has been identified with Arlington Heights for 110 years. The sisters, Henriette and Lillian Klehm, now reside in the Klehm home built in 1895 by George Klehm, son of the Pioneer, John Klehm. Many family water colors adorn the walls of this home.

THE LEONARD Weidners restored the John Carson home which was built in 1842, and is now located at 1034 S. Pine. It is the second oldest home in this area.

Refreshments were served at the Chandelier Shop, 35 S. Vail, built in 1869 or '70 by Fred Schulenburg and in which a gift shop is now operated by Mrs. Charles Look and Edward R. May. Refugees of the Chicago fire were housed here in 1871.

Eli Skinner Chapter is indebted to Daisy Paddock Daniels, honored Memorial Day, 1963, by the VFW as "Citizen of the Year" for her work in history and for the selection of homes and the historic commentaries on these and other homes compiled for the Dunton Doorsteps brochure, which can now be purchased for 50 cents.

The group is also indebted to Mrs. Daniels as curator of the Historical Society for the display of pertinent historic items of interest on the tour. Her home has remained open for the perusal of interested individuals and many youth groups and school children.

Due to the many comments, all favorable, Eli Skinner Chapter will plan a Dunton Doorsteps for 1964 at the next regular board meeting, Thursday, Oct. 17 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. J. A. Beitzel. (S

'American Home' Is Theme Of District Junior Meeting

The "American Home" will be the theme when the Junior Organization of the Seventh District of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs holds its regular fall meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in Northwest Suburban YMCA. Hostess clubs for the evening are the Schaumburg and Des Plaines Junior Woman's Clubs.

Principal speaker for the meeting is Mrs. Marvin Bradshaw, State American Home Chairman, who will explain her program for the year and give practical suggestions for implementing it on the individual club level. Mrs. Roger Cantola, junior program chairman, explained:

"SINCE THE Seventh District's point of emphasis this year is American Home, we feel it is especially appropriate and we are especially fortunate in being able to have Mrs. Bradshaw as speaker for our first meeting. I am sure her comments will enable all of our clubs to participate more intelligently and more fully on the work of the Illinois Federation."

Mrs. Harold A. Thompson, new Seventh District Junior Director, will preside at the meeting and speak briefly on the motto she has chosen for her term in office, "Learn to Listen; listen to learn." Mrs. Thompson will point out how application of this theme can be carried over into experiences and duties other than club work.

REFRESHMENTS for the evening will be provided by the American Home department of the Schaumburg Junior Woman's Club. Members will apply skills learned in their department this year and bake and decorate children's birthday cakes to be displayed and served with coffee.

Federation guests expected to attend are: Mrs. Myron Hartley, State Junior Director, Mrs. Savena Gorseline, Seventh District President, Mrs. Martin J. Rauscher, Seventh District 1st Vice President, and Mrs. Gordon T. Beckley, Seventh District Corresponding Secretary and former Seventh District Junior Director. (S

School Secretaries Host Dinner Meeting

North Suburban Educational Secretaries Association, which is comprised of more than 300 secretaries, is having its semi-annual dinner meeting Tuesday, Oct. 22 in Old Orchard Country Club beginning with a social hour at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Jeanne Kallan, solodramatist, will present the Broadway Comedy, "Little Me." Mrs. Kallan, who resides in Wilmette, has appeared in summer stock and also on T.V. Her latest TV shows are CBS "Repertoire Theatre" and "Route 66."

THIS IS the first time that the secretaries of Mount Prospect Public School District 57 have hosted a meeting of this type.

District 57 secretaries on committees for the event are Dorothy Patton, Myrtle Spaulding, Dorthea Lauritzen, Muriel Scott, Anita Robertshaw and Virginia Henneberry of the Administration Office, Bernice Taylor of Busse School, Mary Joern, Lions Park School, Ruth Skibbe and Phyllis Gross, Central, Dorothy O'Neil, Fairview, Carolyn McCornack, Lincoln, Lotus Zarat, Sunset, Dorothy Priehs and Ruth Gehl, Westbrook, and Jean Keys, Gregory. Mount Prospect Clubwomen Plan 3-Day Antique Show

Seventeen authorized dealers will display and sell their wares in a 3-day "Antique Fair" to be presented by Mount Prospect Woman's Club Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. and 2. To be held in Mount Prospect Country Club, sale hours will be from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day.

Mrs. Thomas Bodine is chairman of the show and Mrs. R. A. Davis is ticket chairman. Mrs. Davis may be contacted at CL 3-6320 for tickets, or they may be purchased at the door.

Mrs. Bodine stated that she was "very pleased that the show is causing so much excitement." It was in 1956 that the last antique fair was held in the area. "Antique lovers as well as those with a soft spot for beautiful things of years ago will enjoy the show," she added.

Luncheons, under Mrs. Vernon Moore, will be served in an indoor cafe. (S

Palatine Couple Mark Anniversary

Although they are already married for 51 years, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs, 147 S. Hale St., Palatine, celebrated their "golden" wedding date Sunday afternoon in Chicago. Reason for the delay was that Mrs. Jacobs was ill for some time, and it is only now that she feels up to a party.

The festivities Sunday were held in a Chicago hall, with 100 relatives and friends gathering for a buffet supper.

THE ANNIVERSARY pair purchased their Palatine home four months ago, moving here from Fort Myers, Fla. to be near their daughter and family of Arlington Heights. It is because of Mrs. Jacobs' illness that they decided to come back to the Chicagoland area, which is "home" to them.

The couple was married Feb. 13, 1912 and lived in Chicago until four years ago, when they decided to retire to Florida. Mr. Jacobs was in the painting and decorating business for 18 years prior to that.

John and Rose Jacobs have three children, Mrs. Eleanor Perry of Chicago, Mrs. Olaf (Dorothy) Rudd of Arlington Heights and John William Jacobs, who makes his home with his parents. They have three grandchildren. (S

Sorority Activities

Tri Delts Hear Member Talk on Travelers' Aid

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Tri Delta alumnae met October 16, for dessert in the home of Mrs. Donald Keane, 104 N. Waverly, Mount Prospect. Following a short business meeting, sorority members present heard one of their own alumna, Mrs. George Perrill of Park Ridge, speak on the work of Travelers' Aid.

Mrs. Perrill, who was a Delta Delta Delta at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, is active as a volunteer in Travelers' Aid, and anxious to enlist others in the northwest area who would like to donate a few hours each week to this service.

Next event on the Delta Delta Delta calendar is an Autumn Bridge Benefit to be held Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. in West Park Field House, 651 S. Wolf Road, Des Plaines. All Tri Deltas in the northwest suburbs are urged to form tables for this fund-raising affair, and may make reservations through Mrs. Russell Thiems, 437-1833.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Travel was the theme for the progressive dinner-rush party given by Lambda Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Oct. 2. Invitations in the form of maps and airplane tickets were sent to Mrs. Walter Pitney and Mrs. Edward Cox of Mount Prospect, Mrs. John Fredricke, Mrs. Henry Teste, Mrs. R. A. Larkin and Mrs. William Fallon of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Howard Pratt of Palatine and Mrs. M. Housh of Roselle.

First stop for the evening was Hawaii, where guests took part in a luau in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Regis Balkey. For the main course, guests and members visited the southern section of the country with an appropriate menu of southern fried chicken in the Palatine home of Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin. The atmosphere of the northwestern states was in evidence for the dessert and coffee served in the home of Mrs. Herbert Cunniff of Palatie.

"Cordial" of the evening was films of San Francisco and Hawaii, shown through the courtesy of United Airlines, Elk Grove Township.

GAMMA PHI BETA

Gamma Phi Betas' monthly meeting will be held next week.

Feature attraction will be a wine-tasting demonstration given by Armanetti's, of Rolling Meadows.

Not only will the ladies of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae chapter be imbibing, but it is hoped they will be learning, too; learning how to cook gourmet dishes; learning what wine is proper to serve with particular foods; learning something of the history of winemaking in this country and abroad.

Since a large group of women is expected to attend the meeting, it is being held in the home of Mrs. Robert Green, 139 N. Ashland, Palatine. Gamma Phis from Barrington to Park Ridge are invited. Co-hostess for the Oct. 23 party is Mrs. Larry Larkin, 245 W. Johnson, Palatine.

ALL WILL NOT be play with the wine-drinking, cheese-eating ladies, however. They will be hearing a second report from convention chairman, Mrs. Walter Christopher, Park Ridge, who has been collaborating with a representative from the West Suburban Alumnae Chapter. The two groups are hostessing a luncheon at the sorority's June national convention. Theme that has been tentatively approved and for which local Gamma Phis will be creating favors and decorations, is "It's Greek to Me."

Several members of the Northwest Suburban chapter also spent the Oct. 12-13 weekend helping celebrate the 75th anniversary of Gamma Phi Beta's founding on the Northwestern University campus.

Among those attending a Saturday brunch and open house-buffet and Sunday tea were Mrs. Green and Mrs. Andrew Van Sickle of Arlington Heights.

Invite Secretaries To Membership Tea

Park-Plaines Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) invites all secretaries living or working in northwest Chicago, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Barrington and the surrounding area to attend a membership tea on Saturday, Oct. 26, at 2 p.m. in the home of Adeline Parmantier, 426 S. Chester, Park Ridge.

An amusing program has been planned, giving details about membership in the largest international organization for women in one profession.

Dianna Exner may be called at WA 2-3050 (bus. tele.) or FL 9-1348 (res. tele.) for details.

THREE PARK-Plaines members will attend the association's Great Lakes District conference the weekend of Oct. 25-27 in Cincinnati. Joining in the activities will be Miss Leona Wright, a delegate and also president of the chapter; Miss Lorraine Leseberg, vice president, and Mrs. Louise Kitto.

"To Produce Works One Must Have Knowledge" is the theme of the conference. The weekend will include regular business proceedings, panel discussions and entertainment. (S more steps than you imagine

When an estate is to be settled there seems to be no end to the long tedious procedure. It is easy for the uninitiated Executor to make a misstep. (But even accidental errors in judgment can be costly to the heirs.) This can be avoided. Our Trust Officers are expert in estate management and settlement. They know from broad experience exactly what steps to take,—and they do it with skill and confidence. If you are thinking about competent management for your own family affairs, why not call Mr. Heniken in our Trust Department today?

WHAT A DIFFERENCE three years makes! Think men's suit fashions don't change? Compare the difference in a 1960 suit (right) and a 1963 suit (left), both the Trend model tailored by Hart Schaffner & Marx. Note particularly the change in fabric colors. After three years of deep-toned fabrics, men's suits are coming out of the "darks." Not only are fabrics lighter, but the styling reflects shorter, trimmer and more natural lines. (S

Frills . . . with Safety

Modern Auto Designs Key Motoring Fashion

by JODY CARR

Since the beginning of automotive history, fashion has dictated what well dressed people should wear while motoring . . . but usually with an eye toward practicality.

At first, it was bonnets for the ladies, caps and goggles for the gentlemen, and dusters all around. For open car driving on dusty roads, this attire made good sense.

SURFEITED; intemperate; miserably full. (Pronounce surfit-ed, accent first syllable). "Having consumed almost all the candy, the child was becoming surfeited."

TODAY, THINGS have changed more than a little in automotive garb. For sports car and convertible riding, for instance, head scarves and sun glasses are the order of the day, but other than that, the accent seems to be on safety devices.

CARR

Seat belts are gaining popularity . . . and for good reason. Shoulder belts are entering the scene (in Sweden, 80 per cent of the drivers wear them and they're not even compulsory equipment). And here's something new to think about. Do you know what has been in the study-stage for quite some time and may one of these days become reality? Safety helmets for everybody! Believe it or not, this latest idea in millinery madness has progressed beyond the suggestion stage. There is the built-in psychological resistance, of course (even construction workers once resisted wearing safety helmets), but this obstacle may someday be overcome just as it was with seat belts.

THE FIRST question that comes to my mind, and yours, I'm sure, is how do they go about designing a safety helmet (or crash helmet as some people call them) that won't squash m'lady's elegant coiffure? Imagine yourself all dolled up for a swanky soiree in basic black . . . a fur perhaps . . . pearls and white gloves, of course, and to top it off, the latest in safety helmets!

I just can't picture any of us purchasing our new fall chapeaus at our friendly neighborhood auto parts shops, but stranger things have happened. This innovation, if it catches on, promises to revolutionize the entire fashion industry.

WHEN YOU stop to think about it, the idea isn't so far fetched. Head injuries account for a substantial portion of highway fatalities. People are talking about rear view mirrors that jut up through the car roof like a periscope on a submarine. Right now we have autos one can drive right into the nearest lake on a good day for boating. Next thing you know, cars will come equipped with water wings, life preservers, diving apparatus and the like, so why not safety helmets?

Well, it's a goofy world, all things considered. For my part, I'm willing to go along with a gag—if it's designed to save lives and battered heads. Who knows? By the time safety helmets are developed and put on the market, we may all be wearing wigs, anyway.

'Boutique' Is Next For Infant Welfare

Members of Mount Prospect Center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago are busy with plans for their "Red Door Boutique" bazaar which takes place Nov. 6 in Mount Prospect Country Club. Hours of the sale are set for 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Besides the selection of gift items that have been made by members of the center, there will be two fashion shows featured during the day. One will begin at 10:45 a.m., the other at 1:45 p.m. Beatrice Dorsey of Dundee will provide the fashions.

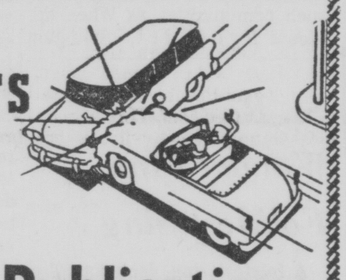
Mrs. William Anderson is chairman of the bazaar. Tickets are available from her by calling CL 5-5480 or from Mrs. William Eilbracht, CL 3-7187. (S

Mrs. R. Yochem To Preside At Conference

Mrs. R. E. Yochem, 919 N. State Road, Arlington Heights, will preside at the spiritual development session of the eighth biennial conference of the Council of Catholic Women to be held Oct. 23 and 24 at McCormick Place. Mrs. Yochem is northwest district president of the organization.

The council, a federation of parish and interparochial organizations, promotes and coordinates the charitable, educational and welfare activities of its 450 member organizations throughout Lake and Cook Counties. More than 2500 women are expected to attend the conference.

TRAVEL ACCIDENTS ARE COVERED BY



Paddock Publications

Suburbanite Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy

ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- The number of travel accidents is frightening. Practically everyone uses public or private conveyances such as automobiles, trucks, buses, taxis, trains, airplanes, boats and elevators. Pedestrians while walking or standing on public streets and highways are often struck, knocked down or run over by vehicles. Crowded and outmoded streets and highways, speeding, reckless drivers, blowouts and bad weather conditions cause accidents that kill or injure people every minute. If for no other reason, everyone should have protection for travel accidents when you think how much time is spent each day on transportation. At vacation time no one should be without the protection of this policy.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

Moms, Dads Nite Staged By Bethel

Moms and dads were decked out in paper hats and crepe paper ties for the potluck dinner served October 9 by Bethel 103, Jobs Daughters of Arlington Heights in observance of Moms and Dads Night. Mrs. Neil Livingston and Richard Heilig of Arlington Heights were chosen as the representative for mom and dad to be honor guests the evening.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation to the bethel of a jack-o-lantern filled with cash. Gift of the Moms and Dads Club, the presentation was made by Mrs. Ray Herda.

NEXT MEETING of the bethel will be Wednesday, Oct. 23, which has been set aside for the official visit of the grand guardian. A meeting of all council members has been scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of the Olav Larsens, 1119 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights.

Reservations may still be made for the spaghetti dinner to be held Saturday, Oct. 26, in Arlington Heights Mason i c Temple. Those interested may call Miss Bonnie Birch, CL 5-1890. (S

Business Women Hold Fall Meeting

OBSERVING NATIONAL Business Women's week from Oct. 6 to Oct. 12 the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of District III joined together to mark the occasion with a dinner Wednesday, Oct. 9, in Old Orchard Country Club. Gathered around Mrs. Louise Bushnell whose speech, "Opinions Are Not Enough," highlighted the program, are Margaret Doak, vice chairman of District III; Barbara Whitrock, president Wheaton area; Ruth Schmidt, state world affairs chairman; Marguerite Hayes, recording secretary of Wheaton BPW and Ruth Berg, chairman of District III. Mrs. Bushnell, who strongly advocates qualified women to seek elective offices, is director of the Women's Department of the National Association of Manufacturers, New York City.

BEHIND THE SCENES, the dressing room of Old Orchard Country Club was a bustling beehive of activity as area models of the Business and Professional Women's Club prepared for the fashion showing which was a highlight of the fall meeting held Oct. 9. Zipping cocktail dress modeled by Vera Payne is Ann Petrie. In the center is Hazel Gardner, model ,and in the right foreground, Model Ruth Hoffmeister, is being assisted by Marian Baker. More than 300 business women from area clubs attended the meeting.

September Bridal Pair Back from Niagara Falls

A two-week honeymoon on the Canadian side of Niagara Falls followed the Sept. 14 nuptials of Miss Barbara Widmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Widmann of 27 Schaumburg Road, Roselle, and Stephan Mettler, son of the Eugene Mettlers of Fort Wayne.

Their double ring vows were solemnized in St. Hubert Church Hoffman Estates, by Rev. Fr. Raymond Carey. While gladioli, mums and carnations decorated the altar for the 11 a.m. service.

BEFORE THE bride's appearance James Betchkal, organist, accompanied V. P. Simone as he sang two songs, "Ave Maria" and "O Beautiful Mother."

Fashioned of silk organza over taffeta, the chapel-length bridal gown was styled with fitted bodice and bracelet-length sleeves. Alencon lace motifs trimmed the scalloped neckline and full skirt. Completing the ensemble was a bouquet of white roses and three-tiered silk illusion bubble veil, fastened to a crown of Aurora Borealis and pearls.

Miss Widmann's four attendants were dressed alike in turquoise sheaths, featuring scooped necklines, overskirts and three-quarter-length s l e eves. The nosegay bouquets were made up of white and turquoise carnations. Maid of honor was Sharon Douglas of Fort Wayne; bridesmaids were Misses Vicki Rice and Libby Beckmann of the same town and the bride's sister, Joan Widmann.

Corsages of white roses and carnations were selected for both mothers. Mrs. Widmann was attired in a dusty rose silk sheath and the groom's mother chose a beige wool sheath.

TWO MEN from Fort Wayne—William Hamm and Thomas Mettler, brother of the groom, served as best man and usher. Other groomsmen were the bride's two brothers from Roselle—William and Thomas Widmann.

The reception and wedding dinner took place at the Maitre d' Restaurant in Elk Grove Village. After the trip to Canada the newlyweds made their home in Fort Wayne, where the groom is employed at International Harvester Company.

Mr. Mettler is a former student of Central Catholic-Tri State College in Angola, Ind. The new Mrs. Mettler studied at Palatine High School, took a business course at Central Catholic and is now with America Fore Loyalty Company.

Sacred Heart Moms Plan Benefit Dance

The second annual benefit dance of the Mothers Club of Sacred Heart of Mary High School, Rolling Meadows, will be held Nov. 2 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Mrs. J. Heinz is general chairman.

The semi-formal affair has again been scheduled at Chevy Chase Country Club, Wheeling, where Ted Seiber's orchestra will provide dance music.

The Catholic High School for girls serves northwest Cook, DuPage and Lake Counties, with students attending from such communities as Wheeling, Mount P r o s p e c t, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Barrington and surrounding townships.

SERVING WITH Mrs. Heinz as co-chairman is Mrs. R. Martindell. Committee chairmen are Mrs. J. Garrity, dance; Mrs. C. Cronin, special prizes; Mrs. R. Platt, arrangements; Mrs. F. T r i b b e y, prizes.

Tickets for the benefit will be available at the door or may be secured from any member of the mothers' club. Proceeds will be given to the Rev. Mother M. Loyola, school superior, for purchase of school equipment and furnishings.

The newly constructed all-girl school ushered in its first fall term this September with a potential enrollment of 1,200 students. Plans for formal dedication are still under way pending completion of all facilities. (S

St. Raymond Women Plan Folkfest Sing

A folkfest sing, featuring Ted Johnson and Shirley Hersh, will highlight the Thursday, Oct. 17, meeting of St. Raymond Catholic Woman's Club. To be held at 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium, all adults over 18 are invited.

A salad luncheon with an "autumn leaves" theme will be given at 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, by the club. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Wade, CL 5-8822. Salads will be contributed by ladies of the parish; guests from outside the parish will not be expected to bring salads.(S

Pantry Shower

The Mothers Club of Notre Dame High School for Boys, in Niles, will hold its annual Harvest Pantry Shower for the Holy Cross Fathers Monday evening, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Former Barn, Now a Civic Center, Intrigues Juniors

"My, how lovely, who'd ever think this used to be a barn" and "I'm impressed," were a few of the comments heard Oct. 7 when Schaumburg Junior Woman's Club held its general meeting in the Great Hall of Schaumburg new Civic Center.

Honored guest for the evening was Mrs. Harold Thompson, Seventh District Junior Director. She addressed the members, speaking of the responsibilities that they as Juniors have both at home and outside of the home.

Mrs. John Adams, community improvement chairman, reported on the success of the TB Mobile Unit and the Northwest Mental Health Clinic Drive. The committee recommended that the Juniors man the TB Mobile Unit next year and help supervise the study time Thursday evenings at the Township Library. These recommendations were voted upon and passed.

THE TRICK or Treat masquerade held Oct. 4 was said to be a lot of fun and netted the club over $200 toward Brain Research.

Mrs. Leonard Newendor p, president and Mrs. Roderic Botts, second vice president and membership chairman, initiated 18 new members into the club in a recent candlelight ceremony. The new members are Mesdames William Barut h, James Brewer, Ralph Falkenthal, John Fischer, Donald Hutchinson, Emmerson Krug, Gerald Mrozinski, Gordon Mullins, Donald Murray, William Nolan, Andrew Petnezaus, Joseph Poehlmann, Fil Ranalli, John Samuelson, James Schulz, Ronald Sheldon, William Truskowski and John Ward.

CANDLES AND holiday candle arrangements will grace the tea table at the home of Mrs. Leonard Newendorp, president of the club, on Oct. 20 and 21 for a series of informal coffees sponsored by the Schaumburg Juniors during those two days.

Each club member has been asked to bring friends to attend these coffees, informally view sample MARTY candles, candle arrangements made by the members of the club's scholarship committee and enjoy light refreshments.

Schaumburg Juniors are joining federated clubs all over the state with their "Light of Learning" coffees. Proceeds will go to their Junior State Project Scholarships for Teachers of Exceptional Children. Special education has been a project of the Illinois Juniors since 1953. Last year, the Schaumburg Juniors netted $222 toward the Scholarships. This money is given to aid students at the Illinois State Normal and Southern Illinois Universities. Individual scholarships have been granted in amounts ranging from $50 to $600.

Mrs. Newendorp stated, "It is our hope this year to surpass our last years' contribution."

NOVITIATE; state or time of being a novice; apprenticeship. (Pronounce no-vish-i-ait, accent second syllable). "Having served his novitiate, he is now ready for higher things."

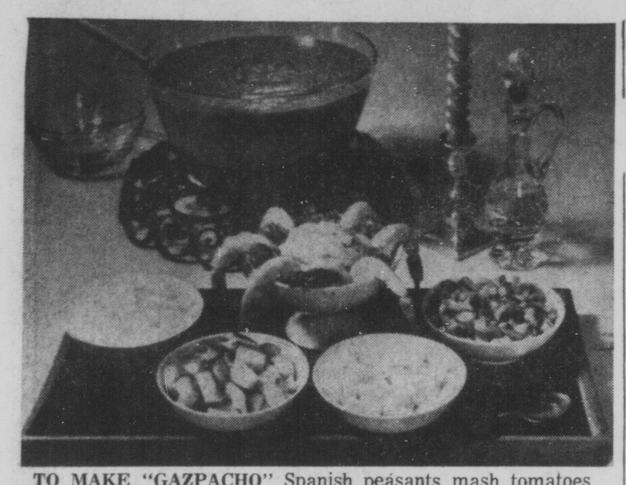
Succulent Gazpacho Andaluz

Spanish Iced Salad Soup Ideal for 1-Course Meal



TO MAKE "GAZPACHO" Spanish peasants mash tomatoes, garlic bread and Spanish Olive Oil into a thick puree. Sophisticated versions of this cold "salad soup" call for adding bits of chopped cucumber, minced green or red peppers, tiny croutons and meat, chicken or seafood.

Gazpacho Andaluz, the Spanish ice-cold soup of pureed tomatoes and other vegetables blended into a salad-like mixture with olive oil and vinegar, can be a luncheon in itself. In Sevilla, the Andalusian city where Gazpacho may have originated, bits of meat, chicken, or seafood are often added to the vegetable puree and that a particularly delicious version calls for hot fried fish, in small pieces, topping the cold soup.

THE BASIC way of making Gazpacho, as it has been done for centuries by Spanish peasants, is first to make a paste of bread, garlic, olive oil and water. A man of Seville who prides himself on his Gazpacho (for in Spain, too, men often take to the kitchen to show off their culinary skill) makes the bread paste the night before, to marinate thoroughly before the pureed tomatoes are added.

The Spanish peasants still laboriously mash fresh, ripe tomatoes to a puree, but even in Spain a blender is used for doing the job by those who can obtain the American-invented gadget.

There is no taste of bread in the completed Gazpacho, in fact, it is so thoroughly mixed with the tomato and olive oil that only a silky-smooth blend is discernible. Yet the bread is important in giving the soup its special consistency. The finest olive oil must be used, and only a "breath" of garlic. Dishes of garnishes are always passed; usually these include chopped cucumber, tiny croutons, which have been fried until crisp in olive oil, and minced green or red pepper (pimiento).

Occasionally minced hard-cooked eggs are included among the garnishes, minced chicken, or even cooked chopped pork or veal. When any of the latter are added, the soup becomes a luncheon dish.

BASIC GAZPACHO

1 large or 2 small garlic cloves, crushed
2 slices white bread, broken in pieces
½ cup water
¼ cup Spanish olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
2 lbs. fresh fully-ripe tomatoes, peeled and chopped; or 1 large can (1 lb. 12 ozs.) tomatoes, sieved
¼ cup onions, grated or finely-minced
2 cups ice-cold water
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
Salt and pepper to taste

Crush garlic in bowl (or mince through garlic press). Add bread, water, olive oil and salt. Let stand several hours or over night. Add tomatoes, beat in electric blender or mixer until pureed. Add onions, keep chilled until ready to serve, then add ice water, vinegar, and if needed additional salt and pepper. Makes 6 servings.

GARNISHES FOR GAZPACHO
(Use any 4 of following)

Croutons: Cut slightly stale white bread into ¼-inch cubes; fry in Spanish Olive oil until well-browned on all sides, with one whole garlic clove in pan (discard garlic). Drain on paper towel.

Cucumber: Peel and dice cucumber into very small bits. Sprinkle with salt. Serve as garnish.

Eggs: Hard-cook 3 or 4 eggs. When cool, chop fine.

Green Pepper: Finely mince 1 green pepper, (first removing all seeds and fiber).

VARIATIONS

1. With red pimiento: Finely chop 1 or 2 canned pimientos, mash with tomato and onions before adding to bread in above recipe.

2. With fried fish: Cut fresh fish (halibut or cod) into 1-inch pieces, dip in following batter:
1 egg
1 tablespoon flour
Dash of salt
1 tablespoon water
Beat egg white separately, then beat yolk. Add flour, salt and water to egg yolk, then beaten egg white. Blend until foamy batter. Heat olive oil until sizzling, add fish dipped in batter, cook until golden on each side. Serve bits of fried fish, still hot, over ice-cold Gazpacho, prepared as above.

3. With Chicken: Add 1 cup cold cooked chicken, finely-diced to prepared ice-cold Gazpacho.

4. With meat or seafood: Use 1 to 1½ cups chopped cooked veal or pork, or a mixture of meat and chopped, cooked or canned shrimp.

WISCONSIN'S claim to supremacy in the production of cheese is based on an annual output of a staggering 667 million pounds which accounts for some 42 per cent of all the cheese in the nation. Because of this huge output, the state must market almost 90 per cent of its production outside of Wisconsin's borders.

As a result, these special cheese promotions have been held for about 13 years, with every key market in the nation having been visited at least once.

Featuring the integrated merchandising and public relations effort will be the appearance in Los Angeles of Wisconsin's 16th "Alice in Dairyland," a 19-year-old lass whose real name is Marilyn Draeger of Fort Atkinson. Miss Draeger will have a busy week making appearances on radio and television.

A special Wisconsin recipe booklet is available from the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture upon request. (SH

Party Lines

A party punch to match the rhythms of the Bossa Nova is served by the knowing young hostess. Brazilian Punch has the light lift of instant quality coffee and the flavorsome sweetness of chocolate, a perfect combo with the lively dance beat. And why not? All three come to us from the glamorous land of Brazil.

BRAZILIAN COFFEE

1 quart water
½ cup Instant Coffee
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 quart milk
Whipped cream

Place water, instant coffee, and chocolate in saucepan over very low heat, stirring constantly until chocolate is melted and ingredients are blended. Add sugar and salt and bring just to a boil. Simmer 4 minutes, stirring constantly.

Gradually stir in milk. Continue to heat and stir until hot. Beat with rotary beater until light and frothy. Top with whipped cream. Makes about 24 3-ounce servings, or 12 5-ounce servings.

Sack Lunch Sandwiches

It's lunchbox - packing time again as school gets underway for another season.

When you pack that meal in a sack, does it measure up? The noon meal should be inviting and provide close to 1/3 of the daily food requirements. A sack lunch must supply needed protein, vitamins and minerals.

SANDWICHES are generally the main part of the meal, so what goes between those slices of bread is of utmost importance. Here is where meat protein enters the picture. Protein gives vitality, builds and maintains good health. A hearty meat sandwich has staying power for the afternoon.

The lunch should also include a fresh fruit and a raw vegetable. Milk is a must. It could either be purchased at school or carried in a thermos container. Only after these requirements are met should a sweet dessert be included.

VARY SANDWICH FILLINGS

By looking around for ideas for sandwich fillings, you can provide variety in the lunch. Reba Staggs, home economist, has several meaty suggestions.

Leftover roast or meat loaf is wonderful for sandwiches. Try either with a topping of catchup or sour cream mixed with dehydrated onion soup. Chopped cooked bacon could be added to peanut butter, liver sausage or cheese spread.

A TASTY filling combines a small can of deviled ham, a small package of cream cheese, a little milk, plus chopped olives if desired. Another combines a 12-ounce can of mashed or ground luncheon meat with 2 tablespoons chili sauce.

A zesty filling for one sandwich combines ½ cup ground corned beef, 1 teaspoon chopped sweet pickle and prepared mustard to taste.

Ready-to-serve meats are a stand-by, and there are many from which to choose. Include two slices in each sandwich for added protein.

One caution — avoid salad dressing or mayonnaise because the sandwiches will be without refrigeration all morning.

Week's Best Food Values

The University of Illinois market report for the week of Oct. 7-12 includes the following:

Wholesale costs rise again; gains almost cancel week ago losses for meats and fryers and eggs fall. Turkey unchanged in price, but northern grown supplies rated short. Government buying of beef, pork and poultry continues active; local fresh produce supplies dropping; Southern and western supplies moving in and price advancing is evident except for these Chicago-area food values:

Meat: beef chuck roasts, sirloin, porterhouse and round steak, sirloin tip roast, pork rib roast, pork steak, bacon, spare ribs, lamb leg roast and chops. Poultry, fryers.

Grocery: Peas, corn, tomato juice, peanut butter, tuna fish and shrimp.

Produce: Cantalope, grapefruit, apples, grapes, cauliflower, carrots, potatoes, onions, acorn squash, radishes, celery and cabbage. (SH

Pork and poultry head the list of more common values, according to the University of Illinois market report of Oct. 14 - 19. Other notes are that heavy beef supplies help drop costs on a few selected items, turkey inventories are the cause of some sales (despite firm costs) fryers are in ample supply with prices firm and eggs stand unchanged.

Apples are cheaper and weather problems cut southern vegetable shipments. The following are among Chicago area food values:

Meats: bacon, pork chops and rib roasts, ham, butt roasts; beef chuck roasts, round steak.

Poultry: stewing hens, turkey, fryers.

Produce: Apples, honeydew melons, grapes, grapefruit; sweet potatoes, celery, cauliflower, carrots, onions, potatoes, cabbage, green beans.

Waffles Wonderful For Sunday Brunch

Even though good breakfasts are recommended for all, many families don't get together on Sunday for a meal until after church.

The Sunday brunch, therefore, has become almost a tradition, and this is the time Mom shows off her culinary skills with "morning food."

BLUE CHEESE Brunch Waffles are an unusual variation of the standard waffle. American blue cheese adds a surprise flavor to this brunch treat. Blue cheese waffles are delicious served with a topping of crushed strawberries or raspberries.

Don't wait until Sunday to have this exciting taste treat. Blue cheese waffles could be tempting for Friday suppers, too!

(Serves 8)

1¾ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 egg yolks
1¼ cups milk
¼ cup salad oil or melted shortening
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
2 stiff-beaten egg whites

Sift dry ingredients together. Combine egg yolks and milk. Stir into dry ingredients. Stir in oil. Fold in egg whites, leaving a few fluffs. Don't overbeat. Bake on waffle iron. Serve with crushed berry topping.

Beef Stew Cooks In Tomato Sauce

Monday-through-Friday meals seem to be the universal concern of homemakers. While pleasing family food tastes they yearn to do something different with the meat and potatoes fare without wrecking the family budget.

Economical beef cuts can be one answer. They evolve into such tasty main entrees, states expert on meat cookery Reba Staggs.

A DISH that braises beef cubes in a tomato sauce, then serves them on noodles, nicely takes care of the meat and starchy foods on your menu. A few green peas around the edge of the platter add a bright color note.

The meat is boneless beef for stew. Here is an illustration of a way this thrifty cut can appear, other than in the usual stew.

Beef In Tomato Sauce—Noodles

1½ pounds beef for stew, cut in 1-inch cubes
3 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 cup diced onion
1 can (16 ounces) tomato puree
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ cup water
1 package (8 ounces) noodles, cooked
1 package (10 ounces) cooked and seasoned frozen peas, if desired

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion, tomato puree, cloves and water. Cover tightly and cook in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) or simmer on top of range 2 hours, or until meat is tender.

Add more water if necessary. Cook noodles in boiling salted water. Arrange meat and sauce on hot drained cooked noodles. Surround with cooked peas, if desired. Six servings.

Junior Director Speaks To Arlington Club October 8

"A Federated Woman's Club provides a place for every woman and a place for every interest," Mrs. Myron Hartley, Illinois Junior Director, told members of Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club at their Oct. 8 meeting. Mrs. Hartley spoke of six state projects offered the 217 Junior Clubs in the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

She told how individual clubs choose their own departments of interest, selecting from the following IFWC projects: education of the exceptional child through funds allocated to three Illinois universities for the purpose of recruiting and granting scholastic aid to young men and women in the field of special education, support of the Brain Research Foundation in its dedication to the development of a medical center devoted to coordinating and conducting research of the brain, donation of funds and materials to aid the American medical ship SS Hope in its medical service to foreign countries, the collection of postage stamps for wounded and hospitalized veterans for a program of recreation and therapy, participation in the Care Literacy Program providing help to people of four countries, the Saulk Institute in its biological studies under the direction of Dr. Jonas Saulk.

THE JUNIOR director also emphasized the importance of Junior Clubs serving their immediate communities before supporting Illinois or General Federation interests.

Mrs. Hartley's talk and the reception of new members were highlights of the regular October meeting of the junior club. Other current business was the distribution of tickets for a series of three children's plays to be sponsored by Arlington Juniors. Season tickets are available from any member or by contacting Mrs. John Rustemeyer at CL 3-7482.

INCLUDED IN reports from standing committee chairmen was announcement of a weekly Story Time for pre-school children to begin Oct. 23 at the Arlington Heights Public Library. The Story Time, scheduled for a half hour period between 10 and 10:30 a.m. every Wednesday, will be conducted by members of the club's Literature Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Shufelt. Simple finger games, rhymes and stories will be planned to appeal to the 4 and 5-year-age group.

Arlington Juniors will hold their next monthly meeting Nov. 12, when a program on pioneer and Indian customs will follow the business meeting. (S

Fashion Advisor Scans Trend of Fall, Winter

"Going casual — by day. We all love comfort, so it is natural that we love the easy -going 'sportive' look which is the biggest single trend of the Fall and Winter season," said Marcella Schwind, fashion counselor of Wieboldt's Junior Fashion Board, as she spoke to the board at a meeting last Tuesday evening.

"Another phrase," she continued, "for this trend is casual elegance, because while the style is understated, the fabric is lavish and the detailing elaborate."

"Dressing up — at night. Not in years have we seen so many long skirts for evening. Here, too, the casual influence shows — most of these dresses are simply cut; often they are made of wool or jersey. Usually they are slim and unadorned and only for grand occasions is the full skirted ball gown to be worn."

"Put - togetherness — the total look. Never have accessories been more vital than this year. Because the trend is to quiet elegance, the whole effect depends upon proper accessorizing. From head to toe, the picture must be consistent. Look carefully put together," at all times advised the counselor.

ONE OF THE prime accessories of the day is the turtleneck dickey, for wear with the open - throat shirt or deep-V neck sweater. Dickeys provide the "flash of color which can add a lot of zing to an outfit." Ascots, mostly in paisley prints are also fashion news. Mrs. Schwind also stated that "gloves are very important; they come in many vivid colors and you will want to select the right pair to add the final perfect touch to any ensemble."

The fashion board has also been working on the next fashion show, set for late November. Maine East High School was represented by Pam Levey, Sue Gunn and Suzanne Geremia for informal modeling Oct. 12 from 1 - 4 p.m. in Wieboldt's Junior Fashion Shop. On Oct. 19 Sandy Bouda and Sharon Geach will represent Maine West. (S

Freshness Is More Than A Word At Jewel! Freshness Is More Than A Word At Jewel!

Dad'll Say You're His Favorite Cook When You Serve Jewel Chicken Like This!

Jewel Food Stores

CHICKEN IN WHITE WINE

3-2 lb. chickens, cut up
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons dry white wine
4 tablespoons olive oil
¼ lb. mushrooms, sliced
1 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
2 teaspoons Accent
1½ teaspoons salt
Freshly ground black pepper

Season chicken with Accent, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Saute in olive oil 10 minutes. Add ½ cup wine, cover, simmer 30 minutes. Remove chicken and keep hot. Add mushrooms and rest of wine to sauce in skillet, simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in sour cream, Tabasco, and salt. Return to heat, simmer 2 minutes. Pour sauce over chicken. Serves 6.

You'll be pleased as punch when you see how excitedly Dad eats your tempting chicken dinner! He knows it'll be delicious . . . with a sweet-meated, mouth-watering flavor . . . just like it always is when you serve Jewel Fryers!

That's because Jewel chickens are really fresh —delivered fresh from the farm every 48 hours. Why they're just as perfect on the inside as on the outside. They carry Government Inspected and Grade A seals for your assurance of wholesomeness and quality!

AH Cook Applies 'New Twist' to Plain Meals

BROWNIES

½ cup margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup broken pecans (optional)

Beat shortening until the consistency of mayonnaise. Add sugar gradually, beating until light and creamy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Blend in vanilla and melted chocolate. Beat for one minute. Add dry ingerdients gradually and beat until creamy. Add nuts and beat again.

Spread into a greased 9x9x2 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees in center of oven about 30 to 35 minutes. Serve plain or frosted.

MEAT BALLS DELUXE

1 slice bread, pulled into small pieces
¼ cup milk
⅔ pound ground veal
⅓ pound ground chuck
2 teaspoons onion juice or ⅛ teaspoon onion salt
1 egg, unbeaten
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup flour
¼ cup butter
½ to 1 cup water
1 4-ounce can mushrooms
¼ cup commercial sour cream

Pour milk over bread and let stand until absorbed.

Have veal and chuck ground together very fine. Mix meat, onion, egg, pepper, salt, nutmeg and bread. Shape into small balls.

Put flour in bag and shake the balls to coat lightly. Brown balls in butter, add water, cover and simmer for 30 to 35 minutes.

Put balls in hot serving dish and make sauce of drippings by adding remaining flour mixture in bag and cook until smooth. Add mushrooms, liquid, sour cream and more water if needed. Pour over balls. Serve with noodles. Serves 4.

ITALIAN POT ROAST

2 to 3 pounds boneless beef, trimmed of fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Accent
Garlic salt (optional)
3 tablespoons fat
1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms and juice
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives
¼ cup sliced ripe olives
1¼ cups tomato juice
Flour for gravy

Put salt, pepper, Accent, garlic salt on meat. Dredge with flour and brown slowly but well in the fat. Poul off fat; place mushrooms, onions, green peppers and olives on top of the meat. Pour tomato juice and mushroom liquid around meat and simmer, covered, until tender, about 2 to 3 hours. Baste occasionally. Thicken gravy with flour and serve with mashed potatoes.

OATMEAL COOKIES

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
¾ cup soft margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs
3 cups quick cooking rolled oats

Put flour, soda, salt and cinnamon into bowl. Add shortening, sugars, and eggs. Beat two minutes. Stir in oats. Chill dough.

Roll to ¼ inch thickness and cut into rounds or drop with a spoon and flatten with floured glass on greased cookie sheet. Bake 8 to 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool on racks. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

SEAFOOD AND VEGETABLES

¼ cup onion, cut very fine
3 tablespoons cooking oil
1 cup chicken broth
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
½ pound cooked lobster or shrimp
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup cooked, cut green beans
1 2¼-ounce can whole mushrooms
1 2¼-ounce can sliced mushrooms
1 6¼-ounce can sliced water chestnuts
Chinese noodles

Cook onions in oil. While cooking, heat broth, mushroom juice, seasonings and cornstarch mixed with water. Cook until thickened. Stir in seafood and set aside.

To the cooked onions, add the green beans, mushrooms and water chestnuts. Saute for three minutes. Add seafood mixture and heat through. Serve on Chinese noodles. Serves 3 or 4.

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR FRUIT SALAD

2 eggs, beaten
5 tablespoons sugar
5 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
½ pound miniature marshmallows
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 cups diced pineapple, drained
2 cups Queen Anne cherries, halved and drained
2 small cans mandarin oranges, drained
¼ pound shredded, blanched almonds (optional)

Place beaten eggs into top of double boiler. Add sugar and lemon juice and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick and smooth. Remove from fire and add butter and marshmallows. Blend mixture and allow to cool.

When cool, fold in whipped cream, the well-drained fruit and the almonds, if desired. Turn into mold and store in refrigerator for at least 12 hours, preferably 24. Unmold and serve on crisp lettuce cups. Serves 8 to 10.

TEAMING SKILL and the art of spice cookery, Mrs. John W. Schaff of Arlington Heights provides her family with delectable, out-of-the-ordinary meals. She is shown serving her recipe for brownies, made extra moist by a special beating process. (SH INVECTIVE; harsh or abusive censure, denunciation, or accusation. "The two opposing candidates apparently were trying to win the election by invective." (A14

Spice Art, Skill Team for Success

by LOIS SEILER

With an eye for the unusual, Mrs. John W. Schaff of Arlington Heights has chosen recipes that are "just a little different" to share with us today. Although brownies, pot roasts, meat balls and oatmeal cookies may be common, there is a unique twist to her recipes that makes each of these particularly interesting and appealing.

With Mrs. Schaff's brownies, it is in the method. Shortening is not melted for these brownies; it is beaten thoroughly with the sugar and the secret to their success is in the beating. Neither is there any baking powder in this recipe, yet the brownies have a soft, moist texture and they may be served frosted or plain. This good cook has made this recipe innumerable times over a period of many years, often baking them for large groups, and they have always been well received.

Dressed up with many flavorful ingredients, Mrs. Schaff's pot roast recipe turns this ordinary meal into elegant company fare. Called an Italian Pot Roast, this recipe calls for boneless beef simmered in tomato juice with green pepper, stuffed olives, ripe olives, mushrooms and onions. The gravy is is delicious served over mashed potatoes, and a green salad is the only accompaniment needed.

Veal as well as chuck is used to make Mrs. Schaff's Meat Balls Deluxe. Very fine grinding makes these meat balls especially tender, and interesting seasonings as well as a savory gravy makes them flavorful dinner fare. Lois Schaff likes to serve the meat balls and sauce with noodles.

HER OATMEAL cookies have a sweet, cinnamony flavor as well as nourishing oatmeal goodness. Different than the usual drop cookies, these can be rolled and cut into rounds, or dropped on a cookie sheet and flattened with a floured glass. They will keep fresh and crispy for days if stored in a covered tin.

Another of Mrs. Schaff's appealing recipes is an unusual fruit salad which has been in her family for years. This salad originated before the era of the freezer, and thus it is just refrigerated for 12 to 24 hours to set.

It consists of a custardy mixture which is cooked first, then combined with marshmallows and whipped cream. Canned fruit is folded in. This delicious salad is excellent for a luncheon, as a dessert salad or for a buffet-type meal.

A hint of Chinese cookery is evident in this capable homemaker's delightful dish which she simply calls Seafood and Vegeratbles. A truly different way to use seafood, Mrs. Schaff improvised on the original recipe and changed the ingredients to suit her taste.

This dish combines either shrimp or lobster with mushrooms, green beans, water chestnut and onions, in a thickened chicken broth. Served on Chinese noodles, this is a hearty and flavorful meal which needs only a green salad as an accompaniment.

IN ADDITION to her culinary endeavors, Mrs. Schaff has many other interests and activities. An accomplished pianist, she is also a talented, self-taught painter. A past-president of the Rotary-Anns, she is also on the board of directors of the Arlington Heights Women's Club and is a member of the Eli Skinner Chapter of the DAR, the Presbyterian Women's Association, the YMCA Auxiliary and the Northwest Community Hospital Auxiliary.

The Schaffs live at 515 E. Rockwell in Arlington Heights. They have two sons, Paul and John Jr., and four grandchildren.

Peach Meringue Torte

Try New Version Of Old Favorite

NOTHING IS MORE SUCCESSFUL at a party than a spectacular dessert such as this Peach Meringue Torte. Golden cling peaches and whipped cream are layered between rich meringue-cake for a brand new version of an old-time favorite. (SH

There are no two ways about two-layered "Peach Meringue Torte:" It is splendiferous!

Golden canned cling peach slices and whipped cream comprise both the topping and filling for the rich meringue-cake layers. Bake the layers well in advance and assemble the torte just before serving. The unbleached flour called for in the recipe is your assurance that the layers will stay moist and fresh tasting until serving time.

PEACH MERINGUE TORTE

1 cup sifted unbleached flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach slices
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup sifted powdered sugar
4 eggs, separated
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Drain ¼ cup syrup from peaches; add vanilla and lemon rind to syrup. Chill remaining peaches and syrup. Cream together butter and powdered sugar. Beat in egg yolks gradually. Add flour mixture alternately with syrup; beat until blended after each addition SPREAD BATTER in two greased and floured 9 x 1½ inch cake pans. Beat egg whites until foamy. Reserve 2 tablespoons granulated sugar; add remainder gradually to whites, beating to stiff peaks. Spread meringue over cake batter; sprinkle with reserved sugar. Bake in 325-degree (moderately slow) oven 30 minutes.

Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans; finish cooling on racks. Drain peaches. Place 1 layer, meringue-side down on cake plate. Top with half of whipped cream and 1 cup peaches. Add second layer, meringue-side up; top with remaining cream and peaches.

Makes 8 servings. (SH

From Norway—Pudding for UN Day

Oct. 24 has been proclaimed United Nations Day. On this day in our country the custom of serving an international-style, "U.N. Day Family Meal" is rapidly being established.

By introducing your family to foods of foreign lands, you can help them learn the ways of other people. You'll be taking a step toward greater world understanding.

FOR YOUR dinner that night, plan a foreign meal. You might select an area of the world and build your menu around its typical foods.

Norwegian Meat Pudding is the main entree for a Scandinavian supper suggested by Reba Staggs, home economist. The Norwegians have a robust style of cookery with meat and potatoes definitely diet staples. This main dish "pudding" teams ground beef and mashed potatoes with onion and nutmeg as seasonings.

Complete the menu with peas in mushroom sauce, red cabbage salad, limpa bread, Swedish fruit soup and almond cookies for dessert and coffee.

NORWEGIAN MEAT PUDDING

1½ pounds finely ground beef
6 medium-sized potatoes, cooked and mashed; or 3 cups mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1 small onion, minced
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup evaporated milk

Grease a deep 2-quart casserole. Combine meat and potatoes. Add flour, onion, egg, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Gradually work in milk, adding a tablespoon at a time. Mix thoroughly.

POUR INTO casserole. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 1½ hours or until done. Test by inserting a sharp knife; if it comes out clean, the pudding is done. Cut into individual servings and separate to make portions easy to lift out. Six servings. (SH

Law Requires Witnesses Only in Quaker Weddings

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Only in the case of Quakers do Illinois statutes require witnesses to a marriage ceremony, Attorney General William G. Clark held today, because a Quaker ceremony has no official celebrant.

As for other marriages, Clark's opinion advised State's Attorney Carl D. Sneed of Williamson County, both the Marriages Act and the Vital Statistics Act may require the county clerk to furnish to the Department of Public Health information which the Department deems pertinent to a uniform, statewide record of marriages. This may include, Clark's opinion said, the names of subscribing witnesses or witnesses. In his request for the opinion Sneed asked if the names of subscribing witnesses or witnesses are required in such a report and what the legal difference is, if any, between subscribing witnesses and witnesses.

AS FOR Quakers' marriages, Clark said, they are celebrated by a declaration of intention "before official witnesses of said body" with the certificates to be signed by "official witnesses." The difference between "subscribing witnesses" and "witnesses," Clark's opinion said, is that "subscribing witnesses" would be those who authenticated the signature of the celebrant on the marriage certificate while "witnesses" would swear to their personal knowledge of the ceremony.

The section of the Marriages Act as to what must be filed with the county clerk in making the return of a marriage makes no reference to witnesses to a marriage certificate or to witnesses to a marriage ceremony, Clark's opinion said.

"Neither does it include in the clerk's return duty the name of the celebrant, which nevertheless must be furnished to him, and recorded, subject to penalty," Clark's opinion stated.

The federal Vital Statistics Agency, Clark's opinion said, under Illinois statutes fixes the minimum of items necessary to be filed with the county clerk but the Vital Statistics Act gives the Department authority to require a report of more detailed information. (SF

TANTAMOUNT; equivalent; commensurate. "His ability was far from being tantamount with our expectations."

FABIAN; in the manner of the Roman general Fabius, who avoided direct engagements and used delaying tactics to foil the enemy; hence, cautious; dilatory. (Pronounce fay-bi-an). "His Fabian habits made us very impatient with him."

INAPPREHENSIVE; deficient in power or discerning. "He was inapprehensive of the mood of the people."

Welsh Rabbit Is Friday 'Special'

October is Cheese Festival month, and an excellent way to enjoy cheese is in a luscious Welsh Rabbit—one of the oldest and most popular of all cheese dishes.

THIS IS AN appetizing, satisfying concoction that doesn't take too long to prepare if you are entertaining guests after a Friday night or Saturday afternoon ball game. Next to a good Cheddar, beer or ale is the prime ingredient in the Rabbit; the brew enhances the delectable cheese flavor with subtlety, and gives the mixture its light smooth consistency.

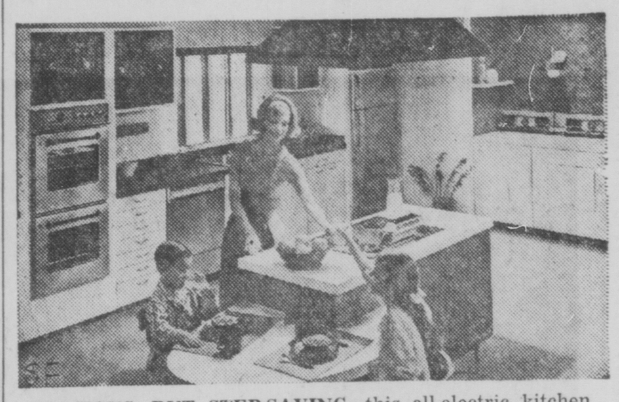
Serve this delicious Welsh Rabbit over toast accompanied by a tossed green salad for a high-scoring supper!

WELSH RABBIT

1 tablespoon butter
1 pound aged Cheddar cheese, grated (4 cups)
½ cup beer or ale
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon paprika

In double boiler over hot (not boiling) water, melt butter and cheese. As cheese begins to melt, gradually stir in beer or ale. Cook only until smooth and hot. Stir in seasonings and serve at once from a casserole kept hot on a candlelit warming stand. Serve on toast points. Yield: 4 to 6 servings. (SH

Convenient Kitchen Is Cook's Best Aid



SPACIOUS, BUT STEP-SAVING, this all-electric kitchen was designed to streamline homemaking. It's the kind of kitchen that makes a new house a livable, workable home.

A kitchen is a way of life, says Mrs. Stephanie Lapinig of New York, whose own kitchen is literally her way of life.

She's a graduate home economist who tests new food products, dreams up dream recipes for them, and prepares photogenic food for newspapers and T.V.

"Your tastes and way of life may be conventional or 'kooky,' but your kitchen must be convenient to work in," she says. "Look first of all at the major work areas — the food storage center, and the clean-up center.

"THESE THREE should form a triangle that measures no more than 22 feet all the way around, and each of the three work centers should have plenty of counter and cabinet space," she advises.

"Next," says Mrs. Lapinig, "check the appliances. If they are modern, automatic electric appliances, that's a good sign that your housekeeping chores are going to be lighter.

"An electric range with automatic controls—especially if it has two ovens—is going to save time and trouble, and will be easy to clean. And you'll get consistently good results, even with trick dishes," she says.

AN AUTOMATIC electric dishwasher is such a time saver that it has become standard equipment in new homes, Mrs. Lapinig points out.

Mrs. Lapinig also advises looking for a large-capacity electric refrigerator-freezer, too. "At least 14 cubic feet for the average family," she suggests. "These days more builders are including combination refrigerator-freezers in their development homes because of the growing demand for more storage space for both fresh and frozen foods," she notes.

St. Patrick Posts 3rd Straight Loop Victory; Tops Lions

The high-flying Shamrocks of St. Patrick went home knowing they'd been in a football game Sunday afternoon.

It took a solid effort by the Chicagoland Prep league tilte favorites to knock over a stubborn St. Viator eleven, 27-13, before a packed house at the Prospect High School field.

Another second half rally by the host Lions gave the visitors fits, but the Shamrocks had too much in the long run and walked off the field with their third straight conference triumph.

AFTER TWO easy outings in league scuffling St. Pats found out early Sunday that St. Viator was no pushover. The defensive units sparkled in the first half and the Shamrocks carried a shaky 7-0 lead at the intermission.

A double reverse with talented Brian Groth carrying gave St. Pats a first down on the Lion 20 and Groth carried in two plays later for the six points. On a third and 15 play Dick Frank pitched to Groth and the swift halfback was off to the races. Mike Arndt added the point.

Neither club could mount any sustained marches in the second period with the folks sitting between the 30 yard lines seeing all the action.

A 50-YARD scamper by Groth set up the second St. Pat's touchdown with Frank crashing in from the eight after an excellent fake to fullback Tom Quinn. Arndt handled the conversion again to give the Shamrocks a 14-0 lead.

Heading into the closing minutes of the third quarter, the Lions trailed by two touchdowns but now their offense started to come alive. With the aid of a 15-yard penalty St. Viator gained a first down at the 44 yard line.

Jim Murray picked up five more to the 49 and Joe Heitz hit Tom Ostermann with a pass to the St. Pat's 30. Tim Walinski and Murray carried to the 17 and on the first play of the fourth quarter Murray found some daylight and scampered 18 yards for the score.

ST. PAT'S took the ensuing kickoff to their own 47 yard line and Quinn took care of the rest as he raced 53 yards for the score that iced the game. Arndt added his third straight conversion, and the visitors held a 21-6 lead.

But the Lions didn't give up.

A fine run by Murray put the Lions on the Pat's 18 and Heitz and Chuck Heinrich teamed up on a pitch to the nine. Walinski then covered the final nine yards for the six points. Heitz and Heinrich worked again for the extra point.

An interception checked the Lions' final threat. St. Viator moved to their own 31 and had a fourth and one situation when disaster struck.

A Heitz aerial was picked off by Frank and in two plays the Shamrocks scored with Terry Bowman doing the honors from the one.

Score by quarters:

St. Patrick	7	0	7	13	—27
St. Viator	0	0	0	13	—13

In Arlington Football

Another Shutout for High-Flying Eagles

Philadelphia's Eagles in the National Football League may not be faring too well this season, but Arlington's Eagles in the midget football program certainly have been showing some class.

The Eagles remained unbeaten, untied, and unscored on Saturday as they crushed the Bears 19-0 for their fourth straight Junior League victory.

The winners scored single touchdowns in the first, second, and fourth quarters. Tim Loeffel counted on a one-yard plunge, Mike Pettenuzzo on a 43-yard reverse, and Craig Hutchison on a 12-yard pass from Chuck Norton. Chuck posted the only extra point.

HUTCHISON was outstanding for the winners on both offense and defense. Other Eagle standouts were John Slayton, Tim McGrath, Mike Weber, Ken Long, and Pettenuzzo.

Standing out for the Bears were quarterback Brophy, halfback Elsberg, end Shillinger, Manning, and Don Spry.

Score by quarters:

Eagles	7	6	0	6	—19

Kyle Wiederhold continued to dazzle the league with his running as he scored twice in the Cardinals' 20-13 victory over the Giants.

The young speedster raced 57 yards around right end and 81 yards off tackle for the two fourth period touchdowns that gave the Cards the victory.

Wiederhold now has scored 42 points this year.

Bruce Frase, the Cardinals' hard-running fullback, tallied the first touchdown on an 11-yard end run and added two extra points.

Barry Monschein counted early in the game for the Giants on a 40-yard dash off right tackle. Jandl recovered a fumble in the end zone for the other Giant score.

Gordon Vidt, Dick Rausch, and Jim Chauncey were other offensive standouts for the Cardinals with defensive orchids going to Tim Fitzpatrick, Scott Nielson, Rick Laub, and Ron Doubek.

Heading the Giants' stubborn defense were Jandl, Sayre, Morong, and Gorman.

Score by quarters:

Cardinals	7	0	0	13	—20
Giants	7	0	6	0	—13

The Colts edged the Packers 2-0 in a defensive struggle with Harth nailing the Packer kicker in the end zone for the safety.

Prochaska and Harth picked up some fair yardage over tackles Mason and Kaskie for the winners with one touchdown called back in the second quarte due to a holding penalty.

Roeing intercepted a Packer pass and returned 15 yards to check one drive. Jeff Williamson and Halek recovered fumbles, and DeZonna was outstanding on defense.

Score by quarters:

In Senior League play the Rams scored single touchdowns in the second and third quarters and blanked the Redskins 12-0. Don D'Amico scored both touchdowns on runs of two and 10 yards.

Other standouts for the victors were Gary Cobe and Mark O'Buchowski on offense and Bob Rose, Drew Smith, Bob Fuller, Mike Cooper, Scotty Pregent, Ken Coulter, and Maury Loefel on defense.

Redskin standouts were Bill Gunnison, Bob Loner, Jim Gumz, and Nonee Santos.

Score by quarters:

Rams	0	6	6	0	—12

The 49ers did all their scoring in the first half and stopped the Lions, 14-6. Denis Meachan counted both touchdowns with Paul Harth picking up the extra points.

Dan Waldo tallied for the losers on an end run.

Meacham, Harth, Dean Schmelzer, and Larry Wadzita were offensive standouts for the 49ers with Mike Harth, Dan Selleck, and Pat Zeller sparkling on defense. Jim Kenny blocked his fifth punt of the season.

Paul Douglas, Waldo, and Chris Buttenob were fine two-way performers for the losers.

Prospect Jayvees Triumph

Explode for 32-0 Victory

Prospect's junior-varsity Knights turned a close game into a rout with a second half explosion Saturday afternoon and rolled over visiting Maine West, 32-0.

Nursing a slim 7-0 lead at the intermission, Dick Mudge's charges roared out in the second half with four more touchdowns and coasted to their third victory in four outings this fall.

A 21-yard pass from Bill Phillips to Keith Bergen counted the first Prospect touchdown with Phillips adding the extra point on a run.

Mike Faklaris, defensive end, recovered a Maine fumble in the third quarter and a few plays later Phillips carried in from the six. A key block by Steve Kerr sent Jim Renner off to a nifty 55-yard touchdown with Clow adding the 20th point.

In the fourth period reserve quarterback Jack Bley smashed over from the half-yard line after his pass to Kerr had covered 49 yards. Bley hit Marty Ryan on a 52-yard effort for the final score.

Mudge passed out some post-game plaudits to reserve back Don Greco, who showed some hard running; Tom Knutson, Dave Nelson, George Freeland, and Tom Hogarty.

Prospect limited the visiting Warriors to only three first downs.

Score by quarters:

Prospect	7	0	13	12	—32

Falcon Sophs In Tie

It was a rough week for Forest View football fans at all levels.

Only one team—Bob Walther's sophs—escaped defeat and they had to settle for a scoreless tie with Glenbrook South.

"We had three good marches but just couldn't push over for the touchdown," Walther said. "Actually, we made some changes and this was the first time our offense has rolled with any consistency."

Two fumbles and a pass interception checked Forest View threats. Glenbrook threatened in the third period following a 65-yard scamper but was stopped short of paydirt.

Walther praised the defensive play of tackle-end Pete Phillips and "mike" man on defense George Crawford. "Ken Vomacka was switched from slot to fullback and did a good job," Bob praised.

Forest View's sophomores, winless with one tie in five games, will journey to Deerfield Saturday morning.

Falcon Harriers Triumph

A sweep of the first five places gave Forest View's varsity cross country team an impressive 15-45 victory over host Glenbrook South last Thursday afternoon.

Bob Rees' Falcons picked up their eighth varsity victory in 11 outings with George Sladek leading the way. Sladek toured the 1.9 mile course in 9:36.

Also finishing in the top five were Jerry Potter (2), Ted Lambert (3), Phil Valentino (4), and Terry Hayden (5).

Omar Aviles was the first Falcon across the line as the sophs tied the host Glenbrook harriers, 29-29. Aviles took third just a half stride out of second.

Bill Widinski placed fifth for the sophs and was followed by teammates Greg Shornden (6), Mike Ancona (7), and Don Haugeberg (8).

Blocked Punt Gives Knights Winning Score

A blocked punt resulted in Prospect High School's only touchdown Saturday in a 7-6 sophomore conquest of Maine West.

End Ken Traversone, who played a fine game at defensive end, blocked the Maine punt and center Rich Bertoglio carried the ball into the end zone.

Maine counted in the first quarter on a sustained drive.

Of mice and fleas—

This time of year one starts thinking about cold weather and there are a lot of other individuals besides human beings who are doing likewise. For example, field mice seem to know just when to start looking for a warm place to spend the winter and many a homeowner out in the country has the fall invasion under way.

Watching a dog take out after a flea that was bothering him brings to mind the remark made recently by a youngster, that his mother would not let the family dog sleep on his bed at night. It seems that one morning the boy took off for school and came home at lunch time complaining to his mother about all the bites he had. It did not take the mother long to find out the reason, and a quick once over of the dog showed that the flea element was very much in evidence.

IN THIS case, the dog had spent most of the summer outside and, of course, brought the fleas right indoors. Moral of the story is to do some checking of your own dog right now. Your editor has mentioned this in recent columns and now is the time to make sure that the flea situation is under control. Like field mice, fleas can invade a home and once inside they can infest the place. Rugs, chairs, pillows, you name it... fleas like them all.

With so many good preparations now on the market, from dusting powders to even spray cans that can be used to get rid of fleas, a dog owner has no excuse for not being able to control fleas and other such pests that will hitch a free ride into the house by way of the family hound.

Collie Fun Match

Owners of Collies will be interested to know that the central States Collie Club is holding its annual fun match Oct. 20, at the Downers Grove Homeowners Association building, 39th and GlenDenning Road, Downers Grove. There will be four puppy classes, a litter class and classes for older dogs. Judge for the event will be Libby Babin, a well known licensed American Kennel Club judge.

Doors open at noon, with judging to start at 1 p.m. Here's a chance for you Collie owners to bring that dog out for a match and find out just how good the dog really is.

For more information, call Susan Crotteau at EM 2-3529.

Barks & Bays—

Annual dog week, which is held the latter part of September each year, always brings up some choice dog jokes. When you read or hear them you still chuckle once in awhile.

Regardless, your editor still thinks about the many families who go out for the evening and are not concerned about getting a baby sitter. Their problem seems to be one of getting a dog-sitter.

As a parting shot, that remark made in the last column about a dog pointing a butterfly instead of a pheasant is no joke. With hunting season around the corner, your editor knows of one owner who had this problem with both a setter and a pointer. Start the practice now, Dad ...not opening day.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Dempsey Gives Students Something to Think About

OVER FIFTY YEARS AGO a shabby hobo kid came out of the West yearning to be a fighter. He was boxing for enough money to live, not for glory. He weighed 150 pounds but his savage courage and ruthless punching were already evident.

In time, that hobo kid won the heavyweight championship of the world and earned millions of dollars with his fists. They called him the Manassa Mauler. A lot of people think Jack Dempsey was the greatest of them all.

JACK DEMPSEY

What boxing fans can forget those famous Dempsey battles with Gene Tunney? Or that fight with "Wild Bull" Firpo when Dempsey was belted through the ropes and out of the ring in a hectic first round and won by a knockout in the second.

Today, the Manassa Mauler is engaged in a different type of fight.

He's fighting high school dropouts with a four-day crusade in the Chicago and suburban area.

Dempsey, who for the past 13 years has acted as counselor for the 3,000 resident students at DeVry Technical Institute of Chicago, has told packed assemblies this week why students should continue school.

"You should get an advanced education even if you must work your way through," he urged.

"High school dropouts have contributed more to increasing the nation's crime rate and its unemployment rolls than any other segment of our population.

"Drop out of school and you will plunge into trouble. Records of our nation's penitentiaries reveal that the majority of their convicts are high school dropouts," Dempsey continued.

"Look at the members of teenage gangs roaming streets beating and killing innocent people. Records also show that the majority of the members of these gangs never finished high school."

Dempsey pointed out that when an untrained, half educated boy drops out of school, he finds it almost impossible to get a job. He has too much time on his hands. Sooner or later he falls into bad company who 'educate' him to the belief that only 'squares' work.

"Years ago when we didn't have automation and job skills were not so high, some men left school before graduation and got by," Dempsey continued. "Today that picture has changed drastically. Anyone who thinks he can get by today without an education or training is a fool."

Presents 10-Point Program

THEN DEMPSEY told the students:

"I wish I could trade places with any of you for many reasons. If I were in your place, knowing what I know, I would work myself through college or a technical institute. I would do it even if I had to work with my bare hands in muck and mud."

Dempsey also outlined a 10 point program as a worthwhile guidepost through life, saying:

Always remember:

1. Well trained people prosper.
2. You are not working for school grades alone, but to improve yourself for the future.
3. Prepare now to face life alone on your own two feet.
4. You must earn your own way through life.
5. Education — training is the difference between success and failure.
6. The greatest lesson you can learn is to work.
7. Smart students seek the counsel of their parents, their teachers and their successful friends.
8. You don't have to be an athlete to be a champion.
9. A clean mind and a sound body is a solid foundation for a good education.
10. Prayer and education make a great team.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

ARLINGTON STOPPED Riverside-Brookfield in both ends of a West Suburban Conference football doubleheader. The varsity Cards triumphed, 21-6, with the sophs winning, 20-0.

Scoring for the varsity were Don Hoth and Carroll Werner on end runs and Rog Thomas on a one-yard smash. Ken Lemke forced a Riverside safety by nailing Al Kracht in the end zone. Dave Brandt and John Milnamow sparkled in the line.

Johnny Sujack scored on runs of 43 and 66 yards to pace the sophs to a three-touchdown win. Wayne Malzahn tallied on a 37-yard pass from Roger Boeger.

Arlington's varsity cross country team routed Riverside, 16-49, with John Sheppard finishing first a step ahead of teammate Dave Ryden.

Deerfield Is No Pushover!

Forest View Seeks End To 3-Game Losing Skein

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

There has been a lot of gay and frivolous activity at Forest View High School this week as the Fall Festival celebration is under way for approximately 2,300 students.

However for part of this group — approximately 40 in number — the celebration story so far is basically one of work, sweat, and more work.

This grim group is the 1963 edition of the Forest View varsity football team. It is a squad of athletes who are determined to reverse a string of three straight losses when they take the field Saturday afternoon against an invading Deerfield High grid contingent.

THIS Mid-Suburban Conference tilt is a high point in the Forest View Falcons' week of activities, and Coach Bob Scott has been pulling out all stops in order to prepare his Falcon aggregation for what is hoped to be a much desired festival victory.

The game itself will be the first between the two schools, and, for the first and only time this year, Forest View will play host on the Prospect High Scho football field.

Ever since reeling off two straight wins when the season opened, the first over Palatine and the second over East Leyden, the Falcons' fortunes have been completely reversed. As the record now stands, coach Scott's charges have a season standard of two wins against three losses. A victory Saturday would give the locals a 1-1 record in conference play.

THE DEERFIELD grid team, among the respected now after some lean years, comes into this fracas with a season record of three wins, one loss and one tie. The Warriors are fresh from a 19-14 Mid-Suburban Conference win over formidable Glenbrook North and boast a 1-0 posting in the five-team conference standings.

In reviewing last week's 13-0 setback at the hands of Dixon High School, head coach Scott had some kind words for his defensive unit but was not at all pleased at the Falcon offensive display.

There promises to be several new faces in Forest View's offensive starting lineup, as a result of last week's performance. Most of the changes appear in the forward wall, as the Falcons' offensive blocking left much to be desired against the Dukes.

DEERFIELD Coach Doug

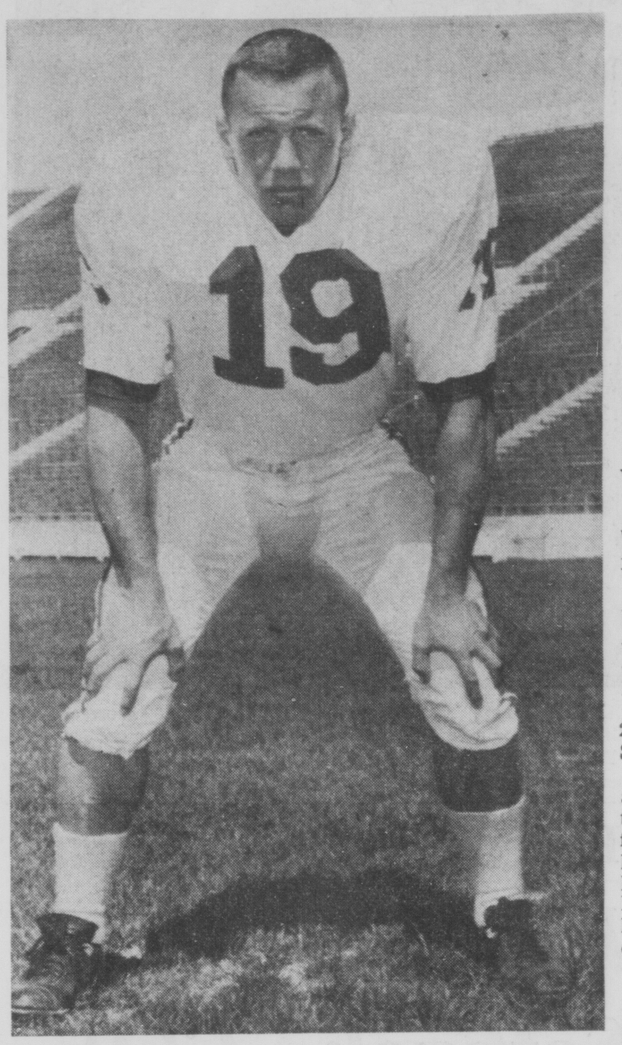
TIME: Junior Varsity, 12 p.m. Saturday; Varsity, 2 p.m. at Prospect Stadium.

COACHES: Forest View, Bob Scott; Deerfield, Douglas Kay.



PROSPECT HIGH GRAD Fred Lussow opened at wingback last Saturday for Indiana University's Hoosiers in the Big Ten battle with Iowa. A 5-10, 180 pound junior, Lussow has made rapid strides this year with the Indiana varsity. He didn't see game action as a sophomore but moved up well in the spring drills. He earned his first Big Ten start with fine performances against both Northwestern and Ohio State. In the first two games Lussow carried the ball four times for 14 yards, caught five passes for 31 yards and intercepted one pass. Lussow was all-conference in football, basketball, and baseball at Prospect. He served as quarterback on Bill Beckman's powerhouse in 1960 that rolled unbeaten in eight games and ranked as one of Illinois' finest schoolboy elevens.

Viator Seeks 1st Loop Win

Two Sophs May Start At Tackles for Locals

by BOB FRISK

The warning is out to DeLaSalle.

Two straight conference setbacks haven't forced St. Viator into hiding.

The Lions were back at work at the outset of the week, calmly confident that they would give the home folks something to shout about Sunday afternoon.

In what amounts to a battle for fourth place in the Chicagoland Prep League St. Viator and DeLaSalle will square off at 2 p.m. on the Prospect High School field.

Both clubs are winless in loop action although the Lions own three decisions against non-conference opponents. DeLaSalle has only one win this season, but has tied Morgan Park (0-0) and Roosevelt East, Ind. (19-19), two highly regarded schoolboy elevens.

LION COACHES Joe Gliwa and Frank Mariani were pleased with some aspects of their squad's play in a 27-13 loss to touted St. Patrick last Sunday but again pointed to some "very poor tackling."

"St. Pat's was big, very big," Gliwa said, "and they should go on to win the conference. But our kids didn't quit. Actually, when you look at the movies it's hard to see much difference between the two teams."

Mariani felt the turning point came early when St. Pat's had a third and 14 situation. "They got the necessary yardage with a reverse and then went on for their first touchdown," Frank remembered.

"We had some shots at the ball carrier, but couldn't bring him down in time. After that drive it took us a little while to bounce back."

GLIWA AND Mariani are planning some lineup shifts for Sunday's battle with DeLaSalle, inserting sophomores Jack Helmer (195) and Dave McGee (200) at the offensive tackle slots.

"They've been working out with us," Mariani said, "and have been looking real good"

On defense Bill Roche, the Lions' starting quarterback at the outset of the season, will work in deep safety with Charley Heinrich. Tom Nitch and Dennis Wilkinson will cover the corners.

Otherwise, the alignments will remain the same. Jim Murray, who showed some fine running against St. Pat's, will get the first call at left half with Tom Ostermann back at full.

Joe Heitz, who was harassed by an onrushing St. Patrick line all afternoon, remains at the No. 1 signal-calling position. Joe turned in another capable performance Sunday.

DELASALLE'S Larry Strimas, engaged in his second year as head man of Meteors, will start four seniors, six juniors, and one sophomore on offense Sunday.

The lone soph is 185-pound guard Frank Wagner.

The Meteors' offensive backfield will be manned by four juniors with quarterback Jimmy Symanski (170) in charge. Bob Baumgartner 185-pound fullback, is the chief threat though and merits all-league consideration according to Strimas.

OTHER BOYS, who have been standouts for the Meteors this fall, are right end Jim Small (180), right tackle Ed Kasrpowicz (210), defensive safety Brad Sutter, and linebacker Joe Wargin.

Sutter has picked off seven enemy passes in five games.

After a shaky first half DeLaSalle gave St. George fits last Sunday, holding the Dragons to a minus 52 yards in the second half. But they couldn't overcome a three-touchdown George explosion in the opening half.

Strimas only uses one senior on defense.

Dad's Day Feature Brings Touted Lions To Arlington Friday

by BOB FRISK

Dick Anderson has been around for a man of 31.

He's coached football at four high schools and at the University of Massachusetts and University of Cincinnati.

However, of all those assignments none probably has given Dick as much satisfaction as his current position at Lyons Township High School.

Anderson's LaGrange Lions, roaring a little louder every week, must clear only three more hurdles en route to a West Suburban Conference football title, and that would be a mighty nice present to hand any coach in his first year on the job.

ACTUALLY, LaGrange has contests with Arlington High (that's the Dads' Day attraction Friday evening) Riverside-Brookfield, and Maine East remaining, and although the Lions will be favored for a sweep Anderson isn't reaching for that trophy yet.

"This is a rough conference," Anderson said. "Team for team the competition is very strong and you can't take anything for granted."

Bill Halls Joins AP In Detroit

Bill Halls, sports and general assignment writer for Paddock Publications, Inc., has accepted a position with the Associated Press in Detroit, Mich.

Halls covered the athletic programs at Forest View and Prospect High Schools in addition to his general assignment duties. He had formerly served as news editor of the Elk Grove Herald.

Marv Prellberg, Jr., will fill in on a part-time basis, working Monday and Tuesday evenings, and covering Forest View football games. Bob Setlik, Elk Grove news editor, will cover the Prospect High School varsity and junior-varsity football games.

A full-time replacement for Halls will be announced later.

Arlington Frosh Roll On; Crush Downers Squads

Arlington High's powerful frosh football teams piled up 58 points and rolled over host Downers Grove in both ends of a plebe twin-bill Saturday morning.

Ted Wissen's "As" moved out to a 21-0 halftime lead and wound up with an impressive 33-0 victory, and Tom Walthouse's "Bs" rocked Downers, 25-0.

Both coaches praised their squads as the Arlington frosh remained unbeaten this season. The "As" are 5-0 with the "Bs" 4-0-1. Both clubs tackle La Grange this Saturday in two key games.

ARLINGTON'S "As" counted on their first play from scrimmage and had no trouble handing Downers Grove a 33-0 reversal. Steve Conley continued his fancy stepping this fall with a 55-yard burst, and before the first quarter terminated Mike Wadzita counted on a 15-yard run.

Doug Fink scored on a two-yard plunge to climax a sustained march in the second quarter.

Arlington scored two more touchdowns in the fourth period with Jim Swanezy covering eight yards off tackle and Dave Lockwood 20 yards around right end.

"Downers never had any kind of march against us," Arlington's Wissen said.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	14	7	0	12	—33

WALTHOUSE'S "Bs" remained unscored on as they blanked Downers, 25-0.

Horcher picked up both first half touchdowns, one on a pass from Hicks, and Dunn and Hicks did the scoring in the final half of this easy victory. Wiederhold ran for one extra point.

"This was one of our best games," Walthouse enthused. "The offense and defense both sparkled. Horcher, Wiederhold, Dunn, and Davis turned in some fine running on offense. Guilfoil intercepted a pass to set up the final touchdown."

But the task ahead is formidable for the Cardinals. La Grange also has not yielded a point this season.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	6	7	6	6	—25

WSC, Mid Suburban Harrier Meets Next

GEORGE SLADEK
Falcon Flash

Laboring with little fanfare and before small crowds for many weeks, varsity and frosh-soph cross country performers in the Mid Suburban and West Suburban conferences occupy the sports spotlight this weekend.

Mid Suburban harriers will convene at the Mount Prospect Country Club Friday afternoon for the league competition, and West Suburban athletes will assemble at Glenbard West High School in Glen Ellyn Saturday morning.

Both schoolboy divisions will recognize winners at varsity and frosh-soph levels.

THE MID Suburban headliner will get under way at 4:30 p.m. for Maine West, Prospect, Forest View, Glenbrook North, Deerfield, and Glenbrook South.

West Suburban action begins at 10 a.m. Saturday with eight schools represented. Sending their top performers to Glenbard West will be the host school, Arlington, Maine East, Hinsdale, LaGrange, Riverside-Brookfield, York, and Downers Grove.

York swept to both varsity and frosh-soph titles in the WSC last fall, and there's little reason to doubt that the Dukes will be unable to repeat. Coach Joe Newton is loaded on both levels.

LEADING THE state champs in the varsity action this time around will be John Woods and George McGregor. Woods was fourth last year with McGregor, now a junior, sixth. This duo has been shattering records at practically every course they've

Brunner 1st Again But Card Harriers Drop League Meet

Arlington is still looking for that first varsity cross country victory in the West Suburban Conference.

Downers Grove yielded first place to the Cardinals' outstanding John Brunner but took the next four slots in registering a 22-38 victory last Friday afternoon.

Arlington gained some revenge on a frosh-soph level with a smashing, 15-50 conquest over the visiting Trojans.

ALTHOUGH BRUNNER, Arlington's junior standout, captured top honors on a varsity level, Downers had too much team strength for Russ Attis' Cardinals.

Next in line for Arlington was Tom Taylor in fifth. Rounding out the Cardinal scorers were Ray Miller (9), Mike Kellogg (11), and Rich Engleson (12).

It was all Arlington in the younger division as Bob Yeazel, Paul Fiegan, Doug Steinman, Mark Saylor, and John Blomquist finished first through fifth.

Arlington's varsity harriers now stand 3-5 for the season, 0-4 in league competition. John Gardner's sophomores are 6-2 with a 3-1 West Suburban standard.

Prospect Harriers In Split

Maine West had the individual winner but couldn't match Prospect's team strength Thursday afternoon in Mid-Suburban cross country competition at the Mount Prospect course.

Coach Dick Calisch's Knights racked up an impressive 23-33 varsity victory, claiming slots through four and also six and eight in the triumph.

Gust Filantres was the first Knight across the line, finishing ten seconds behind Greco, the individual winner from Maine West. Also scoring for Calisch's improving crew were Bob Carr in second, Jack Pollard in fourth, Ed Schuppenhauer in sixth, and George Schneider in eighth.

Maine's powerful frosh-sophs, unbeaten this fall, received their roughest test to date but still posted a 20-37 conquest of Joe Wanner's Prospect entry.

The young Warriors finished 1-2 with Prospect's Jeff Long in third, ten seconds off the pace. Other Knights figuring in the team total were Tim Staudenmier (5), Ray Harnish (8), Dick Braunschwig (9), and Dennis Breen (12).

St. Patrick Frosh Top St. Viator

A pass play covering 60 yards and extra point in the closing seconds gave St. Patrick's frosh football team a 13-12 victory over St. Viator Saturday morning.

The loss was the first in three games for the freshman Lions with a battle with visiting DeLaSalle this Saturday, Oct. 19, at 10 a.m.

Mike Kennedy scored the first touchdown on a six-yard run, and Jim Fencel pulled in a pass from Paul Stevens for the final St. Viator counter.

Dixon Hands Falcons Third Setback, 13-0

Dixon coach Chuck Vaile did some experimenting a few weeks back with his defensive alignment.

"We switched the defense," he explained before Saturday's battle with Forest View. "We took out the big men — and haven't given up many points since."

The amazling little Dukes, averaging a mere 150 pounds on defense, didn't give up any points Saturday, hanging a surprising 13-0 defeat on the host Falcons who now have dropped three straight after victories in their first two games.

VAILE, HEAD man of the North Central League entry, was worried about his offense ("we've had some trouble scoring"), but he didn't need much of an offense Saturday at the Arlington High School field.

Dixon scored single touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters, both set up by Jim Knigge passes, and limited the Falcons to only five first downs on this cold October evening.

The victory was Dixon's first in five outings this fall. The Dukes tied both Ottawa and Sterling.

Dixon effectively shut off the Falcon running game, limiting Ralph Kaspari (a 5.2 per carry back before the outing) to only 33 yards in 12 cracks, and yielded only 24 yards through the air.

ACTUALLY, the Dukes, hindered by the absence of 190-pound fullback Corny Patterson, didn't show a decisive advantage on the ground, but their aerial act, despite its infrequent employment, was extremely effective. Four Knigge completions covered 101 yards and both scores were set up by long pitches.

After picking off a Mike Griesman pass on their own 33 yard line the Dukes charged downfield for the first six-pointer in eight plays. Key maneuver was a nifty 49-yard pitch from Knigge to halfback Al Zimmerman with the fleet 160-pounder nailed at the Forest View three.

The Falcons held for two plays, but Knigge flipped a short pass to end Mike Davis for the touchdown. Fullback Art Law converted to give Dixon a 7-0 bulge.

The Dukes added an insurance tally early in the fourth period following a march of 58 yards that took 14 plays. Greg Kelchner carried in from the four at the 11:21 mark.

FOREST VIEW'S top scoring opportunities came in the second quarter but a fumble, pass interception, and the clock killed each threat.

On a fourth and three play at the Dixon 20 Kaspari fumbled and the Dukes took over. A Griesman pass was picked off at the Dixon 36 two minutes later, and time ran out in the first half with a Griesman to Kaspari pitch reaching the 26.

Head coach Bob Scott used both Russ Barger and Griesman at quarterback in the concluding stanza with Mike directing a drive to the 47 at the gun.

8th Pollard Clinic Draws 535 Coaches

Five hundred and thirty-five coaches attended the Eighth Annual Jim Pollard Basketball Coaches Clinic held last weekend at The George Washington Motor Lodge West in Prussia, Pa.

Pollard, who lives at 624 S. George St., Mount Prospect, serves as co-director of the clinic that annually attracts hundreds of coaches.

Assisting Pollard was Bill Foster, head coach at Rutgers University, N. J.

Serving on the All-Star staff were Ed Jucker of the University of Cincinnati, Jack McCloskey of the University of Pennsylvania, Ed McCluskey of Farrell (Pa.) High School, and Fred Kelley of Virginia Military Institute.

Pollard, who was named to the all-pro team for six of his eight years in professional basketball, was head coach at LaSalle College in Philadelphia for three years and with the Chicago Packers (now Baltimore Bullets) in the National Basketball Association for one season.

Falcon Football

Kay is also putting his charges through rigorous practice sessions this week in preparation for the game. Kay voices deep respect for the Falcons' mentor Scott and would treasure a victory Saturday in order to keep in at least a tie for the top spot in the conference standing.

Expected to carry the brunt of the running game for the Warriors is a 155-pound, speedy senior halfback, Frank Checchin. The quarterbacking chores will be handled by a 190-pound sophomore John Lindquist and also senior Mike Butler.

Expected to be a prime target in the Deerfield passing attack will be Co-captain Tee Newbrough, a 6' 155-pound end, whom Kay considers to be of All-State caliber.

THE OFFENSIVE punch for Forest View is expected to primarily come from the running ability of halfback Ralph Kaspari. However, Kaspari and his running mates will have to be at their best, as they will be bucking up against a tough Warrior defensive line headed by 245-pound tackle Tom Brown.

Forest View comes into the game a slight underdog. Coach Scott and his cohorts hope that this week's shift in personnel will bring forth a winning combination.

This is a big week at Forest View High School, and a victory Saturday could serve to set in motion a strong finish for the 1963 schedule.

Deerfield comes to town hoping to spoil the festivities, and these Warriors no longer wear the label of "patsy" in area football action.

Maine West Frosh Trip Knight Units

The Warriors' 'A' eleven blanked the Knights, 13-0, and the 'Bs' tripped up the Foundry Road entry, 19-0.

"It was scoreless at the half of the 'A' game," Prospect's Dave Ziemek reported, "but a fumble led to their first score and we seemed to fall apart."

Prospect's 'As' stand 1-3 for the season with the 'Bs' even in four outings.

Prospect will host Glenbrook Saturday morning at 9:30 in an 'A' game only.

In Friday Contest

Prospect to Travel

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

They say that there is fire in the eyes of the Glenbrook North varsity football team these days.

Just why are they all steamed up? The answer seems to be twofold.

First, the Spartans are playing host to arch rival Prospect High School, the team that last season edged them out of a tie for the Interim Conference title in a thrilling 16-14 battle.

The second reason stems from the fact that the Friday night contest is Glenbrook North's Homecoming game, and this in itself is usually a strong motivating factor.

HOWEVER, there seems to be no sign of apprehension in the Prospect High camp, as they diligently prepare for the loop encounter. Coach J. O. Jackson's charges realize that the Glenbrook North squad has a revenge motive in mind, but the fact that this is a homecoming game doesn't bother them. After all, this is the third straight homecoming tilt in which the Knights have been involved.

Glenbrook North comes into this affair with a better season record than Prospect. The Spartans have won three times while losing two, whereas Prospect has only one victory against four defeats. However, Prospect boasts a better Mid-Suburban Conference record. The Knights are 1-1 with Glenbrook North 0-2.

TIME: Jayvee game, 6 p.m.; Varsity game, 8 p.m.

COACHES: Glenbrook North, Walter Ney; Prospect, J. O. Jackson.

J. O. JACKSON Wants This One

Both teams will be gunning to get back on the victory path again after suffering setbacks last week. Glenbrook North lost a 19-14 league encounter to a respected Deerfield eleven and Prospect received its lumps from conference favorite Maine West 34-14.

COACH WALT NEY of the Spartans attributes the Deerfield loss to a couple of costly team mistakes, and the fact that three potential TD passes were dropped by his receivers.

An injury will probably keep Glenbrook North's All-Conference Fullback John Twist out of action in this game, and therefore it appears that Ney may be forced to continue to try the air lanes in spite of last week's passing memories.

The Prospect coaching staff sums up last week's Maine West contest by agreeing that the Warriors had the best depth and over-all balance of any opponent faced this season. Jackson was quite critical of the Knights' tackling, but in the same breath praised his charges for giving good second half effort and never did show any signs of throwing in the towel.

THE KNIGHTS have never been at full strength in any game this season because of injuries, but appear to be in their best physical condition right now.

Highly touted halfback Jim McMillan is rounding into shape after being injured in the season opener and is expected to share the bulk of the running chores along with fullback Wayne Kuklinski.

Also welcomed back on the active list is defensive lineman Earl Smith.

The Knights are not recognized as being very deep in reserve strength, and the manner in which these returnees can weather further injuries is of prime importance to the Prospect cause.

THE CONSENSUS in both camps is that this could develop into a free scoring battle. Coach Ney looks upon the Knights as a potentially explosive team that may be past due to erupt. The Prospect coaching staff has much respect for the passing ability of the Spartans' quarterback Don Johansen, and, even with their biggest running threat, Twist out with an injury, the Knight mentors consider the other Glenbrook North backs as highly capable.

These two teams have met for four years now. Prospect hasn't been beaten by the Spartans since the opening meeting in 1959. There is no title at stake as in last year's dramatic finale, but this match is one of those natural rivalries.

Glenbrook North wants revenge, while Prospect is intent on dampening the host school's Homecoming celebration.

Glenbrook South Edges Prospect Jayvees, 13-7

Twelve inches may not seem like much to most people, but that simple foot gave Forest View's Paul Jordan fits Saturday evening.

Twelve inches just may have cost the Falcons' junior-varsity football team a victory in action with Glenbrook South.

A fourth down play at the Glenbrook four yard line fell one foot short of the necessary yardage and Prospect's jayvees were forced to settle for a 13-7 reversal in a grid headliner with Glenbrook South.

"That was one of the tougher clubs we've played," Jordan said, "but that makes two straight tight games now our kids have lost."

Prospect scored first on a 10-yard pass from Steve Mueller to Bill Croutch with Steve Caronelli pulling in an aerial for the extra point.

"They (Glenbrook) scored with 25 seconds remaining in the first half," Jordan pointed out, "and picked up another touchdown early in the fourth quarter."

Jordan praised the line play of Chester Lowiec and the running of Pat Dunnigan.

Forest View's jayvees, now 2-3 this season, will host Deerfield this Saturday at 12 noon.

Falcons' Frosh Suffer First Loss of Season

Glenbrook South's frosh football team remained unbeaten Saturday with an impressive 13-6 victory over Forest View.

The winners never trailed as they handed Keith North's Falcons their first loss of the 1963 season.

Forest View scored on a sneak by quarterback Bob Arnold. Jeff Jacoby's 35-yard scamper set up the touchdown.

"We didn't threaten again," North related. "They dominated play and have a real fine team."

Forest View's frosh gridders, now 3-1 for the season, will journey to Deerfield Saturday morning for a contest at 9:30.

Harriers Engage In League Meets

tried this season.

Arlington High School, coached by Russ Attis, doesn't have the over-all strength to merit consideration in the varsity title scramble, but the Cards do boast one of the league's top individuals in junior John Brunner.

Brunner, third on a frosh-soph level in 1962, has been outstanding this year with six firsts, one second, and one third in dual meets. John finished third behind the two York flashes and was runnerup to Maine's Ted Zillmer.

Joining Brunner for the varsity Cardinals will be Tom Taylor, Ray Miller, Rich Engleson, Mike Kellogg, Mike East, and Horst Schneeweis or Bob Conti.

IN ADDITION to Brunner, Woods, McGregor, and Zillner, other boys expected to be among the front-runners Saturday are Larry Kraut of Downers Grove, Kevin Keogh of Riverside-Brookfield, Henry Thomas of LaGrange, Dave Holzworth and Chip Campbell of Hinsdale, and Jon DeLeon of Glenbard West.

Although York is favored in the frosh-soph division, Arlington could have something to say here. John Gardner's entry is 3-1 in league duals with the only loss to York, 25-36.

Working for Arlington will be Bob Yeazel, Paul Fiegan, Doug Steinman, David Schimpf, Mark Saylor, John Blomquist, and either Art Weidner or Brian Anderson.

WHEREAS THE West Suburban Conference has been staging cross country meets since 1924, the Mid Suburban is in its infancy and will hold its first competition Friday at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

And a tight battle for team honors on a varsity level is anticipated.

The form sheet now has Glenbrook North, Prospect, Forest View, and possibly Maine West in the scramble for the team crown with Deerfield owning the best individual. How's that for balance in a six-team loop?

Only Glenbrook South appears outclassed in the Mid Suburban harrier picture.

CLOUDING THE picture are such facts as Glenbrook North's one-point victory over Prospect and Prospect's one-point victory over Forest View. There isn't much to separate the squads on that basis.

Look for Walt Weinert of Deerfield, John Greco of Maine West, George Sladek of Forest View, and Gust Filantres and Jerry Potter of Prospect to be among the individual leaders.

Weinert showed early this week that he was ready for the league run when he finished 15 seconds in front of the Falcons' Sladek, a standout all season.

FOREST VIEW coach Bob Rees indicated Tuesday that he would work with Sladek, Jerry Potter, Ted Lambert, Phil Valentino, Brian McIntosh and probably Howard Hogle and Terry Hayden on a varsity level in the league run.

Craig Brown, Omar Aviles, Bill [illegible]dinski, Greg Shornden, and [illegible]n Tabbert will work for the [illegible]con frosh-sophs.

In Prospect's camp Dick Calisch will probably go with Filantres, George Schneider, Ed Schuppenhauer, Bob Carr, Jack Pollard, and Ed Schneider on a varsity level Friday. Rick Carr, Dave Render, Jeff Long, Roy Harnish, Tim Staundenmaier, and Fred Brereton are leading frosh-soph candidates.

Both the West Suburban and Mid Suburban conferences base their final standings on the dual meet records and league run. Consequently, the weekend meets only count one-half toward determining the actual harrier champions.

Cards Meet Lions

"We're a well-rounded team without individual stars," Anderson says. "We don't have a lot of quickness, but we've been winning on defense. And our interior line play has been exceptional."

ARLINGTON'S head man Al Allen concurs with Anderson. "That's a great defense they have," Al praised after watching the Lions murder Glenbard West 51-0 last Saturday. "It's a solid team with probably the best quarterback (junior Gary Jestadt) in the league."

The statistics bear out this enthusiasm over the LaGrange defense.

In four conference outings—three victories and a 6-6 tie with Downers Grove—the Lions have yielded only two touchdowns. Even explosive Downers, featuring some of the swiftest backs anywhere, could pick up just one tally against Anderson's charges.

ANDERSON gives a lot of credit for this defensive prowess to tackles Bill Mitchell (277) and Runo Anderson (199) with the two seniors going both ways.

Jestadt, Allen's nomination as the league's top quarterback, also drew some praise from Anderson. "Gary played with the sophomores last year and has been coming by leaps and bounds this fall. He's a fine thrower and a good thinker out there."

Joining Jestadt in the backfield Friday will be Gary Maxwell (178) at fullback, Dennis Riccio (165) at one half, and either John Wintermute (180) or Rich Moore (196) at the other slot. Riccio broke Hinsdale's back with some long runs in the 14-7 contest and is a dangerous breakaway threat.

THE LIONS have good size in the line from tackle to tackle with those five youngsters averaging 200 pounds each. The ends—Bobby Granota (170) and Rog Galvin (176) — pull down the over-all line average, but they're capable flanks.

Over in Arlington's camp, Allen has some plans for utilizing two different alignments Friday in the Dad's Day feature.

"We're thinking of using a team of juniors and one with seniors with some interchanging," Al explained.

With that in mind Jim Ewart, a senior, will quarterback one squad with junior Mike Frase in charge of the other unit. Both boys had their moments on offense Friday against Downers Grove.

EWART COUNTED the Cardinals' first touchdown with an impressive nine-yard smash off the quarterback option play in the second period, and Frase directed the final scoring march with four pass completions. Mike finished with five of nine for 53 yards.

Allen indicated that the game films showed that the Cards "again were having trouble getting off their marks."

"We had a couple mistakes and then there was that big letdown," Al pointed out. "But Downers has a fine ball club. They have excellent speed."

Semi-Finals Next For Bowlers in Zone II Action

Bob Peters of Rockford and Grace Platt of Mundelein are the individual leaders heading into the semi-finals of the Zone II Illinois State Bowling Proprietors Association All-Star bowling eliminations.

Peters has a 1687 total and 22-pin bulge over runnerup Jack Cerniglia of Rockford.

Rounding out the top five in the competition that will resume at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Niles Bowling Center are Bob Olson of Rockford (1631), George Schricker of Skokie (1618), and Mike DeCristofer of Lake Forest (1609).

AMONG AREA entries Bob Rogers of Buffalo Grove has a 1567 total and Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights is at 1557.

Joining Grace Platt among the gals' leaders are Laverne Rosseit of Skokie (745), Judy Adams of North Chicago (742), Lucille Hay of Hartnett (742), and Irene Plant of Lake Forest (735).

Area gals in the semi-finals are Vi Douglas (731), Winnie Lohse (719), Rosemary Babich (719), Jan Crovetti (714), and Maxine Moehling (697).

The women will get under way again at 3 p.m. Saturday at Niles Bowling Center with the men at 7 and 9:30 p.m. The field then will be cut to 16 men and eight women.

On Sunday eight men and four women will survive the competition with the finals slated for the final weekend in October.

Falcons Win for Parents

It was Parents Night for Forest View's cross country teams Tuesday, and the Falcons didn't disappoint in dual meet competition with Deerfield.

Bob Rees' outfit racked up a 20-39 victory in the varsity action and 15-48 conquest on a frosh-soph level in the meets at Mount Prospect Country Club.

"We had about 50 parents out for the two meets," Rees said.

Although Deerfield's Walt Weinert posted an easy victory in the varsity competition, Forest View grabbed the next five slots for an easy triumph.

Backing Weinert were the Falcons' George Sladek (2), Jerry Potter (3), Ted Lambert (4), Phil Valentino (5), and Brian McIntosh (6). Weinert was 15 seconds in front of Sladek.

Forest View had no trouble in the frosh-soph meet with a sweep of the first five places thanks to Craig Brown, Omar Aviles, Bill Widinski, Greg Shornden, and John Tabbert.

And NIU Wins

Harrassed Bork Still Hits on 16

De KALB, (UPI) — Northern ace George Bork dodged reddogging linemen long enough to fire one touchdown pass and set up another score Saturday as the Huskies, second ranked small college team in the nation, rallied to beat Hillsdale College 19-13.

Bork, constantly harrassed by linemen who averaged 225 pounds each, fired an 11 yard touchdown pass to Gary Stearns in the second quarter to tie the score and hit Dave Broderick on the yard line in the same period to set up the go-ahead touchdown. Bork completed 16 of 35 passes for 199 yards for his poorest passing percentage so far this season.

In leading the Huskies to five straight wins, the Mount Prospect star has completed 116 of 175 passes, 18 for touchdowns, for a .663 completion average and 1,630 total yards.

Luke Adams passed 10 yards to Larry Fowler for Hillsdale's first score and George Banks hit Fowler on a 40 yard pass play in the final quarter for the visitor's final tally.

Northern will host Illinois State Normal this Saturday on Homecoming.

Jones 1st But Lions Fall, 22-33

St. Viator's Mike Jones topped the individual finishers, but that wasn't enough as the Lions' varsity cross country team suffered a 22-33 loss to visiting Barrington last week.

Jones covered the home course in 9:05 for his fifth first place finish this season.

Mike Smith ran sixth for the Lions with a time of 9:19. Also scoring were Pat Doherty in seventh, Dave Mulcahy in ninth, and John Lightner in tenth.

Barrington also topped the Lions in the frosh-soph competition, racking up a decisive 19-41 win.

Packard ran fourth for St. Viator at 9:55. Other Lions who finished "in the money" were Tom Crofton (5), Rich Tremblay (9), Don Rich (10), and Golab (13).

Falcons Dump Warriors

Morton West took a large step toward the first Des Plaines Valley title and ruined Willowbrook's homecoming in one fell swoop last Saturday, whipping the Warriors 19-7.

The Falcons pushed over three first half TD's and shut off the Warrior offense throughout. The Willowbrook score came on the last play of the game when John Lundquist scooped up a Falcon fumble and raced 70 yards.

Morton grabbed the lead late in the first quarter on a two yard plunge by halfback Dick Smith. The visitors added the clinchers in the second period, the final coming after a Warrior fumble on the Willowbrook two yard line.

The Willowbrook JV's won the opener, 20-0.

In cross country, the Warriors took the first five places to hand the Falcons a 15-40 setback.

Swift Downers Races Past Cards; Remains In Tie for Top Spot

NAILED BY THREE Downers Grove defenders after an impressive punt runback is Arlington High School's Jerry Culbertson in the first half of Friday's Homecoming battle. Culbertson had taken the opening kickoff back 40 yards but the Cards were halted at the Downers 21 on downs. The Trojans rocked the hosts, 39-13. (Staff photo)

by BOB FRISK

Schoolboy football buffs who insist Downers Grove is the best the West Suburban Conference has to offer this fall would receive little argument from the fans who attended Arlington's Homecoming festivities Friday evening.

Given a stiff argument by host Arlington for slightly better than one period, the visiting Trojans erupted with two second period touchdowns and coasted in with an impressive 39-13 victory.

Scoring on dazzling runs and sustained marches with as swift a set of backs as the league has seen in many years, Downers Grove kept pace with LaGrange in the interesting loop title scramble. Both clubs now own 3-0-1 records and are half lap on top of third place York.

Arlington stumbled to its fourth straight league reversal Friday but still showed some capable football in spots and enjoyed a one-point lead for almost six minutes of the second period.

JIM EWART'S dandy nine-yard scoring scamper and Steve Martin's conversion gave the Cardinals a 7-6 lead at the 9:11 mark of the second period, but Downers bounced right back with a determined march and then blew the game wide open.

Arlington scored again late in the fourth period following a march of 61 yards with quarterback Mike Frase flipping four completions for 42 of those yards. Dependable Tom Fagerson, a standout again for the Cards, picked up the six points on a four-yard smash.

The Cards penetrated the Downers defense for nine first downs and six of those came via the air lanes, four on that final drive. The Trojans had 14 first downs and outgained the hosts 287-161.

AFTER STOPPING Arlington on its own 29 late in the first period, the Trojans struck for six points when swift Johnny Lounibos, a brilliant broken-field runner, gathered in a Fagerson punt and dashed 59 yards for the tally.

Frase returned the ensuing kickoff 31 yards to the Cardinal 39 and in seven plays the locals scored. Ewart hit for seven to the 46 and he reached the 48 on another keeper.

Fagerson pulled in a Ewart aerial at the Downers 18 for a first down and in two plays Jerry Culbertson scampered around right end to the eight. Ewart was nailed for a yard loss but he carried off the right side for nine, well-earned yards and the touchdown. Martin's kick gave Arlington a 7-6 lead with 9:11 remaining in the first half.

DOWNERS needed 11 plays to regain the lead as Lounibos contributed the key yardage with some fancy stepping. With 3:49 remaining Paul Faris smashed over from the five.

The Trojans again missed the extra point but it didn't make any difference. "Butch" Hanford, a fine quarterback, hit Mickey Smith from the ten for the third Trojan score of the first half and with a successful conversion the visitors carried a 19-7 advantage into the dressing room.

Smith took in a Fagerson punt midway in the third quarter and raced 52 yards for a fourth touchdown, and Paul Kuch did the honors from the two for another counter early in the final stanza.

WITH FRASE in control Arlington moved 61 yards in 11 plays for its second and final touchdown. Mike completed four passes for first downs in the drive.

Dan Sherman pulled in the final pitch at the 11 for a first down, and Rip Van Sky belted to the four. Culbertson was nailed at the line, but ol' reliable Fagerson carried in for the six points.

With 37 seconds remaining, Downers' Faris took a kickoff back 80 yards for the final score on this Homecoming evening.

Fagerson was the Arlington story for the most part on offense. He punted five times for a 31.2 average. He carried nine times for 37 yards, scored one touchdown, and pulled in four passes for 64 yards.

Knights Unable to Stop Maine West's Single Wing Attack

Warriors Coast Past Host Prospect, 34-14

by BOB SETLIK

The Maine West Warriors continue to turn back opponents with the same disdain that they have turned back the clock.

Coach Ken Olson's antiquated single wing offense overwhelmed a more modern minded but slower and lighter Prospect team Saturday, 34-14.

Olson left the Prospect homecoming crowd wondering whether he couldn't teach Ohio State something about the "three yards and a cloud of dust" offense.

The Warriors ran almost at will through Prospect. They rushed for 360 yards, and controlled the ball most of the game.

MOST OF THE yardage came on power sweeps that sent 217 pound blocking back Dave Aegerter and it seemed at times, half the Maine team, in front of two classy tailbacks.

Prospect's bread and butter junior fullback, Wayne Kuklinski, playing despite an ankle injured the previous week, picked up only eight yards all day. His team mates didn't do much better.

The score was 20-0 in the third quarter when J. O. Jackson's Knights reached into the grab bag for their first touchdown.

QUARTERBACK Dave White, after lateraling to halfback Grant Gentry, raced downfield to receive a 56 yard scoring pass. White caught the ball around the 30, and outraced the only defender close enough to the play to read his jersey number.

Gentry later proved his pass wasn't a fluke. In the fourth quarter he tossed a 30 yarder to end Greg Melzer. It was the big gainer in a drive that resulted in Prospect's other score, a one yard plunge by halfback Jim McMillan.

Grant's the only Knight likely to find something for his scrapbook. He completed the two passes he threw for 86 yards, more than half Prospect's total yardage.

Prospect made a game out of it until late in the second quarter.

Maine had penetrated to the Prospect 21 and 24 without scoring; Prospect punted the two times it had the ball.

IT WAS KUKLINSKI'S second punt, traveling only 15 yards to the Knights' 40, that opened the gates.

Maine's tailbacks Charles Curren and Cal Lewis, alternating on every play, then went to work. It took 10 plays for Curren to chug the ball into the end zone from the six. The clock showed three minutes left in the half. John Gabbert added the point.

Prospect hardly had the ball long enough to read the trademark when it had to punt again.

Maine, starting from its 37 with two minutes to go, soon had the ball on the three thanks mainly to a 47 yard scamper by Fullback Jim Cichowski. Curren, a 150 pound junior, again took it over. Babbett added the point, and it was 14-0 at half time.

PROSPECT STILL appeared shell-shocked early in the second half, when Curren ran for 61 yards and another touchdown.

It was here that White and Gentry changed roles and put Prospect on the scoreboard. But Maine added another before the end of the quarter when Lewis, Curren's alter ego, scored from the 19.

The teams traded touchdowns in the last quarter. Prospect scored on McMillan's plunge and Maine on Curren's fourth TD run of the day.

Prospect, already assured of the worst season in the school's five year history, walked off the field with its fourth loss in five games.

Maine, almost a cinch to take the Mid-Suburban title, won its fourth straight after an opening 7-6 loss to highly ranked Peoria Central.

In the process, Olson looked like he has enough 200 pound linemen and quick backs to outclass most teams even if he ran from a formation devised on a school playground.

Lions Third in Both Divisions

St. Viator had to settled for two thirds Monday afternoon in a triangular cross country meet at St. Francis High School in Wheaton.

St. Patrick ruled the varsity meet, and the hosts headed the frosh - soph competition. The Lions finished a distant third in both divisions.

Mike Jones came home in third place for the locals in the varsity class, but was 38 seconds behind the winner from St. Pat's. Also scoring for the varsity Lions were Pat Doherty (9), John Lightner (14), Dave Mulcahy (15), and Paul Demmert (23).

Bob Nemec was the first Lion across the line in the frosh-soph meet as he toured the course in 10:30 for a fifth slot. Tom Crofton placed 14th with Don Rich 26th, Rich Tremblay 29th, and Wayne Paturalski 31st.

Elmer Hunnewihkel of St. Francis was the individual winner in the frosh-soph meet with a nifty 10:15 clocking.

In winning the varsity meet St. Patrick compiled 29 points. St. Francis was second with 37 and St. Viator third at 64. St. Francis' 22 markers were good for an easy first in the frosh-soph action with St. Patrick (46) and St. Viator (105) finishing in that order.

Between Packers, Cards

Loop Playoff Sunday

Sunday was the day of decision in the Senior Division of the Mount Prospect Football Association.

It was also the last game on the schedule. But when the dust had settled, the division lead had changed hands for the fourth time.

On the strength of their decisive victories, the Packers and Cardinals ended up in a tie for 1st place, necessitating a play off for the championship next Sunday at 2 p.m. at Lions Park in Mount Prospect.

THE CARDINALS played their finest game of the year in smashing the Bears, 32-0. The first two touchdowns were scored by Ted Passarelli and the half ended 14-0.

In the third quarter, Ken Sophie duplicated his teammate's heroics by scoring two more TD's. Late in the third quarter, a 10 yard pass from Mark Walinski to Frank Waslewski accounted for the final Cardinal score.

On defense, "Butch" Leonard, Jim Fazio and Jim Stephen were outstanding while Lou Grossi and Tom Anderson played a fine offensive game.

IN THE OTHER decisive Senior game, the Packers beat the Colts 18-0 in an extremely hard-fought contest. For the Packers, Dave Johnson scored a quarterback sneak, Dancer scored on a pass and, on the last play of the game, Pat Moran recovered a lateral pass and ran 50 yards for the final TD.

Other outstanding players were Adams and St. Denis in the backfield and Balzano and Sanders in the line.

For the Colts, Joe Martin, Jim Mizialko and Dennis Palubicki were standouts in the backfield while Tom and Rich Irmen, John Hamparian, Steve Barker and Dennis Sramek were the line men who stalled the Packers' offensive thrusts.

IN THE JUNIOR Division, the Browns kept on their winning ways by downing the Rams 26-0. Mike Morgan scored the first TD on a 33 yard end run. Scott Crawford intercepted a Rams' pass for the second touchdown and quickly followed this with another end run for the third score. Ken Preski completed the scoring with an end sweep in the final quarter.

Mike Morgan also played a great game in the backfield as did Tom Tangney, Steve Rohrback and Gary Ross in the line.

The 49'ers kept their title hopes alive by taking the measure of the Eagles 39-20. They still trail the Browns by one game.

MIKE CUNNINGHAM and Jim Remsen accounted for all the winner's touchdowns, Mike scoring four times and Jim twice. Randy Ballard's passing and Mike Cutter's running were also highlights of the 49'ers offense. Jim Dooley, Barry O'Donnell, Bob Crowell, Paul Paluzzi, Mike Sennett and Mike McKay were the outstanding linemen for the winners.

For the Eagles, Victor Michalek scored on the opening kickoff; Pat Lawlor followed with a 10 yard plunge for the second TD, and a Gary Duda pass to Bill Michalek completed the scoring. In the Eagles' line, Rick Mottweiler, Allen Marble and Jim Fitzsimmons shone on defense and blocking.

The Redskins won a hard-fought game from the Steelers, 13-7. The victors scored twice in the first half to lead 13-0, but it was the Steelers who took the offensive in the final stanza, scoring once and outplaying the Redskins.

KINNEMAN scored twice for the Redskins on end runs of 25 and 35 yards. Marshall, Carroll and Murray were the backfield aces while Bersted, Garlock, French, Braucle, Ganffey and Reid stopped the Steelers' offense from their line positions.

The Vikings ran into some unexpectedly tough opposition and barely squeezed out a 13-7 victory over a hard-fighting band of Cowboys.

Paul Waldo passed to John Gatto for 32 yards and the first Viking TD. Gatto outran five defensive Cowboys to score the winning touchdown. He was helped by some fine line play from Greg Swanson, Casey Rush and Greg Trapani.

DAVE PHILLIPS scored for the Cowboys on a pass from Gary Bach, Steve Snyder was outstanding on pass defense and Bach played another fine game in the backfield as well as in the line. Other outstanding linemen were Jerry Johnson, and Don Rogers.

Fairview became the first team to cinch a championship when it trounced Emerson 27-0 while Sunset was beating Prospect 14-0 in the Bantam Division.

Once again, it was Scott Szala and Mickey Gebert who provided the offensive and defensive fireworks for the Fairview team. On the opening kickoff Szala ran 60 yards yards through the Emerson team for the TD.

Gebert followed with two more and the final score was a Gebert pass to Szala covering 40 yards.

BRUCE NELSON and Ray Leonard also played a fine game in the backfield and Russ Young, Dave Porter, Mike Martin and Richard Clark were standouts in the line.

For Emerson, Tom Trandell sparkled in the backfield. Jeff Underwood, Dan Trapani and Scott Bermin were the linemen who held the Fairview offensive to a single touchdown in the first half.

Owens beat Lincoln 12-0, Mancini passing to Madl for one touchdown and Lind scoring the second on an end run. Bentall, Fox and Nobel were in the line and held back any Lincoln offensive threat.

In the final Bantam game, the Lions battled to a 0-0 deadlock with Central. This was the Lions' third scoreless tie. Doug Dahlstrom completed one pass and Scott Buhl, Mundt and Croke made some fine runs but were always stopped short of the goal line.

In the line, Bakk, Ennis, Leo Karlovitz, Layer and Pollard were fine defensive players.

DENNIS ELLERTSON OF Arlington Heights finished second in the 37th Annual Elgin to Chicago bicycle race staged from Elgin to Devon Avenue at the Whelan Pool, one half mile east of Milwaukee Avenue. Ellertson, displaying the trophy he won for his second, was competing unattached. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wollert R. Ellertson, 908 E. Euclid. (Staff Photo)

Gallant Lady Wins Three Show Awards

Linda Jayne Rides Own Horse to Victory

Over 200 entries competed in 16 major shows for the coveted Illinois Horse of the Year Awards, and consistency was the mark as Gallant Lady, owned and ridden by Linda Jayne, jumped her way to a triple crown.

Gallant Lady won the Regular Working Hunter, Junior Working Hunter and Town and Country Equitation President's Cup.

For the third successive season Pocohontas, better known to the fans as "Pokey," paced the competition in the Open Jumper Championship with her owner-rider Bill McGinley of Palatine. Bill also rode his White Sox to the newly instituted Field Hunter Championship.

AZTEC SUN, with owner Betty Lue Helferich of Evanston up, continued his winning ways this year as a second year horse to gain the Green Working Hunter as well as the Reserve Working Hunter title.

Mrs. E. Fisher's (Detroit) Conformation Hunter Champion Mr. Deliberate was well ridden throughout by Bob Egan.

Two youngsters of 11 and 12 showed the girls how to do it in the 13-and-under Junior Hunters. Chris Galvin of Barrington, 12, emerged as final victor with 322 points. Robert McGinley from Palatine was Reserve titlist with 313.

Horses trained by George Jayne and Tri-Color Farms of Palatine accounted for seven championships and three reserves in the nine divisions offered.

Post 21-7 Victory

Card Sophs Stop Downers; Remain Game From Lead!

Arlington's sophomore Cardinals registered two touchdowns in the first half, both in the closing seconds, and a third mid-way through the third quarter as they stopped visiting Downers Grove Friday evening, 21-7.

With the victory Arlington, coached by Bill Daletski and Julius Fliehler, remained one step behind pace-setting Hinsdale in the West Suburban Conference title chase. Three games remain for each club.

The young Cardinals threatened on two occasions in the opening half Friday before finally pushing in for the six points. A blocked punt by Mark Frase set up the initial tally with Tom LeStarge hitting Tom Reid on an eight-yard pass for the score, Steve Ewart picked up the extra point.

SECONDS LATER—fifty-three to be exact with only seven remaining in the first half — a stiff penalty on the visitors gave the Cards another chance and they cashed in quickly.

LeStarge fired a perfect pass to end Mike Whalen, and the 154-pound end didn't break stride in a pretty 29-yard scoring effort. Ewart again ran for the extra point.

Arlington scored its third touchdown in the third period when Frase blocked another Downers punt. The Cards took over on the Trojans' 19 and counted in six plays with LeStarge smashing in from the one on a fourth and one situation.

Frase tried to start another Cardinal march when he picked off a Downers pass late in the third period but this one stalled.

The visitors scored their only touchdown with 5:37 remaining in the game on a 38-yard march that was set off by a blocked punt.

Arlington's sophs will entertain LaGrange (1-3 in the league) this Friday evening at six o'clock.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	0	14	7	0-21
Downers	0	0	0	7- 7

Globetrotters Making Visit Here Oct. 24

At Forest View Gym; Peg-Leg's Coming, Too

The Harlem Globetrotters are coming to town.

Abe Saperstein's spectacular basketball attraction, headed by Meadowlark Lemon, will appear in the Forest View High School gymnasium on Thursday evening, Oct. 24.

In an event sponsored by the Elk Grove Junior Chamber of Commerce the Globetrotters will battle the Atlantic City Sea Gulls at 8 p.m. Additional entertainment will feature Peg-Leg Bates, the veteran one-legged dancing star; batonist Guy Allan; equilibrists; trampolinist Mike Pickering; and a famous table tennis duo.

TICKETS are $2.50 for adults and $2.00 for children under 18. They may be purchased at the Currency Exchange in Elk Grove, Behrens Real Estate in Arlington, Market Place Currency in Des Plaines, and Rolling Meadows Suburban Drug.

Off their showing on tour against the Harlem Globetrotters last spring, the Atlantic City (N. J.) Sea Gulls, official basketball representative of the east coast resort city, have won a repeat assignment and will appear in the Forest View gym as opponents of the Trotters.

PEG-LEG BATES

Displaying a fiery and effective brand of ball, the Gulls gave last season's Trotters many an exciting contest and some of their meetings developed into cage classics.

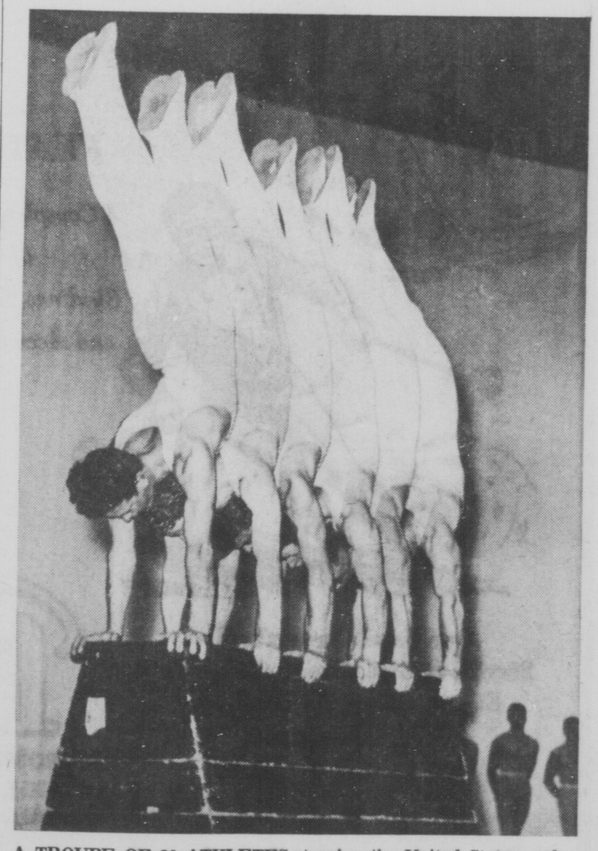
WITH ADDITIONAL strength they hope to be matching up even better against Saperstein's clever warriors on the 1963-64 trail. Owner - Coach - Player Louis (Red) Klotz, the former Villanova University standout and a pro star for years, has obtained several new highly-touted prospects to round out a lanky and capable team.

Peg-Leg Bates will headline the half-time show. So spectacular was he on his tour as a headliner among the added variety entertainers that the grand veteran of show business has drawn an encore contract from Owner Abe Saperstein.

Peg-Leg won the particular distinction of being named to the all-time vaudeville lineup of greats. Broadway's famed Palace Theatre, which used to be the goal of every aspiring talent always turned to him when they needed a solid showstopping act.

His brilliant dancing on one leg and peg is only one facet of his popular presentation on the Trotter tour. He simply exudes graciousness and charm as he talks to the audiences and it's readily seen why the mantel of "Mr. Show Business" drapes comfortably around his shoulders.

Coming to Arlington



A TROUPE OF 30 ATHLETES, touring the United States under the auspices of the Danish Ministry of Education, will appear at Arlington High School on Friday evening, Nov. 8, for a gymnastics exhibition. The gymnasts are graduates of the Ollerup Academy of Physical Education.

Under The Lights

Michigan State has eight lighted athletic fields for evening intramural football and softball games.

Knows The Game

Danny Litwhiler, Michigan State's new head baseball coach, is a 12-year veteran of major league baseball.

Morton Blanks Country Lanes To Pad Lead

Miller, Radunz Take Series, Game Honors

The friendly confines of Beverly Lanes and red hot performances from John Miller and Bill Radunz pushed Morton Pontiac to a 4-0 sweep over Country Lanes and increased its league lead to three full points in last week's action in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

The Pontiacs, their lead shaved to one point after a sweep by the Brass Rail Restaurant last week, used the home lanes to pad the lead as the Railers were held to a 2-2 deadlock with Pines Industries.

BILL RADUNZ
Big Game, Series

In blanking Country Lanes, Morton's grabbed most of the individual and team honors for the week. Miller took high series with a consistent 211-216-203 —629 effort and Radunz was right behind at 624. The latter took high game honors with a blistering 256 in his first game. Together they paced Morton to a team high of 2855.

THE LOSING Country Lane entry knocked down 2813 sticks themselves, third best effort of the week, and got a 602 series from Herb Lohman.

The Brass Rail was lucky to get out with a split. Down 2-0 entering the last game, they put together a 932 - 844 bulge in game three to gain a narrow 2679-2655 victory over Pines.

Don Christensen and Ted Zimmerman paced the rally with 211 and 209 respectively in the final game. Christensen topped the Railers with a 584, while Warren Walter knocked down 573 for Pines.

In other action, Casares Pro Bowl crept within a half point of tles Jeffery.

the Brass Rail in torrid three way battle for second with a 4-0 blitz over Pioneer lanes. Paced by 200 plus games from Bob Rogers (209), Tony Donushi (204) and Bob Hurwitz (204) Casares opened with a 974 in game one and coasted in. Rogers led the way with a 614. George Schmidt had a 571 for Pioneer.

Rolling Meadows used the same formula that gained a split for Brass Rail and got the same result. A whopping 254 by Al Jordan paced a team 987 — highest of the evening — that gave them game and series and a 2 - 2 break with Jeffery Lanes. Jordan's 598 was Rolling Meadow's best. Chris Pulos leveled 617 pins for Jeffery.

Kelly Olds Holds Lead In Classic

Four Teams Bunched In Women's Division

Kelly Olds is still on top but a long way from calling its position comfortable in the hectic Paddock Women's Classic league.

There are three other clubs very much in contention as the high-flying gals' division heads into its seventh week of the 1963-64 season.

WINNIE LOHSE
Top Series

Kelly now sports 17 points thanks to a 3-1 victory over Morton Pontiac Saturday evening, but Charlotte's Pizza and Irv's Fire Extinguisher Co. are right behind with 15. Steve's Restaurant is a strong fourth with 13.

Only Morton, once the hottest outfit in the league, and River Rand are having their troubles right now.

KELLY OLDS posted a 2487 team total in its 3-1 victory over Morton with Edith Wayne firing a pace-setting 536. Edith had a 194 game. J. Reed paced Morton Pontiac with a fine 570 that included a 215 high.

Irv's turned in the week's top effort with a 2598 total that took three points from River Rand Bowl. Irv's had a 904 high game with four of the five gals eclipsing 500. Mary Gleason was high with a 563, and she had a 209 game.

"Tiny" Davis (558) and "Moe" Miller (543) showed the way for River Rand Bowl.

Charlotte's Pizza got by Steve's 3-1 with Winnie Lohse fashioning a 574. Winnie had a 216 enroute to her fine series. Laverne Rosset headed Steve's with a 525 and 201 game.

The standings:

Kelly Olds	17

Guild Players to Launch 'Light Up'

Opening night jitters for Moss Hart's characters in "Light Up The Sky," the play about a play, is mirrored by The Guild Players opening this Friday night at Parkside School, 233 E. Maple St., Roselle.

Director Jerry Spurlock has put his cast through six weeks of rehearsals with a solid last week on stage. The efforts of the 76-man crew and actors will be seen Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18 and 19. This will mark the first presentation of The Guild Players' 6th season.

A Boston tryout of a new play by a new, young playwright and the hours before and after, is the setting for the clearly defined characters of Hart's "Light Up the Sky."

LEADING roles are played by Robbye Schnarel, Sid Sicher, Sarah Levin, and Ken Taylor. Featured are Dick Keshen, Dot Sicher, Bill Schumacher, Dave Fulton, Jane Davey, Sig Thorsen, Mike Vogt and Earl Leggett.

Stage manager is Helen Beach and production manager Lorraine Howe.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Ticket information may be obtained from ticket chairman Dot Pfeiffer, TW 4-3820. (Bill

Glass Blowing At Cook's Shop

Henry Bruns, internationally famous glass blower, will demonstrate the old world art of glass blowing at the Cook's Card and Gift Shop in the South Mall of the Golf-Mill Shopping Center at Golf and Milwaukee, Niles, all next week starting Oct. 21.

Bruns, born in the Netherlands, has worked in most countries of Europe. His skill in fabricating vases, bowls and figurines has brought acclaim in two continents for over 37 years. All glass blown by Bruns will be available for sale at Cook's Cards. (Bill

'Right Ingredients' In Arlington Play

"Critic's Choice," the Broadway comedy now in rehearsal, was chosen by the play-reading committee of Arlington Heights Village Theatre because it has all the "necessary ingredients."

The first thing going for it is setting. . .a New York Washingon Square apartment. Next, a sophisticated cast of characters. To the place and people are added plenty of action spaced with witty repartee.

"Critic's Choice" offers the idea that a critic cannot afford to be truly professional when it comes to reviewing the play his wife has written. If he does consider honesty the policy, he'll have to pay a stiff premium.

THE IRA LEVIN comedy, which opened on Broadway December 14, 1960, had as its lead Henry Fonda. In the Village Theatre version, John Grayson plays the befuddled drama critic who alienated his first wife when he wrote a scorching evaluation of her acting ability.

He is blissful in his second marriage until his wife, played by Dot Watkins, decides she should write a play, and does. Should the critic, as a man of integrity, give the play a thumb down review, or should he forget his scruples and be the indulgent husband?

His precocious son John, who earns pocket money by supplying his father with trenchant phrases for his reviews, is all for soft-pedaling the treatment of his step - mother's play. The mother-in-law, who recognizes a good marriage when she sees one, suggests the critic find an alternate to review the opening night performance.

THE PETULANT director who insists the husband is being unfair, comforts the playwright wife beyond the call of duty.

Ivy, the former wife, adds her own brand of incendiary action to an explosive situation.

Through the use of blackouts and spotlight action, the play moves swiftly from one scene to another.

Directed by Richard Tyler, "Critic's Choice" opens Oct. 25 at the Prospect High School Little Theatre. Other performance nights are Oct. 26, 27, Nov. 1 and 3. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m.

For ticket information, call the box-office at CL 9-3200.

Tryouts for 'Kismet' Are This Sunday

Tryouts for dramatic and vocal parts in the Music on Stage production of "Kismet" will be conducted Sunday, Oct. 20, and Sunday, Oct. 27, from 2:30 to 6 p.m. in Town Hall of Randhurst Shopping Center.

In charge of the auditions are Directors Tom Ventriss of Chicago and Gordon Palmer of Palatine.

Applicants are asked to be prepared with one song of their choice which will best show voice range and one song from the musical, for example, "Stranger in Paradise," "Baubles, Bangles, and Beads," or "Night of My Nights."

There will be a pianist on hand, but applicants should bring their own sheet music.

Auditions for dancers will be

Continue Gallery Exhibit

Twenty-two suburbs and Chicago are represented by artists exhibiting work at the Countryside Gallery this month.

The current "Juried Artists Show," which will continue through Oct. 30, presents the work of 42 area artists including painters, sculptors, and craftsmen.

According to the directors of the gallery, each of the juried artists will be featured in gallery shows throughout the year.

In addition, works by well known guest artists will occasionally be included in forthcoming exhibitions. All works exhibited are for sale, and many can be rented under the gallery's rental plan.

THE COUNTRYSIDE Gallery located at 10 West Miner St. in Arlington Heights, is maintained by members of the nonprofit Countryside Art Center, Inc.

Now nearing its first anniversary, the gallery has attracted visitors from several parts of Illinois, as well as other states.

The 1963-64 list of gallery artists includes many who have won major art awards in Illinois and elsewhere. Recently, gallery artist Mae Williams received the first place award in the fall exhibition of paintings of the All Illinois Society of Fine Arts, in addition to receiving another top award at the Oakbrook Promenade.

AT THE Randhurst show held this month, Countryside artist Ethel Gelick received a second place award for her oil painting, "Spring of '62." The painting can now be seen at the gallery which is open Tuesday through Sunday from 1 - 4 p.m.

Other hours may be arranged by calling 255-9718 for an appointment. (Bill

JULIE HARRIS and Claire Bloom experience a terrifying psychic visit while conducting an investigation in the supernatural in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Haunting" — a ghost story set in the present day. Richard Johnson and Russ Tamblyn also star in the nerve-tingling drama, filmed in Panavision and produced and directed by Robert Wise. This picture will be shown begining this Friday at Des Plaines Theatre.

Bettin to Star With Barat Players

Val Bettin, veteran actor of stage and television, has the male lead in the Barat College presentation of Philip Barry's moving study of modern man and his problems, "Hotel Universe."

The Buffalo Grove actor, who has appeared with the Barat Players several times in recent years, will play Stephen Field in the Lake Forest college's production Oct. 17, 18 and 19.

Educated at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, Bettin became associated with the American theater when he became a leading actor for the Showcase Theatre in 1953 and went on to originate the role of Reverend Hawley in the Chicago-produced television series, Hawkins Falls.

In recent years he played leading roles in three Shakespeare plays, "MacBeth," "Taming of the Shrew" and "Midsummer Night's Dream." Critics applauded his portrayal of George Bernard Shaw in the CBS production of "The Magnificent Humbug," and his performance as Rasputin in "If I Should Die" on CBS Repertoire Workshop was praised by Time Magazine.

Chicago children have enjoyed him in his role as "The Storyteller" on his own television show.

Bettin lives at 200 Navajo Trail in Buffalo Grove. (CC

At Lake Forest

Janet Dubs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dubs Jr., 608 W. Rockwell, Arlington Heights, recently attended a reception for new students of Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, in the home of President and Mrs. William Graham Cole. Miss Dubs is a freshman. (CC

AS BETTY BOYER, Doris Day is the wife of obstetrician James Garner, in "The Thrill of It All," a riotous comedy release by Universal. The fun begins when Doris becomes the star of soap Television Commercials and starts earning $80,000 a year. Arlene Francis also is co-starred. Starts Friday at the Catlow.

Joan O'Brien, little Vicky Tiu, Elvis Presley and Gary Lockwood share a happy reunion in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "It Happened at the World's Fair." Presley introduces ten new song hits in the Panavision and Metrocolor romantic comedy, filmed largely on locations at the Seattle World's Fair. Starts Friday, Oct. 18 at Oasis Drive In.

At Colorado State

Two Arlington Heights young women are among the 190 students pledged to sororities at Colorado State University in Ft. Collins. Susan L. Sebastian, 412 W. Wing, was pledged to Delta Delta Delta, and Susan Dee Isham, 733 S. Mitchell was pledged to Pi Beta Phi.

THE 1963 ILLINOIS Press Association award for outstanding community journalism student was presented recently to Thomas P. Sabin, 615 E. Chicago Ave., Palatine, a senior in the University of Illinois College of Journalism and Communications. Presentation of the $150 prize was made by Jack Holmes, IPA president (left), and Theodore Petersen, U of I Dean (right). Sabin is a 1960 graduate of Palatine High School. (CC

Girl in Germany; Sister at Chicago

Judy Varland, 303 N. Maple, Wood Dale, left Sept. 23 to spend her junior year of study at the Free University of West Berlin. She will study European history and literature.

Her sister, Linda, returned this fall for her senior year at the University of Chicago.

Both are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tuman Varland. (CC

Finishes Home Study

Mrs. Sandi K. Loeber, Plum Grove Farm, Route 1, Palatine, has completed her three-year course with the Famous Artists Schools of Westport, Conn. Mrs. Loeber specialized in fine arts painting with this home study school.

At Upper Iowa

Gay Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gardner of Mount Prospect, was among the 12 finalists for Homecoming queen at Upper Iowa University, Fayette, this fall. She was sponsored by the senior class.

90-Minute Film Describes World's Best Ski Centers

A preview visit to a Rocky Mountain development that holds promise of becoming one of the world's top ski centers will be afforded viewers of "Around the World on Skis," the 90-minute Warren Miller ski film to be presented Sunday, Oct. 20.

The ara is Vail, Colorado, 110 miles west of Denver. The labors of hundreds of men—and more than $4,000,000 went into the construction of the development. And it was accomplished in one summer-fall construction period in 1962.

Fox Trails Ski Club presents the film at 7 p. m. at Barrington High School.

VAIL MOUNTAIN boasts a 9,500-foot gondola lift, two mile-long double chairlifts and a 1,-000-foot beginner's lift. Operators of the area boast that the complex of lifts offers the largest expanse of open slope skiing anywhere in North America.

The driving force behind the development is Pete Seibert, former FIS star, Aspen instructor and the first manager of the Loveland Basin area also near Denver.

Miller filmed Seibert, former Aspen instructor Morris Shepherd and ex-skiing Magazine editor Bob Parker in action on the powder-snow covered slopes of Vail. Shepherd will direct the Vail ski school.

OTHER FOOTAGE for "Around the World on Skis" was compiled in top resorts both here and abroad—and features such top ski stars as Olympians Stein Eriksen of Norway, Ernie McCullough of Canada, Buddy Werner of the United States and Ichi Ban of Japan.

Tickets are available at the box office or from any Fox Trails Ski Club member, Cary, Ill. For information, call ME 9-3866.

Julie Beall Plays Lead Comedy Role

Julie Beall of Palatine has been selected to play the comedy role of Martha Brandt in the forthcoming production of "Design for Murder," to be presented by the Des Plaines Theatre Guild.

An ardent devotee of the theatre, Julie has been studying contemporary drama at the University of Chicago for the past year, and in the Spring took part in the Lake County Museum benefit production of "Our American Cousin."

JULIE BEALL

This summer she was a member of The Plays, a stock company at Cary, Ill.

IN ADDITION to her experience in summer stock, Julie has appeared in two previous productions for the guild. She took the role of Matilda in "The Gazebo," and played the female lead in last season's "Tipsy Rebellion."

Julie has been even more active behind the scenes with the guild than she has been on stage. In the three years since she and her husband became members of the guild, Julie has worked on costumes and properties, painted sets, and served as assistant director.

Despite her many activities in the theatre and at school, Mrs. Beall holds down a full-time job with International Minerals and Chemicals of Skokie, and keeps house for her husband Jim, who was last year elected president of the Des Plaines Theatre Guild.

"Design for Murder" will be presented Nov. 8, 9, 15, 16, 22, and 23. Tickets may be obtained by calling VA 9-4309 or 824-8019.

New Play at Local Club

"Bell, Book and Candle," the John van Druten comedy on witchcraft, opened Tuesday at the Country Club Theatre in the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand and Euclid, Prospect Heights, for six weeks.

Performances are nightly except Monday, with curtain time 8:30 p. m. Tuesday through Saturday and 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

The Country Club theatre is located on the lower level of the Old Orchard Country Club.

By special arrangement with the country club, a dinner-theatre ticket package is also being offered Sunday through Thursday with dinner served in the club dining room before the play.

'Irma' Held For Fourth, Final Week

In order to accommodate the crowds which have been unable to get into the theatre to see "Irma La Douce," the Golf Mill will hold this film over for a fourth and final week.

The theatre management promises to have seats available for all performances during this last week of the Jack Lemmon and Shirley Maclaine comedy. Due to the theme of the story, "Irma La Douce" must be limited to adult patrons only.

ON SATURDAY matinee, the theatre will present a children's show starting at 1:15 p.m. with cartoons, followed by the kiddie feature, "Marco Polo" at 2 p.m., ending at 3:30 p.m.

Next week, starting Friday, Oct. 25, the theatre will present a double feature attraction, "For Love or Money" plus "Wives and Lovers" at regular prices, 90 cents for adults

MOUNT EMBLEM
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850
The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
AUTUMN brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.
You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.
For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.
"It is better to have it and not need it— than to need it and not have it."

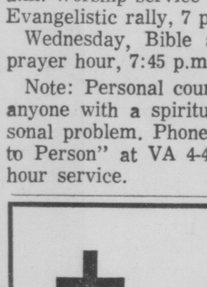
The REFORMATION



October 31 is generally observed as the birthday of the Protestant Reformation. It was on that day, in 1517, that Martin Luther nailed his 95 propositions on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg.

What was Martin Luther's great discovery? It was the chief teaching of the Bible: "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith, without the deeds of the law." Romans 3:28.

For hundreds of years the established church had taught that man was saved by faith plus deeds. Luther discovered that the Bible taught salvation is by faith alone.

"By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God, not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8.

It was the Reformation of Martin Luther that brought this vital teaching to the attention of the world once again. Through doing so he, in a sense, gave Christ back to the world.

God can bless you through Christ only when the Gospel is preached in the churches and—believed by you.

KNITTERS
Often we're asked "How much is yarn for a mohair sweater?" At the KNITTERS NOOK this question has many answers. We have no less than nine different types of mohair. We have heavy mohairs, lightweight mohairs, fuzzy and not-so-fuzzy mohairs. Mohairs that stripe, mohairs that mottle, and mohairs that tweed. We must also have well over 100 different shades in mohairs. The cost? —It depends on how loosely you knit it (the tighter you knit and smaller needle you use, the more yarn you use.) In general the cost runs between $8.90 to $18. Come in—pick a specific yarn and we'll tell you more exactly.
P. S. All of our mohairs wash & wear beautifully—one sweater in our fashion show that brought rave notices had been washed OFTEN.
